ROBT. IREDELL, JE., - Editor and Proprietor. ALLENTOWN, PA., JULY 21, 1869. REPUBLICAN STATE NOMINATIONS FOR GOVERNOR. GENERAL JOHN W. GEARY. FOR JUDGE OF THE SUPREME COURT, HON. HENRY W. WILLIAMS,

The Lehigh Register.

OF ALLEGHENY COUNTY.

THEIR STANDARD BEARER. The Democrats of Pennsylvania met at speed. We are not blaming him, for he proba. Harrisburg, in State Convention, on Wednes- | bly acted according to his running regulations; day last, and selected Hon. As Packer as their but the regulations seem to be abominably candidate for the Gubernatorial office, and the reckless. Wherever their is a single track, or questions Who is he? We do indicate where the freight train was, and also not mean that Asa Packer is unknown. He have flashed word to Mast Hope that the exis a man of wealth and influential in a business press was coming. Then both engineers way. But what has he done to merit the distinguished honor that his party are anxious to monstrous that the lives of hundreds of pasbestow upon him ? What are his particular sengers should depend upon the faithfulness of qualifications that fit him for the most important trust in our commonwealth ?

Asa Packer is worth twenty millions of dollars and that is the sole cause of his nomination. The same reason for his nomination for the Presidency was urged last summer in New York, and no one will pretend to deny that if his wealth were instead only twenty thousand his name would not now be in so many mouths and cheered all over the State by the opposition party.

Merit, statesmanship, the interests of our commonwealth, are all thrown to one side, and the people of Pennsylvania are asked to make wealth the sole qualification for office. After a struggle of a century against the despotisms of the old world, we are urged to relinquish our victory and erect in the glorious old Keystone State an aristocracy of money.

True, Packer was once a poor man, and in the accumulation of such an immense fortune, and in getting under his control such a gigantic corporation as the Lehigh Valley Railroad, has evinced energy, industry and frugality, but then how many men working under him to-day have displayed as much, and are in every way his equals before God, in intellectual and moral worth, only fortune smiled on him and frowned on them."

The people of Pennsylvania want a Governor of wealth even greater than that Asa Packer possesses. They will require more at his hands than Asa Packer can give. They will ask him to be honest, upright, straightforward and above all loyal, and this last qualification especially Asa Packer lacks, and without this wealth of honor-devotion to his country in her great trials-no man can ever be elected Governor of Pennsylvania.

He is magnanimous ! Yes, he is benevolent. His open heartedness was plainly shown in his distribution of free passes to his supporters to enable them to go to Harrisburg. It was still more plainly shown when he endowed a but how were his means devoted during the great rebellion, while his opponent was braving the perils of the battle-field and risking even a greater than Asa Packer's fortune in defense of his country? The conductor of the passenger train knew, or ought to have known, that a freight train was waiting at that spot for him to pass, and that a curve would prevent his seeing it until he was close upon it. The most ordinary prudence dictated that he should reduce speed on approaching the switch, and make sure that the track was clear. Yet it is represented that his train came thundering around the curve at full Internal Revenue are considered good for this dull season. all his means and energies were enlisted in that sole object. It was during this time that Asa Packer made his fortune out of the necessities of our Government, and the war, which was death and desolation to so many homes, put millions into his pockets and made him the Democratic candidate for Governor in 1869.

It remains to be seen whether the people will reward the man who won affluence and wealth from the taxes leviel to carry on the war, or the man who gave up everything for his country, in her sore time of need. The former controls a gigantic monopoly, run in the interests of New York, and everything that he can do is done against one of Pennsylvania's most important interests. Philadelphians, especially, owe him a grudge. The Lehigh Valley Road uses every means in its power to divert from their city the trade of the Lehigh Valley. Whether it is done to injure Philadelphia or to break down the North Pennsylvania Railroad, it makes no difference, the truth is the same and is just as unpalatable to Philadelphians. On the other hand Govvote. But for richness give us the seventh resolution, which reads thus: "That our solernor Geary has shown himself always alive to the interests of our Commonwealth. He has been tried and proved. Under his administration our State debt has been cut down and the taxes reduced, and every inducement offered foreign capital to come within our borders. The welfare of our people has always received the greatest consideration at his nds, and he is known by hisactions. Pennsylvanians are not yet ready to throw overboard a tried and loyal man, and take for their standard bearer the rich nabob of the Democratic party.
