ALLENTOWN, PA., OCT. 11, 1871. SECRETARY BOUTWELL ON THE TARIFF.

Secretary Boutwell followed and supplemented his Cincinnati speech upon the National Finances with one at Cleveland in which he discussed the Tariff question at some length and referred briefly to the charges that the rich are growing richer while the poor are he secured a trusty detective to watch who growing poorer. His remarks upon both these important topics are worthy the attention and consideration of every voter and citizen, and Emerging from hishiding place—his detective the members of the Bar and the people must important topics are worthy the attention and we therefore make room for extracts from his always his attendant—Evans was discovered act.

peech. In regard to the Tariff question Mr. to have made a few visits to Newark, N. J. Boutwell said: The line which marks the difference between the Democratic and Republican parties, on the subject of the tariff is perfectly clear. In the Democratic party, the result aimed at is the collection of the largest amount of revenue from each imported article, without reference to the effect which may be produced upon the business of the country by the rate of duty fixed. Apply this principle, for example, to fixed. Apply this principle, for example, to iron. Assume that foreign pig iron, free of duty, may be delivered at Cleveland, with a reasonable profit to the manufacturer, and the cost of transportation paid at $20 per ton. Assume, also, that the cost of manufacturing pig iron is this that the cost of manufacturing pig iron is this country and deliverage test. sume, also, that the cost of manufacturing pigiron in this country, and delivering itself Cleveland, would be $25 per ton. In order that the largest amount of revenue should be derived from duties on pig iron, would be essential to place the duty just at that point which would prevent the manufacture and sale of domestic tron, for every ton of domestic iron, with a writ of habeas corpus in his iron, for every ton of domestic iron manufact tured and sold would, under the circumsta ces, diminish the revenue just to the extent of the duty which otherwise might have been collected upon it if it had been imported from another country. The Democratic party succeed! The bargain is proven. The temwould, therefore, place the duty at $4 or $4.50 a ton, just low enough to prevent the manufacture in the United States, and high enough to secure the largest revenue upon the imported article. The duty being thus fixed, the manufacture of domestic iron must cease, or the cost of producing it must be diminished. the cost of producing it must be diminished. The manufacturer will not, for any length of time, waste the capital in attempting to compete with the foreign manufacturer. Whatever else may happen, the domestic manufacturer will seek to preserve his capital. His only recourse is to reduce the wages of the laborer. The effect, therefore, of this policy, is to bring the pressure of the competition between the manufacture of the foreign article directly upon the laborers engaged in the manufacture of domestic article and the manufacture of the foreign article directly upon the laborers engaged in the manufacture of domestic iron. If they yield to the domestic manufacturer to such an extent that he can compete with the importer, the policy marked out by the Democratic party would lead to a further reduction of duty, because every ton manufactured in the United States diminishes the revenue just to the extent of vania! every ton manufactured in the United States diminishes the revenue just to the extent of the duty which might have been collected upon the imported article. The result of this policy is that laborers in the manufacture of iron would find their wages curtailed, and they would finally be obliged to seek employment claewhere. Upon the same state of facts as to the cost of imported and domestic iron, the policy of the Republican party would be to fix the duty at such a rate—something of course greater than the difference between the cost of the foreign and domesticarticle—as would ene foreign and domesticarticle-as would e able the domestic manufacturer to pay fair wa-ges to the laborers, and obtain a fair remuner-

There are persons who assert that the coun-There are persons who assert that the country is not prosperous; that the people are heavy taxed; that the laborers are poorly compensated; that the cost of living is disproportionately high: that the rich are growing richer, and that the poor are growing poorer. If these statements were supported by the facts, it would be difficult to say that the Government is not in some degree response. the Government is not in some degree respon-sible for them. I shall not attempt a refutaable for them. I shall not attempt a remainden of these errors by an appeal to statistics. Happly the evidence controling these statements is on every hand. The simple truth is ments is on every hand. The simple truth is also true that the rich are growing richer. I cannot doubt that the last five years constitute the most prosperous period in the nation's life. Judge it by the extension of manufactures, the construction of railways, the growth of cities in every part of the land, the wages of the laborers, the deposits in savines instituly more expensive than they were in 1859 and 1860. I mention low-priced woolens, cotton took the book offered by William McKewen, clotton flour and grain generally, in support of this statement. Of one fact there can be no doubt, the present wages of a laborer—and if he be a skilled laborer, then is he a striking example of what I say—will procure at least 25 per cent. more of the comforts and necessaries of life than he could have obtained from his labor in 1859.

Yet I forsee even greater prosperity than is we enjoyed. Cheap communication between e East and the West will be of natural benefit. The Western farmer may receive more for his crops while the Eastern consumer pay for his crops while the Eastern consumer pays less, the difference in the cost of transportation being divided between them. As a consequence, the products of the East will be delivered to the consumers at prices reduced by the diminished cost both of production and transportation. The growth and standing of the United States politically and financially will stimulate emigration, from Europe. The recent war and the present unsettled condition of a fairs are causes operating in the same recent war and the present unsettled condition of affairs are causes operating in the same direction. If we preserve the peace, if we protect the national honor, if we provide for general education, if we secure to every citizen his constitutional rights, Europe must either accept republican institutions or the best part of Europe will come to America. The civilization of freedom, and slavery fell. The civilization of freedom, and slavery fell. The civilization of monerchies and despotism cannot withstand the influence of regenerated America. We are already so near the hundredth anniversary of American Independence that we can welcome the coming day. It will not only be heralded and celebrated by forty-five millions of American citizens, but by the inhabitants of France, Spain, Italy, United Germany and Great Britain.

In Montgomery county the county tax is only four mills and year by year the debt is gradually disappearing. > > AWFUL FIRE IN CHICAGO. -----

CHICAGO, Oct. 8 .- The most terrible conflalooked upon the outside world since the bright gration that ever occurred in this city broke out about 11 o'clock last night. The fire originated in the large plaining mill situated between Clinton and and Van Buren and Jackson-sts. The wind was blowing very fresh; the flames spread with almost incredible rapidity, and in a few minutes the entire structure was a mass of fire.

The immediate vicinity was built up mainly with small wooden tenement-houses and twostory frame buildings occupied as groceries, saloons, &c. The inmates of many of these time to rush out in their scanty night attire. Entered according to Act of Congress, in the year 1871, in the office of the Librarian of Congress, Washington, D. C. I CERTIFY, that I have for some time used Boyer's Hoof Liniment on the feet of Kimble Jackson, Long Island Patchen, Lizzle, Mountain, Maid, and numerous other horses, and find it to be the star preparation for Horses House I have over used. It keeps them clean and in the best condition, in fact is does more than the maker claims for it. We, the undersigned, have tested BOYER'S HOOF LINIMENT on numerous Horses, and fully concur with the foregoing certificate of Stoughton R. Clark. furnished by any other House.

We have tested Boyer's Hoof Lintment on the fact of over one hundred horses. The difference in the condition of the feet is as great in its favor, that we would not be without it for ten times its cost. It should be properly applie to every boxes a hoof, and especially in the same to be a fine to the feet is as a favor of the distribution of the back sinew, commonly called Knes Sprung, and often from the pains in the boof it produce contraction of the back sinew, commonly called Knes Sprung, and often from the pains in the boof it produce aweened in the shoulder. We recommend it as the boat preparation we ever used. It should be used on every horse hoof as commonly as oil is used on harness or men's boots to keep them in good condition.
