There is a college, lately established here, called the Female Medical College, now numbering about 50 atudents of the female persuasion. On Saturday last these "anagels," as the city dailies call them, made their appearance at the Pennsylvania Hospital, corner of Eighth and Spruce streets, to attend the Hospital clinics from 10 to 12 A. M. This Hospital, as you are proba-bly aware, is opened on Wednesdays and Satur-days for the elinical instruction of the students of the different colleges in practice of medicine and surgery, and on that morning between 300 aud 400 male students were present. ## Attempts at Housebreaking.

On Thursday night, about half past twelve clock, an attempt was made to enter the house of Jesse Remmel, on Front street. The two burg lars were frightened off by Mrs. Remmel, who was awakened by the noise caused by prying open the shutters. On the same night, about an hour later, an attempt was also made to enter the house of Edwin Remmel, a few doors above, but the thieves were again unsuccessful. From the way they work they are evidently inexperienced and are, bably, residents of our town. The police should be on the watch.

Increase of Capital-A Rare Chance for a Good Investment.

By reference to an advertisement it will be seen that the Directors of the First National Bank have resolved to increase their capital from $150,-000 to $300,000. The subscription books are now open at the Bank, and all persons desirous of searing stock are invited to make application at once. The installments are to be paid in as follows :- Ten per cent, no day of subscribing : tweety per cent. on the 15th of February, 1870; flfy r cent. on the 1st of April ; twenty per cent. on the 1st of June. This increase of capital is made necessary by the growing business of the Bank.

Lawlessness. Is it Increasing ? There is a spirit of lawlessness manifesting itself in the young bloods of the town which for to the future peace of our city Once in a while it displays itself pretty strongly and very disagreeably, and the police are either not courageous enough or else powerless to correct it. It is a subject which demands the carnest consideration of our Mayor and we hope he will devise means to niv it in the bud. If the present police force is lundequate in point of numbers t perform the duties for which it is intended, by all means increase it. The expenses of the City Gov ernment, we know, are already very heavy, but we want the preservation of law and order assured at whatever cost. what operations were necessary. All eyes were then turned toward the "angels," who were expected to leave the room; but no, they were brave enough to stand it out. The surgeon first took up the brain of a man who, it was supposed, received a severe blow upon the head, from which he died. This brain was eare-fully discreted, and the "angels" had a view of the spinal gland, the supposed sent of the soul. After sevenil cases of fracture of the arm were disposed of, a poor, miserable, suffering mortal, in the shape of a man with a fractured thigh, in which the fracture refused to unite, was brought in. The poor fellow was placed recumbent on a revolving table, and the roong doctors proceeded to pull of his boots. At this a quick, low stamp-ing, like a growt of dissent, ran round the benches. In a moment the man appeared before us in the suit God gave him before his arrival in this vale of tears and medical students. These "angels" watched with the greatest apparent interest the manipulations of the surgeon throughout the whole performance, and not a blush sufficient the checks of these make-believe ladles—"the high-toned ladles," as some of the papers call them. Now, Sir, we are, all of us, friends of the fairsex while they remain as freaven intended them to be, but when they so far overreach the bounds of modesty, any discret, as to appear before half a thousand male students at a surgical demonstra-tion, is it not right that measures be taken to ex-Under the internal revenue law all property passing by will or by intestate laws of any State, o heirs of deceased persons, and all real estate passing by gift, or in any manner whatever, with dequate consideration from one person or corporation to another, is subject to a tax at a rate auging from one to six per cent., and the law makes it necessary for the executor or administra-
