THE ABOLITION OF SLAVERY.

Since the election of negro slavery and the stringent legislation of Congress to secure to the manumitted slaves their rights as freemen, the ingenuity of the old slaveholders has been considerably taxed to secure a status to them as near the old as possible, that is, to enjoy the benefits of labor without doing it themselves or paying anything for it. Their object seemed to be accomplished by the opening of the gates of China, which had been, until recently, effectually sealed against the rest of the world for thousands of years.

THE LEHIGH VALLEY TARIFF INTEREST.

In the debate on the Tariff question it has followed in the natural order of things that the Keystone State has been prominently brought forward, and for this reason my arguments to her behalf have been particularly prominent. The Free Trade movement is not a new one, but it is a new one in its application to Pennsylvania. The Free Traders have utterly ignored the fact that a protection of the industrial interests of Pennsylvania must result in the enlargement and perpetuation of the market for agricultural products. These patriotic gentlemen will not see that the protection of the iron industry is a necessary condition of the success of the agricultural industry.

THE ATTACK UPON THE IRON-INTERESTS OF PENNSYLVANIA.

The Philadelphia North American contains some just and sensible remarks in exposition of the real object of the late attack upon the iron interests of Pennsylvania in Congress. The assault made upon Pennsylvania, in the present free trade contest, it says, is not so vehement and determined as it has been in former years. It is not so much the iron industry that is the object of attack, but the protection of the iron industry is a necessary condition of the success of the agricultural industry.

McFARLAND'S TRIAL.

It is one of the curiosities of the McFarland trial that the prisoner who by "most respectable testimony" is made out to be a man of weak intellect and whose brain has heretofore been unable to stand the pressure of intellectual excitement, demeaned himself in such a manner as to excite the admiration of the court and to win the sympathy of the jury.

LETTER FROM ARKANSAS.

Illness, says Brown, April 18th, 1870. Through the Cherokee Nation, presented me with an accomplished and modulated trip into Kansas, and as I have to say very little interesting matter to communicate, I shall confine my remarks almost exclusively to a narrative of this trip.

THE EXTENT OF THE IRON-PREJUDICE.

The protection given to the manufacture of iron by the tariff bill of 1860, gave an impulse to its manufacture in Lehigh and Montgomery counties, which resulted in a state of prosperity which these counties never knew before. It led to an investment of capital and employment of labor heretofore unknown in this section. It increased the population of Lehigh county from about 40,000 to nearly 70,000. It developed our mineral deposits and built up towns and villages where before had been rugged mountain sides or quiet pastoral fields.

THE PENNSYLVANIA BERGLARY.

This is a partial exhibit of the recrimination of Mr. Siles to the trust confided in him by the people of this District. We will have more to say another time. In the meantime, laboring men and farmers of Lehigh county, look to your interests and weigh well the recrimination of your misrepresentation!

THE WINDMILL OF IGNORANCE.

We heard of a man who could not be convinced that the world would round. His simple and unassuming reply to every argument sent forth to prove the proposition was "I don't believe it." So he continued in this determination not to believe it and always considered he had the best of the argument because he was not convinced. Likewise when Mr. Brewster denounces by figures and statistics the fact that the world has revolved on its axis, certain individuals in Lehigh county, with the majority of the rest of the world, are slow to accept the facts of science.
