

The Lehigh Register.

ROBERT H. REED, Jr., Editor. ALLENTOWN, PA., MAR. 13, 1872.

The merchants of Philadelphia are thus far very much pleased with the condition of the spring trade and are not very sanguine as to the result of the season.

Uron his retirement from the office of Collector of the Port of Philadelphia, Col. John W. Pomeroy will leave the City on Saturday, Friday evening at the Academy of Music by the merchants of that city.

In these days of investigations it is a pity that the secrets of that $50,000 business cannot be brought to the light of day. Custom houses, Quarantines, the Evans Embezzlement, the Missouri Bond Frauds, etc., are all being inquired into and we are not sure that Lehigh county might not be fashionable, too.

Somebody has interviewed Ex-Secretary Sewall upon the Treaty question between America and England, and he has expressed a national preference for the Johnson Clarendon Treaty which he prepared and which Reverly Johnson negotiated.

Simple Arithmetic.

Table with 2 columns: Item and Amount. Includes Treasurer's Salary, Collecting State and County Tax, Salary of City Treasurer, Total of Collecting and Disbursing, Proposed cost of 1872, and Savings to the people under proposed plan.

The above appeared in a professionally non-partisan sheet, called the Daily News, on Saturday. It will be seen that, according to the interpretation put upon the supplement, the County and State Treasurers have been named by the City Treasury.

One of the earliest things in this world to do is to sit in the solemn attitude of one counting hours, or amid piles of old papers, and figure out how this and that might, under certain circumstances, be done better and with less expense.

The manner in which this project was started, the men who inaugurated it and those who now defend it, involve the whole thing in a cloud of mystery.

Power with the Board of Controllers.

Among all the School Directors of the Six Wards and the members of the Board of Control there certainly can be found enough who have the ability to understand the wants of our Schools, and to devise the best and most economical manner to collect the taxes and take care of the funds of the District.

Those who have been regarding the Labor Reform nomination for President and Vice President as opening the way for successful opposition to General Grant are bound to be disappointed.

It is constantly asserted—but constant assertion does not establish a fact—that the Republicans who favor the renomination of the President are bitterly intolerant of those who do not. Yet it would seem upon a careful reading of newspapers and speeches that the Republican nomination convention have at least an equal chance of expressing themselves, and that the chances are improved.

It is, however, natural that those who love the cause more than any man, and who believe that the welfare of the country depends upon the success of the Republican nomination, should bear with dissatisfaction unmeasured denunciation of the Administration and of all who support it.

The people of the country do not personally know the President much, but they know his words and acts. It is a skillful sophistry which charges him with every evil that may appear in the Administration, and refuse him the credit of all the good. He is a certain cipher, as the exigency of his opponents may demand.
