To PREVENT FENCE POSTS ROTTING - I wish to call the attention of farmers to coal tar as a paint. It is probably generally known that the tar produced in coal gas works is extensively used in painting fences, &c., and is being introduced in this country also. One or two good coats will last for many years, as it never a ters by exposure to the weather, and it is the cheapest and best black paint that can be used. If its advantages were fully known, I believe it would be generally used throughout the United States. Not long since, I read that the bricks used in building the fort at Throg's Neck were soaked in this tar, which rendered them impervious to wa-

Posts painted with this tar are protected from rot, when in the ground, as effectually as if they had been charred. The only objection to it as a point above ground is, its offensive smell from the heat of the sun.

No person should allow themselves to set a agle port without its application. It is doubly important to railroad companies from the fact that these roads run through the most level portions of country, tand consequently the most swampy and wet, therefore, fence posts are the most liable to rot. mode of application which is given by a gentleman we'll posted, is as follows:

·Have a large iron kettle so arranged that you can make and keep the tar hot: then afand of the post into the tar, and if the tar is far as you wish to tar it, have a swab of cloth, tied upon a broom handle, or other stick, and swab it up at least six to seven inches above the ground line when the post is set; then lift up the post, letting it drip a moment, and lay it away upon rails or poles placed for that purpose, not allowing them to touch in one day, and one barrel of tar will be suffloient for that number. The question now is, who then, will he sitate to adopt its use? F. T. G.

SILVER'S WASH POWDER. Saves Time, Labor and Money. Makes mantage a pastime and Monday a festival. Soid everywhere

Patented may 29, 1006.

This is an article for washing without rubbing, ex-This is an article for washing without rubbing, except in very dirty places, which will require a very slight rub, and unlike other preparations offered for a like purpose, will not rot the CLOTHES, but will leave them whiten than ordinary methods, without the usual wear and tear.

It removes grease spots as if by magic, and softens the dirt by soaking, so that the rinsing will in in ordinary cases entirely remove it.

This powder is prepared in accordance with chemical science, and upon a process peculiar to itself, ical science, and upon a process peculiar to itself, which is secured by Letters Patent. It has been in are for more than a year, and has proved itself a universal favorite wherever it has been used. Among the advantages claimed are the following, viz: It saves all the expense of soap usually used or otton and linen goods. It saves most of the labor of rubbing, and wear and tear.

Also, for cleaning windows it is unsurpassed.— With one quarter the time and labor usually required it imparts a beautiful gloss and lustre, much superior to any other mode. No water required except
