

The Lehigh Register.

WEDNESDAY, AUGUST 24, 1870.
ALLENTOWN, PA.

The same spirit which caused the rebellion seems to be the cause of the triumph of the North Carolina-called Democrats in their recent election. The colored population, being accustomed to endure the wrongs of slavery, have not yet cultivated that bravery which should make them impregnable to the assaults of their late masters, the disunionists of whom have long been a terror to loyalists throughout the organization of the Klan. Our government, in its desire to heal the past, has probably been too lenient in drawing its supreme control over the reconstructed States. North Carolina was always a Whig State. She was one of the last to secede and her large loyal population is probably the cause of the bitterness of her rebels and of their unyielding to bury the differences of the past.

A delegation of North Carolinians have arrived at Washington, and intend to visit Northern Congressmen, to lay before them the condition of the State as it is presented. The members of the committee have the recommendation of being responsible men and their statements are worthy of the utmost consideration. They have ample evidence to prove that the Klan organization carried their activities into the South, through the means of having fresh from the hands of the poor, down-trodden laborer of Europe, may be stored and held until the day of some future election, and on this account an effort will be made to prevail upon Congress to sit the election this side.

On this subject, the correspondent of the Tribune says:
The most appalling crimes were committed in the name of the Republic, except by slaves and the Pharis, and there is the most convincing evidence of the cruelties of the outlaws, not only to men but to woman, white and black, already in the hands of the Governor. On election day in the 11th, 12th, 13th, and 14th Congressional Districts there were a large force of men, and with the Republican Congressmen there were no pretense of having a fair election in some of the districts; that colored men were openly mobbed, their lives threatened, and a reign of terror spread over the whole colored population. Gov. Holden believes that to preserve the public peace and protect loyal men, and with the Republican Congressmen from that State, will urge the President to continue all the troops now in the State, at least until Congress assemble in December.

The system adopted in Lancaster county for the nomination of the Republican ticket, by which the candidates are chosen by a ballot box, is one of the most advantageous to recommend it, but in a county like Lancaster, where a nomination is equal to an election, the strife for office is made before the election, among the members of the Republican party, and the election is merely a formality.

A SKETCH OF MACMAHON.
Mr. MacMahon writes from Paris to the Cincinnati Commercial:
I was not hunting, but accidentally ran against one of the largest proslavery—London from Africa. I had a man called MacMahon, who had been in the States for some time, and was very anxious to recommend it, but in a county like Lancaster, where a nomination is equal to an election, the strife for office is made before the election, among the members of the Republican party, and the election is merely a formality.

The defeat of Marshal Bazaine at Rezonville, on Thursday last, put an end to the fighting around Metz. It virtually annihilated the force of the French army which was destroyed in the Vosges. The last lingering hope of the Empire was blasted on that bloody field; and there is no longer hope in the names of Napoleon or Bazaine. Let us hope, as seems not improbable, that it also made an end to all serious fighting in the present war.

The result of the Prussian victory at Rezonville, the details of which are sent us by telegraph from our special correspondent on the field, greatly alters the military situation in the Vosges, which at once becomes a serious question. The French army, which was occupying a strong position to the west of Metz, were to-day attacked under our leadership. Our troops went steadily into the action, and fought splendidly. After a battle lasting over nine hours we defeated the enemy from his line, and dislodged him from the position. Communication with Paris has been cut. I have established my headquarters on the battlefield.

AN OFFER OF MEDIATION FROM THE POPE.
King William's Reply—The Dominions of the Pope to King William proposing mediation:
LONDON, August 19.—The following is the reply of the Pope to King William proposing mediation:
In the present grave circumstances it may appear an odd thing to receive a letter from me; but as the Vicar on Earth of God and peace, I cannot do less than offer my mediation. It is my desire to witness the cessation of warlike preparations, and to see the peace and tranquillity of the world restored. My mediation is that of a sovereign whose moral authority excites no jealousy, and who inspires confidence by the moral and religious influence he possesses. May God lend ear to my wishes, and listen also to those of your Majesty, to whom I would be united in the bonds of charity.

ERRORS OF YOUTH.—A gentleman who suffered for years from Nervous Debility, Premature Emission, &c., and who had been advised by all the medical authorities to give up all hope, was cured by the use of Dr. Williams' Pink Pills for Pale People. He writes: "I have written identically to the Empress of Russia." The King's reply is as follows: "Most august Pontiff: I am not surprised, but profoundly moved, at the touching words of God and of peace to be heard. How could my heart refuse to listen to so powerful an appeal. God witnesses that neither I nor my people desired or provoked war. Obeying the sacred duty which God imposes on sovereigns and nations we take up the sword to defend the independence and honor of our country, ready to lay it down the moment these treasures are secured. If your Holiness could offer me from him so unexpectedly declared war assurance of sincerely pacific dispositions, and guarantees against a similar attempt upon the peace and tranquillity of the world, it certainly will not be I who will refuse to receive them from your venerable hands, united as I am with you in bonds of Christian charity and sincere friendship. WILLIAM."

REPUBLICANS ATTENTION.
Rooms of the UNION CONGRESSIONAL REPUBLICAN EXECUTIVE COMMITTEE, WASHINGTON, D. C., are now open for the reception of the members of the Republican Executive Committee, and also of the first Battalion of the Regiment of the Landwehr of the Guard. He married in 1820, Princess Marianne, the daughter of King William I. of Holland, whom he divorced March 18, 1844, and he contracted a second marriage in 1848, but he was subsequently obtained the royal sanction to the divorce from the first wife.

THE IRON TRADE OF LAKE SUPERIOR.

In political circles the approaching contest in our State is looked forward to with great interest, in view of the fact that it is well known that the leaders of the Democratic party are making desperate efforts to gain victories in all the closely contested congressional districts and cut down Republican majorities throughout the State. It is in a word a struggle for life by the Democratic party against the Republican party, and it is in fact the commencement of the great national election in 1872. The various moves being made and the combinations formed upon the political chess-board by the leaders of the party, all look to such an end, although they may demand, yet their organization and aims are clear. It is well to bear in mind the fact that modern Democracy is the same whether marshalled under the banner of "strikes" or "parading under the banner of 'strikes'." The Democratic party has been found in arms upon the battlefield, endeavoring to wear the nation's epithet in the blood of its noble patriots, or in legislative halls and on the stump hypocritically appealing to the sacredness of the Constitution in justification of their attempts to cripple the efforts of the loyal people for the suppression of treason and rebellion and the perpetuation of the property of the Nation. The same whether masked as oath-bound "Knights of the Golden Circle" or lifting up hands in holy horror denouncing Union Leagues and Leagues, or proclaiming the cardinal principles of democratic faith to be identical with the embodied in the Declaration of Independence—whether forging international papers and sending them to the hands of the electors in the hope of their election, or whether depleting the national treasury in their efforts to destroy the Union and forcing upon the country an enormous debt of $100,000,000.

This is a serious matter, and this heavy blow against the manufacturers of iron, and highly favorable to the importers and manufacturers of iron, and highly favorable to the surplus goods of Europe, not only iron, but all others that we require, to meet the American manufacturer at every turn, at such price that he will be obliged to abandon his business unless he can get a better price. He is now getting $1.75 per day will be compelled to work for one dollar, if this state of things continues.

THE DANGER AND HOPE OF FRANCE.
The defeat of Marshal Bazaine at Rezonville, on Thursday last, put an end to the fighting around Metz. It virtually annihilated the force of the French army which was destroyed in the Vosges. The convention will consist of two delegates for each representative in the lower House of the State Legislature, provided that each county shall be represented by at least one delegate.

By Order of the Committee,
J. W. WOOD, Secretary.

ENGLAND.

LONDON, August 22.—Queen Victoria having received a message from the Empress Eugenie, to act as mediator for the settlement of the present difficulties, the former has replied that by the constitution and government of England, the Queen cannot interfere. A mediation must come from the Cabinet and the Cabinet did not think the time had come for interference.

A dispatch from Berlin to the Times states that the British Cabinet seemed to favor the formation of an Alliance with a neutralized State. Prussia is opposed to Italy, the latter having concluded an alliance with France.

The American Generals Sheridan and Forsyth witnessed the defeat of the French army on Thursday from Count Dismarck's carriage. It is estimated that the Prussian losses in the battle killed and wounded were 10,000. The Journal Official of Paris appears to-day destitute of news from Marshal Bazaine. It explains this lack of information by stating that no news has been received from the army of the Rhine for two days, owing to the interruption of telegraphic communication. The Journal says, however, that the absence of intelligence and the silence regarding Bazaine's movements induces the belief that though his plans have not yet succeeded, the heroic conduct of his troops and the bravery they have shown in their encounters with the overwhelming forces of their opponents, gives a hope of the success of Bazaine's operations.

Marshal Bazaine is reported to be under the guns of Metz. Marshal MacMahon is moving strategically, that he may support Bazaine at the proper moment.

PRUSSIA.
BENZIG, August 22.—The Prussians are making heavy requisitions for food on the inhabitants of Lunewitz and Nancy. The small garrison at Pilsbarg has capitulated. Railways are opened to Henry and Nancy and copious supplies are being furnished to the Prussian army. In the late battle the French lost 10,000 men.

Advices from army headquarters announce the army of the Crown Prince Frederick William of Prussia is near Saint Denis, apparently intending to march upon Paris by the valley of the Aube river, striking Paris at the South. The Crown Prince's army is reported to be 150,000 strong.

The Prussian advance on Friday, when first heard from, was rapidly closed in upon Verdun, which city is perfectly defended. Communication between Metz and Verdun has been cut both by railroad and telegraph.

BEZIG, August 20th.—The following dispatch has just been received:—
A great battle was fought at Rezonville on Thursday. The action was opened on Wednesday morning and at the termination of the day our army occupied a strong position upon the field. On the morning of Thursday the battle was renewed. The French were commanded by Marshal Bazaine and fought desperately. Our troops sustained their assaults firmly. The contest was fierce and prolonged. The battle was opened at 6 o'clock in the morning and for ten hours the action raged furiously. At nightfall the French, under Bazaine, were defeated. The loss on both sides was 40,000 killed and wounded.

We have taken many cannon and great numbers of French prisoners. The King of Prussia commanded the movements of the German army. King William of Prussia, from the headquarters of the victorious Prussian army, upon the battle field, has telegraphed the following account of the battle to Queen Augusta, which was received this morning:—We are again victorious. The French, who were occupying a strong position to the west of Metz, were to-day attacked under our leadership. Our troops went steadily into the action, and fought splendidly. After a battle lasting over nine hours we defeated the enemy from his line, and dislodged him from the position. Communication with Paris has been cut. I have established my headquarters on the battlefield.
