A Sad and Futal Accident. On Friday afternoon last a shocking calamity occurred on the Lehigh Valley Railroad, near the iron bridge, in this city. Mrs. Harrison Butz and her daughter were proceeding down the rallroad on their way to East Penn. Depot, to see a friend off in the 4:20 train. They heard the apoach of a locomotive and looking round, saw that the engine was not on the track they were walking on, and considering themselves safe, paid fortunate enough to obtain tickets. no further attention to it, but when the engine was nearly up to them the engineer blew his whistle frightened Miss Butz that she jumped upon the opposite track, was caught by the engine, run

There is but one good wife in the world, and every man thinks he's got her. Happy the man who could think so (and we doubt not there are many such) after hearing Mr. Willet's lecture in the Court House, on Thursday evening. Taking for the basis of his remarks the description of a want apparent to all interested in the rapid a virtuous woman, written by King Lemuel's growth and expansion of our city limits. It will mother, and recorded in the last chapter of Proverbs, the lecturer showed that though fashions change and sewing machines take the place of spindle and distaff, the Model Wife-the crown of her husband, in all essential particulars is the same to-day as she was three thousand years ago. The same law of kindness is on her lips, the same rule of industry guides her life, and the same mantle of gentle charity adds grace to every act. She sees tears while the husbandman sleeps, a sor of thing calculated to make the RENT day pass lightly and pleasantly, we should think, and with Wheeler & Wilson we would back the Model Wife to beat the devil at it any day. The lecturer dwelt strongly and forcibly on the necessity o ndustry in a well ordered household, and snoke of "gumption" as a great and a glorious thing. The tact with which the Model Wife will manage schold affairs was well described and every and hold up for imitation, except that dreadfully ncomfortable habit of getting up in the dark. It is quite a shuddering kind of thing to think of rising in the cold wintry mornings, and almost as had for the worse half, who might possibly stay behind, as for the victim. We trust for the sake of our Benedicts that none of our young wives will run this thing into the ground We were very glad to see the Court House well filled. These lectures are for the good of a community. It is not for the amount of recondite ughts his remarks would awaken, and she could not but be proud of her sex, and satisfied with her mission, as she heard them described in the eloquent words of the lecturer. "She shall rejoice in time to come,"-not at the polls, we who praiseth her and in the children who rise up and call her blessed. Her mission is the Home Mission and not her political works, but her works, of charity and mercy are the "works that will praise her in the gates." Great credit is due to Mr. George Kuhl for his efforts in providing the citizens of Allentown with this treat, and we trust

It supplies may be the means of saving thousands of dollars of land damages by indicating now, exactly their future location. The labor bestowed upon this undertaking must have been immense. In addition to showing the location of every building, vacant lot, name of the owner, locations and name of every street, it shows the elevation of the hand, embraced within the limits of the map, above the level of the Lehigh River. This feature will also be valuable to our city government, in extending old and locating new streets, and in fixing proper grades. A meeting has been held in Philadelphia for the purpose of raising subscriptions for a new railroad between Philadelphia and New-York. It appears that Pennsylvania has already granted a harter for a road between the former city and ome point on the Delaware, the said road to pass brough Attleborough; and there are various harters from the Legislature of New Jersey for chanters from the Legislature of New Jersey for small local roads not yet in existence, which can be consolidated so as to give a direct route from the terminas of the Attleborough road to New-York. It is therefor assumed that no further logislation will be needed from either State. Too me link not yet provided for it the bridge across the Delaware at Yardleyville, the proposed point of crossing. The Legislatures of Pennsylvania and New Jersey have authorized the construction of an ordinary road bridge at this place, but not a rallroad bridge; and as there in no, probability that the Camden and Amboy Company would al-low the State of New Jersey to make the desired that the Canadea and Annoy Company would ar-low the State of New Jersey to make the deslred amendment, whatever Pennsylvania might do, the managers of the new enterprise purpose ask-ing authority from Congress, under the constitu-tional power to establish post routes. If they succeed—and we carnestly hope they may, though they will preparate great consider they will encounter great opposition from the powerful corporations which now oppress trave-ers between New-York and Washington—we sha

It is to be a first-class road with double steel track, stone ballasted, and crossing all other roads and highways either above or below their level, so that high speed can be attained with safety.
