NEW PROCESS IN PRINTING BANK NOTES. -George T. Jones, an engraver of Cincinnati, has perfected and patented a system of printing bank otes, which, it is said, defies counterfeiting. He prints on unsized paper, which is well known to ake the clearest and sharpest impressions, and then proceeds to apply mechanically a sizing perfeeted by him, which having been set by sub jection to a heat of 200 degrees, is henceforth insouble and irremovable without destroying the impression beneath it, and thus leaving the paper nearly white and wholly illegible. The colors, being wisely chosen, cannot be photographed, but are japanned, as it were, and laugh at the most ingenious and skillful efforts to transfer, which can move only by effacing or destroying them. MISCELLANEOUS .- Prof. Mathias II. Richards of Muhlenberg College, delivered the oration t the second reunion and annual exercises of the Reading High School on Wednesday last. A city paper says that raspberries are coming

NORTHAMPTON COUNTY.

EASTON, PA., June 29, 1869. —The palatial summer residence for involuntary boarders, that is now being erected in East-on is approaching completion. Vulgar folks call it a jail, but it is really a pleasant bird-eage—hence we call the inmates jull-birds. The roof is now on and the walls are being plastered.

—Easton is just now troubled with a violent attack of Sabbath-breaking. We hope the Theo-logical doctors will be able to relieve the patients. -An old but good looking bachelor of Easton had a pair of gold spectacles voted him at a late fair, and a committee of manageable ladies waited on him to see him try them on, and see whether he could see new charms, before undiscovered, in any of them, that would lead him to repentance and a new (married) life. We are sorry to say although he tried the spees on, the obdurate old chap is incorrigible. He ought to have his wig pulled.

—All the Colleges are busy just now in diplomacy. We see that Muhleuberg College in Allentown has had commencement exercises. Then nearer home, Lehigh University in Bethlehem diplomatized some students on Thursday. La Fayette comes later, in July, preparations are being made to render the next commencement a great success. One cannot avoid the thought that the Lehigh Valley is to be forement in the ranks of Scientific Educational enterprise, when we see that at Easton, Bethlehem and Allentown we have first class colleges.

The Express Co, has erected a—well, we don't know what to call it—a box or a structure—and the borough brought suit against the Co. for obstructing the pavements. The town contended that it was a box, therefore an obstruction. The Co. contended that it was a structure and not a box because it had no bottom. In order to get a fine, the judge decled that it was a box, and the Express Co. poiled up.

The question of the day is chall as a contended to the contended that it was a box.

—The question of the day is, shall we celebrate the 4th of July on the 5d, or the 5th? At present appearances we will have no public celebration at all in Easton. —Thursday June 24, William Mutchler was —Rev. Thos. Reardon, of St. Bernard's Church, Easton, will sail for Europe next Thursday, for the benefit of his health.
