TEMPEST IN A TEAPOT.

Mr. Douglass, a colored man, is employed in the Government printing office at Washington. Because of his color he cannot be admitted into the "Printers' Union," and because he don't belong to the "Union" the Douglass is removed. Mr. Clapp, the Government printer, happens to be a man of pluck, can send elsewhere for men. We do not object to their not voting colored men into their organizations, for clearly they have a right to of the women. say whether they will associate with white, black, or yellow, but to attempt to dictate to the Fifteenth Amendment or demand an inluxuries of the rich-" Unions" carry the day. They dictate terms to the employer, limit the apprenticeship, control wages and the hours of labor until it has got to be a serious question as to who is Boss. Under the disguise of protection to their interests, these "Leagues" are working incalculable injury to the interests of the country, and doing their members no good. They incite jealousy and distrust between employer and employee, and by their strength often cause serious loss at a moment when labor is required. Is it anybody's business if a master takes three apprentices instead of two? Most people would cry No, but the "Union" will quickly give notice that the extra learner must be removed or the journeymen will leave. We know of several cases where young men in their efforts to learn a trade were met by the reply that they were not allowed more than a certain number of apprentices. If this is to ear incomplete in the hours of two in the hours of the united like when who is Botal Mark and truthful words:

If this is to continue we shall soon have capital at a discount. Capital and labor should both be free or dependent one upon the other, but this rule will not hold good if one is to have the other so tight in its grasp that it cannot move without permission. We hope Douglass will be retained if he is a competent workman.

GOVERNMENT FINANCES.

We do not suppose Secretary Boutwell reads THE REGISTER, or that, if he did, his official actions would be guided to any great extent by what he read therein; but in accordance with our views on Government Finances as published in the REGISTER. Secretary Boutwell has adopted the common sense plan of using the horded $100,000,000 in gold now in the Treasury to purchase United States them that they are the property of the United the amount of purchases.

The large amount of gold horded in the Treasury makes "hard cash" that much scarcer and helps to maintain the discrepancy between the value of a greenback dollar and the value of a gold dollar. One hundred minions of bonds taken from the market throws just that much money into other fields for investment and will go a great ways towards relieving the stringency in the money market and will reduce the rate of interest charged to business.

used with which to purchase bonds.

The able statesmanship displayed in the speech of Hon. Charles Sumner on the Alabama treaty has not left a leg for the English aristocracy to stand upon, and their cries are loud for war with the United States. There is scarcely a family of nobility but has its repas the justice of maintaining a large standing is army is involved in much doubt it is but natural that this class, through the Pall Mall Gazette. shall shower denunciations upon the folly of Mr. Sumner's bill of indictment and de mand that, the ungenerous offer of England having been rejected, all future negotiations should be made at the mouth of the cannon. England, reduced to a second-rate power through her frequent refusals to fight, thinks she sees a chance to regain her lost prestige by forming an alliance with France in espousing the cause of Spain in her American difficulties, and puts on a bold front. The United States will not back down, but England will not go to war with us. Her pride has been humbled, she no longer controls the destinies of nations, her ships no longer hold the seas, as was once her boast, but she is not yet quite ready for national suicide. With Ireland boiling over with treason, ready at a moment's notice to avenge her wrongs, and other European powers watching for a chance to wipe out old scores, a war with us will be such a dangerous undertaking that John Bull's love of money would sooner sacrifice even Canada than em bark in it. What is to be the result of future conferences upon the subject it is impossible to conjecture, but it cannot be war OFFICE SEEKERS. Mr. Secretary Fish is authority for the statement that of the very many Consuls appointed since Gen. Grant's inauguration, more than one-half will have to be refilled in consequence of resignation. All the joy exhibited over their appointment has been changed to sorrow on finding that after all it isn't much of an bonor to be sent to some obscure village in a distant part of the world at a very small salary.

The vault was chiseled into and the burglar-proof distant part of the world at a very small salary. Who can explain the thirst for office? Of course, where the prize is tempting because of the large pay or perquisites, or where the honor is great, we can readily understand why there should be so many particular and the problems. About $15,000 in United States bonds, $2,000 of which were registered. A reward of $3,000 is offered for the detection of the thieves. The robbery will not affect the solvency of the there should be so many patriots anxious to serve their country. But it does not stop there. Men who are in good business forsake that for the sake of a small office, though the pay be poor. To be Consul at Chingchowhi or Bullegabullabolce is in the office seeker's eyes far preferable to the dry goods store or country house of Mackerelville, Public servants are paid just as private servants, only it is more difficult to get employment and more is required of them. Happy the day when the office shall seek the man, and then indeed will it be an honor to fill them. Now to achieve success, the ward politician must be consulted, and all the machinery incident to party politics must be started before any one, however competent or meritorious, can be successful. Having achieved success, then comes the reflection of the Consuls, and many a man then for the first time thinks what he is called upon to sacrifice for the sake of being an

"Title Womens' Suffrage Society," "The Equal Rights Association" and "The Universal Peace Society," held a meeting in New York city last week. ### INTERESTING EXPERIMENT.

At the recent meeting of the Universal Pence Society held in the City of New York,

"Henry C. Wright, of Boston, elaborated his views of Peace with a great deal of clearness and attention to detail. He was interrupted by a lady, who asked him to state if the moving principle of the Society was to replace playsical by moral power.
His answer was as follows: 'Moral power is the only power to overcome physical power, and this can only be accomplished by love and kindness.
So, Amanda Spence, let love govern all your actions, and nothing can ever harm you.' Mrs.
Spence responded that she doubted if love in her heart would ever protect her from a cannon-ball fired from a monitor."

Corteinly in this case Weight Peace Society held in the City of New York

Certainly in this case Wright was wrong, out if any one doubts it let them try Amanda Spence's experiment.

The May number of the The American Builder and Journal of Art, published in Chicago, by Charles D. Lakey, contains a variety of interesting matter pertaining to the building arts, and presents a cred. itable appearance in its full page illustrations of the First National Bank Buildings, Potter Palmer's Block, and the new Tribune Building. The more noteworthy articles are, "Architecture and Landscape Gardening," "Mortar," "Domestic Economy of Architecture," "The Preservation of Timber." with able editorials on "Real Estate." The May number comes to us overflowing with choice new music. There are four new songs, by Hays, Thomas, Danks, and Eaton; three plano es; and we notice a new feature in the shape of six pages of Quartett Music, which will prove a valuable addition; also, a dozen or more pages of biographical sketches and reviews of new music, that will be of interest to all musicians. Being largely engaged in the publication of sheet music, Mr. Peters has always a fresh stock from which to make his selections, and seems nothing loth to draw from his resources to any required extent to make the Monthly what it should be. Besides the Musical Sketches and Reviews of New Music, each number contains no less than thirty full-sized pages of new music by the best writers in the ountry.

When Music is furnished so cheap, what Musiclan can afford to be without such a publication? $4 worth of good music can not be picked up every day for 30 cents, and we feel justified in saving hat a subscription at $3 will give as much Music (and good Music, too,) as you can buy for $50. This valuable Magazine is published by J. L. PETERS, 198 Broadway, New-York, (P. O. Box 5429).
