ELECTIONS LAST WEEK.

The Democracy of New York carried that State by about 15,000 majority and Tammany has a majority in the Legislature. The result was attained by polling 20,000 fraudulent votes. Still, this could have been overcome in our favor and an increase of the Republican delegation to Congress to be elected next Fall; but the people will suffer for turning the State over into the hands of the unprincipled men they have chosen to make their laws.

Notwithstanding the side issue of the Labor Reform movement in Massuchusetts the Republican candidate for Governor has a plurality of 12,000. The Legislature stands 171 Republicans, 58 Democrats, 20 Labor Reform. The Republicans have carried Minnesota by a majority of about 4000.

vote polled was light.

WE hope that the Legislature which meets in January, will do something towards the passage of a law compelling the publication of notices of special or local legislation. It can do no harm and will certainly do good in exposing the many private bills which are never heard of until we see them in the published acts. There is nothing partisan in this idea. In Democratic districts, as a general thing, only members of that party are favored with This death of George Peabody was not he Democratic districts, as a general thing only members of that party are favored with the records or other documents, and either execution in Republican districts. Now, when a bill is to be passed affecting a certain county, everybody living there, ought to have notice of it if he is willing to read the papers. In that way members cannot say that they did not know the wishes of their constituents, for they would undoubtedly soon hear what public opinion has to vay about it. It will also assist in breaking up rings and cliques and secure us better laws. A Legislator who is so minded can now rush through any private bill to suit himself. By a tacit agreement local bills are passed at the request of the member and there is no one to object. If notice were given, however, to his constituents, he might find more trouble than now. Again, but few persons get the acts of Assembly as now published and of course there are many local laws in existence of which the people are ignorant. If they were first published, however, they would be read by all who take the papers. As a general thing the people know they wasted to the member and the principle of the distance of the distance of which the people are ignorant. A GENTLEMAN of the Democratic persuasion, who keeps a saloon, called at our office, last week, and told us to stop the REGISTER. This we positively refused to do. We have been at great expense to stock our establishment. Our paper has a mission to perform. TREASTRY DEPARTMENT, OFFICE OF INTERNAL REVERUE, Nov. 3, 1859.—Bit: I have received your letter of the 30th ult., stating that many and often large loss of spirits arrive at Battlimore from various Western distilleries, presenting one uniform degree of strength, which, when being reinspected, vary considerably from the original proof marks, which variations, you state, "almost without exception, show that the full amount of tax due the Government has been paid."

You further state that you have reason to believe that at many Western distilleries the practice prevails among gaugers of "Merely testing the proof of the spirits in cisterns, before or at the time of drawing off, and of marking all the packages at one drawing of a uniform degree of strength, instead of testing the strength of the spirits in each particular cask."
