MR. W. C. RODERICK, of Catasauqua, there is a letter waiting for thee. It is in the Philadelphia Postoffice, and is held for three cents postage.

LIBEL SUIT.—J. W. Wood, of the Easton Free Press, has been sued for libel by J. H. Allen, of Bucks county. Mr. Wood gave bail on Saturday last for his appearance at the August term of Court.

AWNINGS.—In addition to the new awning in course of erection in front of the property of Dr. Wm. J. Romig on Hamilton street, two more of these ornaments are being added to our improvements by Messrs. Maulburg & Weil and Mr. Joseph Hecker.

CORRECTED.—We are requested to say that the statement made in the communication to the Daily News, concerning the sale of complimentary tickets by a German Editor, is declared by the members of the Allentown Cornet Band, to be without foundation in fact, and is supposed to have arisen out of a joke.—Poor joke!

SURGICAL OPERATION.—Dr. W. P. Kistler, of Germansville, assisted by Doctors E. H. Kistler, C. Williams and his students Messrs. A. M. Stapp and J. Grosscup, on the 5th inst., removed a large cancerous tumors (weighing over three pounds) from the shoulder of Widow Conrad Ebert, living in East Penn, Carbon county. The patient is doing very well.

SERENADE.—The Amateur Musical Society of this city, Thursday eve ing serenaded Mr. T. Kern of the firm of Guth & Kern, at his residence on the corner of Ninth and Walnut. After listening to the sweet strains Mr. Kern invited the party into the house and most hospitably entertained them. A most agreeable evening was spent and the "Amatuers" departed well pleased with their visit.

BATHING ROOMS.—Our enterprising friend, Mr. Bowers the Barber, has fitted up convenient bath rooms in connection with his shaving and hair dressing establishment. The shaving saloon has undergone repairs and presents a neat and cheerful appearance. Mr. Bowers has fixed his rates for baths so as to make them within the means of all who would be cleanly. His place is on Church Street above Hamilton.

A FUTURE PRESIDENT.—Detroit was visited the other day by a twelve year old boy, who, at the railroad station, took a chair, unlocked his satchel, made a dinner of a piece of bread and herring, and then brought out his pipe for a quiet smoke, and asked in regard to the inducements held out in Detroit for a boy about his size. Not finding the information to his liking, he picked up his satchel, knocked the ashes from his pipe on the heel of his old shoe, and passed out, remarking that he would go to Chicago.

THE WHITE MAN'S PARTY.—There is a large negro vote in Philadelphia, which the Democrats are determined to secure, if it can be done for "love or money." In the Fourth (Bill McMullin's) ward they have established a notorious negro, who for twenty years has been a runner with the Moyamensing Hose Company, in the hotel business. The Democracy supply him liberally with money, and he dispenses rot-gut free to all who promise to vote the Democratic ticket. How is that for the "White Man's Party?"

THE ALLEN HOUSE COACH.—Passengers arriving at the various depots and the coach from the Allen House always waiting and ready to convey them to their destination. The coach is generally admired, and the public spirit of Mr. Robt. Kramer deserves commendation. The omnibuses hitherto used have been both, uncomfortable and inconvenient, while the Allen House coach is a credit to the city. The coach will call at the residence of any of our citizens for passengers or baggage. Orders to be left at the bar of the Allen House.

SHOO FLY translated into French for the benefit of the Upper Tendom and for the sake of a change:—

"Je suis, Je suis, Je suis,
Comme l'etoile du matin,
Je suis, Je suis, Je suis,
Comme l'etoile du matin,
La musique, est en l'air,
C'est que ma mere ma dit,
Les anges elles jetti la melasse
Sur la tete de ce ne—gree.

Va! mouche! ne m' incommode,
Va! mouche! ne m' incommode,
Va! mouche! ne m' incommode,
Car Je suis un de Compagnie G."

THE DUTY OF CLEANLINESS.—As the warm weather approaches, the danger of attack from disease increases and a strict attention to sanitary laws is necessary for the preservation of health. We desire to call the attention of our citizens to the proclamation of Mayor Good, relative to the removal of filth and garbage from the neighborhood of our dwellings. Notwithstanding all the attractions the doctors set forth in the way of medicines, there is nothing so conducive to health as pure air and a cleanliness that is next to Godliness. See that the drains and cess-pools are in a condition of preparation to meet the summer sun or our Bill of Health will not be a clean one.

APPOINTMENTS BY THE GOVERNOR.—The Governor yesterday made the following appointments:—

Herman L. Emmons, Commissioner of Deeds at Baltimore, for the State of Pennsylvania. Commissioned for five years.

Robert Moffitt, Sealer of Weights and Measures for Venango county.

Robert J. Fleming, Notary Public at Harrisburg.

John Shiffert, Notary Public at Millerstown, Lehigh county.

The last three appointments are for three years each.

We are pleased to announce the appointment of our friend Mr. Shiffert, of Millerstown, whom we believe to be in every way capable and worthy.

MORE ALLENTOWN ENTERPRISE.—The new grocery store recently opened in Dr. Romig's building by Messrs. Schuon & Dillinger is a fine establishment. The stock is all fresh and purchased at the lowest prices, and their customers are given every advantage of the recent decline The enterprise of the proprietors is worthy of the most liberal patronage from our citizens. Mr. Schuon has made such arrangements in Germany by which he is enabled to make his own importations of cheese, and Sweitzer and Limberger can be purchased wholesale at their store at the wholesale prices of the importers of New York and Philadelphia, thus saving the freight from those cities, an item worth considering. The gentleman who makes the purchases for this firm, in the old country, is a merchant of experience, and their patrons can always rely upon obtaining these goods of the best quality.

THE FIREMEN.—The preparations among the firemen for their grand parade on the 6th of June are on an extensive scale and the people may anticipate a fine display. The Liberty Hose Company will appear in their new equipments with their beautiful carriage, accompanied by the Siegersville Band. The Columbia have received the balance of their new fire coats from Wanamaker & Brown. This company have engaged the services of the City Cornet Band who will appear in their handsome new uniforms made by Osmun & Co. The America Hose Company have hired the Allentown Cornet Band, who will also appear in a new uniform manufactured by Balliet & Nagle. The Band wish to make their "magnificent appearance" on that day a surprise to our citizens and we therefore refrain from giving a description of their new uniform. The Good Will will have a splendid turnout on that day and will be preceeded by the famous Ringgold Band of Reading. We have not learned what preparations the Vigilants are making, but suppose they will be well represented in the line.

LARGE stock of sheet music, instructors, blank books, music paper and cards at C. F. Herrmann's Music Store, Allentown. —Adv.

A THIRD REASON why T. C. Kernahen, of the Allentown China, Glassware and Lamp Store can sell cheaper than others, is because he sells more than any two in the county put together.

ST. JOHN'S ENGLISH REFORMED CHURCH. —Evening service in this church during the Summer will be held at half-past seven o'clock, instead of at seven, as formerly.

THE best of Italian violin strings, violins, guitars, flutes, etc., or any other article belonging to musical instruments, can be bought cheaper than anywhere else, at C. F. Herrmann's Music Store, Allentown, Pa.—Adv.

CHEAP PARLOR ORGANS.—A single reed 5 octave organ at $90. A double reed organ with 5 stops, at $130. A powerful organ with 7 stops at $180, at C. F. Herrmann's, corner of 7th and Walnut.—Adv.

ALLENTOWN has an extensive china and glassware establishment where as great a variety and as low prices can be found as in the larger cities. We refer to the new store of Richard Walker, No. 40 West Hamilton street.—Adv.

MILLERSTOWN.—According to an ordinance of the Millerstown Council the streets of that borough are to be curbed and paved throughout. New curb stones have been dumped on Church street and on the lower end of Main street, and are ready to be set. The improvement will be an advantageous one to that thriving borough.

DECISIONS OF SUPREME COURT OF LOCAL INTEREST, FRIDAY.—Santee vs. Santee, Northampton county. Judgment affirmed.

Kelley et. al. vs. Boucher, Lehigh county.—Judgment reversed and a venire de novo awarded.

Miller's appeal, Lehigh county. Decree affirmed and appeal dismissed at cost of appellants.

The Dimes Saving Institution vs. the Allentown Bank, Lehigh county. Judgment affirmed.

Ehert vs. Gackenback, Lehigh county. Judgment affirmed.

THE DAILY CHRONICLE.—The remarkably rapid increase in the circulation of the CHRONICLE is another evidence of the progressive spirit of the Allentonians. The latest intelligence every afternoon is placed before our readers, and we spare no pains to make our paper "newsy" and readable. TO ADVERTISERS THE DAILY CHRONICLE offers a medium for their public notices, unsurpassed in the Lehigh Valley. It has subscribers all over the country, and is sold on all the trains passing through Allentown from 4 o'clock, P. M., each day.

GROCERY.—Messrs. Daniel H. Miller and Thomas J. Ruhe have lately taken the store formerly occupied by Mr. Levi Woodring, and, on Monday next, will open the same as a Grocery. They intend to keep only first-class goods and only ask a trial of their stock to ensure them a good share of public patronage. Monday May 16, they will offer to the public an entirely new stock of Groceries. While they are determined to keep only first-class goods they will offer them at the lowest possible prices. Remember Ruhe & Miller's new Grocery, Hamilton street between Sixth and Seventh, next door to Massey's Jewelry Store.

AMERICAN SUNDAY SCHOOL WORKER, J. W. McIntyre, Publisher, St. Louis.—We have received the May number of this excellent magazine for parents and teachers. Its contents are wholly original this month. Its writers represent all sections and denominations. It has proved a very marked success, we learn from the Publisher, in its circulation and in the increased efficiency given to those schools that have adopted it. Subscription price, 1.50 per year.

This number contains articles on Child Conversion, Visible Illustration, Organization and Government of Sabbath Schools, Children must be born again, Family Department for the Children, Blackboard Lessons, Book Notices, Lessons with Questions and Expositions, Editorial, Poetry, &c.

THE NIGHTLY FIRE.—Another attempt was made Wednesday night to fire a dwelling. Under the porch in front of the residence of Mr. William Henry, a quantity of half burned paper was found this morning, and all the appearances establish the fact that the destruction of the premises was the object. Mr. Henry resides on Turner between Ninth and Tenth streets in one of the buildings known as Plank Row. Had the fire spread and ignited the building as was evidently intended, the destruction of the whole row would have probably followed.

In Church Alley about midnight a man was seen near the stable of Mr. Henry E. Ruhe, and the parties who saw him saw that he had fire, which, "upon seeing us, he put out" and walked into the middle of the Alley. He is described as a tall man with a white hat and white vest.

MR. STILES SPEAKS FOR HIS DISTRICT.—In the House of Representatives, Wednesday, the paragraph in the Tariff Bill before the House being that taxing street car wheels 3½ per pound, Mr. Ingersoll moved to reduce it to 2½ cents. A long discussion ensued, in the course of which Mr. Stiles, who opposed the reduction of the rate, declared that he would vote in the House against the proposition to reduce the duty on pig-iron, and that the country would hold the Republican party responsible for any reduction of the duties imposed by the present tariff on the great iron interests of Pennsylvania.

We are glad to call attention to such utterances from our member. If tardy, they are to the purpose when they do come. While commending the Honorable gentleman's remarks we must take the liberty to doubt if he speaks for the country on the question of responsibility for reduced Tariff.

SCENE IN WASHINGTON ON FRIDAY.—There was another exciting time at the session of the American Medical Association, on the question of admitting the colored delegates. The majority of the Committee on Ethics were instructed to report to the Convention their reasons for reporting to exclude the delegates from the Howard University. In pursuance to the instructions of the Convention, they reported that the delegates were excluded because they were members of the National Medical Society of the District of Columbia, which admitted colored physicians to membership. An exciting scene followed this report. The excluded delegates endeavored to be heard in defence, but the rebel element showed itself by hisses, and it was only by the greatest difficulty that the President could obtain order, so that the excluded delegates could speak. Before the question was disposed of, a resolution was offered that the Association should not exclude any person on account of color. This produced a great excitement, and was received with continued hisses. A scene of great disorder ensued, and many delegates left the convention, thoroughly disgusted with the proceedings. Finally order was restored and the debate on the resolution followed.

LEHIGH COAL AND NAVIGATION COMPANY. —Tuesday week the Lehigh Coal and Navigation Company held their annual meeting at the rooms of the Board of Trade, Philadelphia. Caleb Cobe occupied the chair, and Frank Mitchell acted as secretary. The annual report was read, from which we glean the annexed statistics:

The profits of the year from all sources were $1,707,453 81; the expenses including loss on Delaware Division Canal ($143,692 81) were $1,462,-752 17; surplus to credit of profit and loss account; $334,701 54; subject to a deduction of about $75,000 for extra expenses on the canal.

The coal tonnage on railroad and canal for 1869 was 1,597,651 15 tons against 1,552,163 03 in 1868. There was an increase in the railroad tonnage of 430, 292 tons; a decrease in canal tonnage of 384,-393 tons. Net increase, 45,488 tons.

The company's mines in 1869 yielded 563,915 tons of coal, against 467,126 tons in 1868.

The election of officers for the ensuing year resulted as follows;

President—E. W. Clark.

Managers—S. M. Felton, Francis R. Cope, F. C. Yarnall, Fisher Hazard, Charles Parrish, Geo. F. Tyler, Philip C. Garrett, Charles Wheeler, George Whitney, Alexander Biddle, John Leisenring.

CENSUS.—Be prepared for the Census taker. He will give you a call somewhere about the first of June. He will want to know of every family the names, ages, sexes, colors, &c., of its members, and also information for the compilation of statistics concerning farm productions, manufactures, &c. The information given must be, as nearly as possible, exact and should be properly given by the head of the family. Paterfamilias will do well to attend to this himself, for it is worth remembering that any false information, purposely given, subjects the offender to a fine of $30: and this fine can be sued for as a debt by the deputy or Assistant Marshal to whom the false information is given. The value of the "Census Returns" ought to be appreciated by every intelligent man and every good citizen should do his part toward ensuring expedition and reliability.

INCENDIARISM.—On Sunday evening week preparations were made by some scoundrels for the burning of the buildings back of the Allen House which fortunately were frustrated. An attempt was made to start another fire and the incendiary was seen. A citizen passing by Church Alley saw a man engaged in lighting a bundle of paper. He immediately started to see who it was and the man ran. He gave chase, but unfortunately the would-be incendiary got away. An examination of the place (between Walnut & Union) where the man was at work resulted in the discovery of all the necessary preparations for the spread of the fire.

The safety of our City demands that special efforts shall be made to bring these villains to Justice. We are living in the presence of a secret foe and we know not how soon a horrible calamity may transpire.

PHRENOLOGICAL JUSTICE.—A wife of the period in a western town brought a complaint against her husband last week for abusing her. She swore that he had beaten her and torn out of her head large quantities of hair, which she preserved and laid away in a band box, but which was not exhibited in Court. She tried to recount a long story of wrongs, extending over almost the entire period of their matrimonial experience, and succeeded in telling that she had been three times driven into the Lunatic Asylum of New York through his great cruelty. The husband on his side said his wife wasted all his earnings. The Judge examined the woman's head, and although he did not give a phrenological opinion, he did say that he could see no indications that any of her hair had been pulled out; consequently, he said, he must dismiss the case, warning the parties at the same time that it would be much better for them to live in peace and quiet. Husband and wife thanked "Ye'r Worship," and left the court room, evidently satisfied that justice had been done.

COLLISION ON THE LEHIGH AND SUSQUEHANNA RAILROAD—FATAL RESULT.—A collision occurred on the L. & S. R. R near Freemansburg, Tuesday week at 4 o'clock. While engine No. 51, attached to a coal train, was running down, the engineer and fireman, as is said, being asleep, they passed the siding at which they were to pass an up coal train. The conductor was in the caboose and he noticed the mistake and took every means to avert a calamity, but the crash soon came and engines and cars were piled up in a promiscuous heap. The engineer of engine No. 51 was scalded to death, and two other men were slightly injured.

The unfortunate man Carroll had been for many years an engineer and had never before met with an accident. He bore the best of characters for steadiness and reliability and the supposition that he was asleep and ran past the siding, arises from the fact that he was on extra duty and had been deprived of his customary and necessary sleep. The Coroner's Jury found a verdict in accordance with the facts and the body of the unfortunate man was carried to Penobscot where his friends reside.

ONE MORE ATTEMPT TO BURN.—Again on May 3d an attempt was made to destroy the property of a citizen by fire, which, but for its providential discovery before the flames had gained headway, would have resulted in a disastrous calamity. The scene of the incendiarie's operations was the carpenter shop of Mr. Wm. Clewell, on Hall alley, between Chew and Turner streets, and the time selected was about one o'clock this morning. Straw had been procured from a neighboring stable and thrown in at one of the windows of the shop, then rags saturated with coal oil were ignited and thrown in on top of the straw. A lady residing in the vicinity happening to look from her window, saw the blaze and alarmed the neighbors, who in a very short time succeeded in extinguishing the fire. A large hole was burned through the side of the shop, but no further damage was done.

Who will suffer to-night? Are we to be continually in the apprehension of fire? Every family in our city is living in continual dread that they will be the next victims. Active measures are necessary to check this crime. We have heard something of a proposal to establish a secret organization for the protection of the city. We would like to see some such course taken.

REAL ESTATE CHANGES.—Mr. Owen Williams, of Lehigh township, Northampton county, sold his lot on Fourth street, in the Borough of Catasauqua, to William H. Dutt, of the same place, for $375.

John W. Oberly sold 14 acres in Hanover township, on the road leading from Catasauqua to Schoenersville, to W. R. Houser. Price not made public.

Mr. Edward Overpeck sold his house and lot on Bridge street, in the Borough of Catasauqua, to James Campbell, for $4000.

Messrs. G. H. Rupp, J. E. Zimmerman and S. Camp bought of Philip Klee nine lots, each 20 feet front by 115 feet deep, situated on Eighth street, north of Liberty, for $1350.

Mr. Anselm Bentle bought of Bureaw, Roeder and Dillinger a lot 38 feet by 110 feet, situated on Fourth street, between Gordon and Pine, for $700.

Mr. John Snyder bought of the same parties a lot 20 feet by 110, situated in the same square, for $400.

Mr. Henry Ritter bought of the same parties a lot 20 feet by 110, situated on Pine street, between Fourth and Penn streets, for $200.

Mr. Daniel Newhard, of Catasauqua, sold to C. W. Rau, of Allentown, his house and lot of 10 acres, for $7000.

CHECKMATE FOR THE SOCIAL EVIL.—Last week a scene was enacted on our streets which, though not very pleasant to behold, will be generally read of with feelings of satisfaction. A married man was taking a walk with two females whose reputation in the community make them unfit companions for any man with the slightest pretension to respectability. We understand they rejoice in the distinguished cognomen of "Schlinderhannes," and are sisters. That they may have all the notoriety to which they are entitled, we will add that their "befront" names are respectively Ann and Mary. The name of the distinguished member of the "married profession" we withhold only on account of his family. Pursuing their walk and rejoicing in congenial society they reached the corner of Sixth and Turner, when they were suddenly confronted by the outraged wife.

The man and his companions were both surprised and disgusted. In fact, they were completely demoralized, and would have retired in disorder. The husband did manage to sneak off, and the girls would have followed suit, but the enraged woman who confronted them had no idea of letting them off so easily. Striking right out from the shoulder she laid one of the sweet sisters prone in the dust. The prostrate "Schinderhannes," however, showed fight, and then began a desperate struggle. Hands and feet, nails and teeth were in full operation, and in a few moments it was evident that the wife was able to whip her foe. Then the sister came to the rescue, and with these odds against her the courageous lady, nothing daunted, still fought on, and after a short, sharp battle, she handsomely whipped both of them.

Public opinion has declared in favor of the "injured husband" slaying the destroyer of his domestic happiness. We hope, in this age of Woman's Rights, that married women who have the "spunk" will not forget that they have the same kind of remedy as this good lady, who deserves special commendation—from those who regard the crime of McFarland as entirely justifiable, especially. Wives who have not muscle enough to ensure victory in such an encounter might form a Mutual Protection Society, or take such measures as will render the punishment of their enemies a certainty.

HEAVY shipments of coal are being made from the Lehigh to the Schuylkill Valley by way of the East Pennsylvania Railroad.

HOME AGAIN.—Mr. Samuel Hunt, of Catasauqua, returned home on Monday week from an extensive tour through Colorado and New Mexico, after an absence of nine months. We were glad to see him looking much improved in health.

THE FOUNTAIN HOUSE.—The preparations that are being made at this summer resort for the accommodation of visitors are under the superintendence of Mr. Peter Deshler, who acts for the proprietor in his absence. There is every indication of a liberality of spirit and a desire to have a first-class house, that confirms the impression that the Fountain House will be a real advantage to our city. We understand that it is likely to be opened by the 1st of June.

TO THE CHARITABLE.—A poor widow, in this city, has had the misfortune to be afflicted with partial blindness and is in consequence totally unable to support her family. Her children, all but one, have been taken to other families, and the one who remains is stated to be a healthy girl, of six years old. It is hoped that some charitable persons will adopt this one and train it in a Christian manner and thus relieve the poor woman from her charge. Inquiries may be made at the residence of Rev. S. K. Brobst.

PROCLAMATION.

Whereas, the peace and quiet of the good citizens of Allentown has been much disturbed, and their safety seriously endangered, by numerous attempts within the last few weeks, to destroy property by fire in various parts of the city, and it is due to them and the character of the community that no effort be spared to discover and punish the offenders: Now, therefore, I do hereby, in the name of the Corporate Authorities, offer a reward of

for the arrest and conviction of any person or persons guilty of the offence above mentioned.

And I also recommend that the citizens organize Committees of Vigilance within their respective wards or blocks, in aid of the police, whose efforts in this matter, though untiring, have hitherto been unsuccessful.

T. H. GOOD, Mayor.

MEETING OF DIRECTORS AND TEACHERS.—Last week a meeting was held at the Second Ward School House, by the Teachers and Directors of the schools of our city, who desired publicly to express their sorrow at the death of Miss Bickley their sympathy with the family and their sense of the loss which the schools and the community had sustained.

DEATH OF MISS LAURA BICKLEY.—A telegram received Tuesday week conveyed the sad intelligence of the death of Miss Laura Bickley, which took place on that morning at Reading. The conveyance of the doleful news to the children of the late Miss Bickley's school was a very sad business. Her goodness and kindness and her real interest in the welfare of the little ones had endeared her to them, not only as their teacher but as their friend, and the burst of grief, with which they received the intelligence that they would see her kind face and be cheered by her bright smile no more, was a touching tribute to her worth and spoke volumes for her loveliness of character. Every one who had the privilege of an intimate acquaintance with this young lady can sympathise with her scholars in this heartfelt grief. To know her was to love her. The grace and beauty which nature had given to her in personal appearance were supplemented by the goodness and the sweetness of her disposition, and they attracted towards her old and young. Though of rather a retiring disposition, no young lady in our city had more numerous and warmer friends than Miss Bickley. Her faithful devotion to the school she had in charge elicited the admiration and commendation of the authorities, and earned for her the gratitude of the parents to whose children she devoted the strength of her latest days on earth. A life of useful labor was hers—not a life of ease, and by her gentle counsels she has led many a young heart in the way of wisdom—the path of peace. Not standing idle—she labored in the vineyard and early in life had declared herself on the side of Christ. Her powers of usefulness increased by exercise. She never despised the humblest offices in which she could help others and was always ready to sacrifice her own good for those for whom she labored. It is probable that her death was accelerated by the close application to her duties as teacher. It is very hard for those who knew her and loved her so dearly to understand the wisdom that has called her from us. In the freshness of her youth, in the perfection of her beauty, in the midst of her useful life, the summons came for her. Her life was a sweet lesson of patient usefulness; her death is a solemn sermon to those who yet remain. "In the midst of life we are in death; but in the very clasp of Death there is eternal Life, if ye will but believe."

Miss Bickley was only twenty-one years of age, just entering into womanhood.

When Faith and Love, which parted from thee never,
Had ripened thy just soul to dwell with God,
Meekly thou didst resign this earthly load
Of death, called life; which us from life doth sever.
Thy works, and sins, and all thy good endeavor,
Staid not behind, nor in the grave were trod;
But, as Faith pointed with her golden rod,
Follow'd thee up to joy and bliss for ever.
Love led them on, and Faith, who knew them best,
Thy handmaids, clad them o'er with purple beams
And azure wings, that up they flew so drest,
And spake the truth of them on glorious themes
Before the Judge; who thenceforth bid thee rest
And drink thy fill of pure immortal streams. —Milton.

The funeral took place on Thursday last at one o'clock. For a full account see our Reading items.

ACCIDENT.—The other day while Mr. A. M. Stapp, private student of Dr. W. P. Kistler, of Heidelberg, was on the way to Lobarsville, the horse became unmanageable, throwing him from the sulky, which resulted in fracturing his left arm; he was then brought by a friend to the office of his preceptor, who applied proper dressing.

ZION'S REFORMED CHURCH.—On Good Friday last, thirty-five persons were added by the rite of Confirmation, to the Zion's Reformed Congregation of this city, of which the Rev. N. S. Strassburger is pastor, also fifty-one members were received by certificate, a total increase of eighty-six members. The Sacrament of the Lord's Supper was administered on Easter Sunday and nearly four hundred members communed.

ACCIDENT LAST SATURDAY.—An accident occurred last Saturday by which Charles Dieter, unfortunately, had his leg broken. Mr. Dieter is the teamster of the Good Will Fire Company, and had borrowed the wagon belonging to Mr. Kemig to fetch some chopped straw. When near Ninth street the bolt came out of the swingle-tree, which fell upon the horses' heels. Mr. Dieter did all he could to stop the frightened animals, but they ran the wagon against the fire plug, overturning it and throwing him under it, and in some way his leg was caught and a compound fracture sustained below the knee. Mr. Matthew Leisenring was on the wagon at the time, but fortunately escaped unhurt. Dr. Ed. Martin was called and attended the sufferer, who was carried to his home.

ANOTHER VETERAN GONE.—In our death notices to-day will be found the name of Daniel Keiper, a veteran of the war of 1812, and for many years a highly respected resident of this city. Thus one after another these patriarchs, who are the living links that connect us with the glorious early days of our country's history, pass away. Daniel Kelper could remember the excitement with which the news of the capture of the "Guerriere" by the "Constitution" was received, the exploits of the "Wasp," the burning of the Capital, the battle of Bladensburg, and all the exciting events which led to the treaty of peace at Ghent, December 24th, 1814. In that day great was the rejoicing at the success of the United States arms and the prospect of a lasting peace, but ere this "day of his departure" should come, there was in the future of the then young man of twenty, a time of war such as the world had not seen—a time when the Land of Liberty should be a land filled with the darkness of war, through which the red flash of artillery should shine, revealing no single sign of hope. Thousands who despaired at the "thick blackness of that darkness" lived to realize that it was but the advent of the dawn—the dawn of a liberty more extended, higher, nobler and purer than had ever been before known.

To muse o'er the grave of the veteran, and to think of the wondrous events that in the space of his life have transpired, is to go in thought over the history of a "social and political earthquake." And yet how short a space of time is allotted to men on earth. This old man had outlived the "threescore years and ten," and few, if any, of those who stand around his grave will reach his age. Yet who shall tell what their eyes will yet behold? The future to us is all uncertain—nothing is sure, but that we shall all lie down like him.

The withered leaf has dropped from off the branch. It has outstood the shocks that have shaken off many green ones; but the time came when its hold on life was loosened, and it lieth in the dust. Stand thou in "God's acre," reader—think on the wars he had seen, and then call to mind the words of the poet Gray:—

"Hark! how the sacred calm that breathes around
Bids every fierce, tumultuous passion cease,
In still, small accents whispering from the ground
A grateful earnest of Eternal Peace."

Kemmerer fell upon his face, receiving a contused wound below his left eye, closing it completely. Stephen Hill escaped without injury. FIREMAN'S PARADE.—One of the grandest displays ever witnessed in this city will take place on the 6th of June, should the weather prove favorable, on the occasion of the annual parade of the fire department. Each of the companies, including those newly organized, will parade, headed by a band of music. The entire police force, the Mayor, and both branches of the Councils will participate. The procession will form at noon and pass over the route which will be published in the DAILY CHRONICLE.

THE LECTURE ON SATURDAY EVENING by the Honorable Philadelph Van Trump was not well attended in consequence of the unfavorable state of the weather; only a small representation of the large number of ticket buyers being present. The lecturer was introduced by the Honorable John D. Stiles, and read extracts from an ably written essay, originally prepared by him for the American Historical Society. The length of the lecture, caused by its minutes of detail and chronological exactness, wearied some of the small audience who with more regard for their own ease than the requirements of courtesy, left the Court room before its conclusion. The subject of the lecture could not fail to make it an interesting one to students of history, but it is to be regretted that the lecturer had not so altered it as to make it of more interest to the general public. While statistics, dates and so forth are invaluable to the student and historian, the "average lecture goer" has a holy horror of such things. The ability of the gentleman and his kindness in lecturing for the benefit of our band, entitle him to immunity from aversed criticism;
