THE NEXT PRESIDENT.

Now that the fall elections are over this presidential question will naturally claim and ecure increased attention. These elections have conclusively settled that the next president will be a Republican, and the main inter est therefore will centre in the action of the Republican party. There is no secret in the fact that President Grant desires a renomina tion and reelection, and the Washington dispatches report him as confident that the recent elections have insured his success. There is certainly a great deal to be said in favor of his renomination, for it is generally admitted that we have rarely had an executive so conspicuous for honesty and integrity. He has endcayored to do the best that he could for the interests of the country, and the country is certainly in a far better condition colitically and financially than when he was inaugurated. With the people President Grant has always been strong, and they will not easily be diverted from giving him their support and their votes, They will look upon a reelection much as the president him self regards it, as an indorsement of his present term, and there ought to be some good reason for withholding that indorsement if it is to be withheld. We notice that several influential Eastern Republican journals have pronounced themselves as favoring some other ndidate than Gen. Grant, or rather as being prosed to his renomination and reelection. One argument which they bring forward is that some very prominent members of the Republican party are oppesed to President Grant's ination and will not vote for him in case he is nominated. That is not a very valid argument, for if a few men are to be allowed to dictate and command the action of a party no candidate could over he numinated The man who claims to belong to a political party and at the same time threatens in ad vance to bolt its nominations unless they are made to suit him has no claims upon the party whose action he defies, and the sooner he realizes that the better. These journals the general statement that there are a number are amendment to the Civil Rights Bill, amend Ex-Gov. That is not of Pembina, to promote commerce between the question at issue, but it is rather why not the States, etc., etc. Several of these are unrenominate President Grant ? Until some reasons are presented against that course and in favor of some other man as the andidate of the Republican party, our present

Congress might wisely halt for a session. and see how the Revenue is affeted by so signal a change. But it is probable that the demand for "Free Coal," "Free Salt," &c. will be so urgently pressed that it can hardly be resisted with success.

As to Coal, we have repeatedly av wed our hope that it may be admitted free of duty so their constituents. We are glad to see many who ignorantly or knavishly ignore for the gratification of consituents, who are this truth that we are somewhat impatient to see the experiment tried and the fact rendered indubitable.

We presume that a reduction of the present duty on Salt by one half would not diminish the revenue from that source, and that some such reduction will soon be effected.

Our "Revenue Reformers," who coolly propose a repeal of all duties on Pig Iron, Wool, their darling purpose; but that will not be in 1872. They must "learn to labor and to "wait."

Nor do we believe a further reduction of the duties on tea, Coffee and Sugar, yet in the Treasury, and must not be lightly tampered with. Whenever the revenue can be epared, these dutics will doubtless be reduced.

We wish that, for the present, the policy so wisely initiated by Gen. Schenck, of adding largely to the free-list, may be persisted in. Hundreds of articles, on which the duties previously imposed added little or nothing to the revenue, were transferred by his Committee to the free-list, as we doubt not many more than profit to the Treasury,-N.Y.
