Extraordinary Inducements. Persons having real estate or personal propert to sell can find no better advertising medium for sales than the Lehigh Register. The Register is read by men of intelligence and means; - people who have the money to invest. The high cha ter of our readers is well known and this is the most important consideration. The Recisive now reaches every corner of the county and after it is read by our large list of subscribers, is loaned to others. Advertisements in these columns ar therefore read everywhere, and to make advertise ments of sales, administrators' and executors notices, assiguees' notices, and all others of this class doubly valuable, we will give them one insertion in the DAILY CHRONICIE,

WITHOUT EXTRA CHARGE. thus placing the advertisement before more sub scribers than can be done by advertising in any other paper in the county. CAUTION.

Gentlemen about taking out letters of adminis tration or letters testamentary, or having Orphans' Court Saies to advertise are cautioned that hey have the power to order their advertisements inserted in any paper they may select. If they believe the statements we have made they have the right to order their advertisements to be inserted in the Leniou Register, when they will be entitled t the advantages we have offered as above.

Pennsylvania is, beyond all question, Sidney Kessler, of Kesslersville, store-keeper. About ten o'clork this morning, he dropped a pocket book at Fourth and Church streets, containing $3100 in bankable funds. A boy named Bryson, son of the late James Bryson, noticing the occurrence, picked up the book and handed it to the owner as he was catering Barnet's Hotel. Struck with the boy's honesty, he generously handed him three cents, but thinking perhaps that such conduct should be doubly rewarded, he further increased the sum to ten cents. Such noble generosity as Mr. Kessler's should be published to the world, as it encourages the rising generation in deeds of honesty when they find their actions so handsomely appreciated.

WA RAID ON POLICY.-On Friday Casper Wittman was arrested by Officer Henry, at the instance of District Attorney Sowden, and taken before Alderman Beck, where he was charged with carrying on the policy business. He asked a hearing, but when the District Attorney exlled up Mr. George to testify, he was content to be held in $3000 ball for his appearance at Court. Bail was obtained and he was discharged. We understand he made dire threats against the individual who informed upon him. When Henry ly recorded and who will be called upon when the proper time arrives.

In addition to the "split," the Dustable, the Coburg, the Mileslan, the Loghern, the Tuscan, the Neapoll an, and the chip, with their numerous imitations, there are some very pretty mixtures, and a few decided novelties in the way of fancy and embroldered straw, which will probably prove very popular and attractive. It is difficult to say at this early period which shape will be likely to take the lead among the rest, but we think the cottage bonnet, and a new and very attractive hat, the " Dolly Varden." will be sure to win favor. A great many dotted black lace bonnets, of plain colored tulle, o crape, have been made for the demi scason, and simply trimmed with a ruche of black thread lace and a rose in its leaves, or an ostrich tip, the shade of the crape or tulls, Cameo tints and fine shades of gray are used in preference to gaver colors, but in these cases a brighter color is combined in the trimming. For example, black lace over ash gray crape or taile, is trimmed with a ruche of black lace and a spray of what is called Chicago roses, that is, crimson or scarlet roses, toned down into a by gray, and having gray leaves. Charming bonnets are made with soft crowns of crape, included the crape in the content of the content o trimming. For example, black face over ash gray closed in a standing pufflog of soft satin finished any way office ed with defective vision, whet gros grain, and trimmed with loops and ends of fringed-out gros grain ribbon. Straw trimmings are imported in great variety, and are used upon nnets of black lace and crape, as well as a raw. Indeed, they comprise some of the most fashions ments of the scason.
