THE Judge has informed the Grand Jury that " whatever abuses exist, if any, should ther Fifth District in one of the upper wards of Phila- be reasonable ground of suspicion for them, should be investigated by the Grand Jury." We do not think this is the kind of investigation the people desire. If the Judge had instructed the Grand Jury that, if they found reasonable grounds for suspicion that the accounts of the County had not been properly and systematically kept, they should authorize the Court to appoint a committee to investigate the County affairs, then we should expect the Court to appoint a committee of skiller accountants who would be competent to go back for years and examine all the vouchers and all the unts of the county. This would be a very expensive job if it was done by the Grand Jury, as it would occupy a considerable length of time, and, too, the question arises are there any number of the members of the Grand Jury who are compe tent to go through the accounts? Best, at White Hall Station, Friday furnoon, for the purpose of voting upon the que tion whether the directors should put a new span place of the one recently, blown away, or whethe o replace it by trestlework. The meeting was a arge one, 172 votes being polled, of which 12 were for a new span and 51 for trestlework. I was therefore decided to put up an entire new span. Our townsman, Judge Laubach, we are sorry to say, is one of the heaviest stockholders i this company. The Judge did not vote on the quest on at all. He thinks it is the poorest paying stock he ever held. The directors of the company met at White Hall, Saturday, to receive contract etc. We wish the company more success in the uture and trust the elements will no more disturb heir structure .- Bethlehem Times.

Fo the Editor of the Chronicis.

My attention has been called to the fact that a person representing himself to be Dr. Morris Bernhardt, the Oculist and Ootician, has been traveling through this county and impo the people by pretending to sell glasses of superior quality, and to select them by extraordinary professional skill. I desire to caution the public against this swindler. I have no peddlers travelcarry out the intention to make iron within ten ling anywhere in my interest and do not leave the flice on professional business in which I give notice that I am located. The person referred to has been doing business in the vicinity of the Lehigh Mountain, and has been showing my handbills to effect his purpose. Mr. Solomon Mory and Mr. Gotthard Mory, residing in Saucon township, and persons whose names I have not obtained, have been victimized by this sharper. I trust that after this exposure, the character of this pretender will be estimated at its proper standard. Ветиленем, March 7, 1872. A gloomy, rainy day makes it disagreeable to go outside, so quietness reigns supreme in this town. On Saturday the town was very lively for nce. That liveliness was immensely appreciated by the business men hereabouts. A considerable portion of Main street is to be renovated in city style. Carts and cellar diggers are busy as bees all day long. There are to be erected some six or eight fronts, between the Sun hotel and Market street. Otherwise there are not many new buildings under way as yet. Rumor has it that a young man connected with the railroad here, is among the missing, caused by domestic infelicities. He may return; if not, his grass-widowed wife will possibly have ample time to ponder the causes of his desertion at leisure. We see by the Times that the question of County Superintendency of Common Schools is engrossing a considerable space in that journal. Mr. Walker, the present incumbent, is out in a three-column article urging his claims for a third term. Being not personally well acquainted with Mr. Walker the present official, yet, I think he has given tol erable satisfaction during his term of office. have not clearly learned who his competitors are, or what degree of opposition there will be. One point is made, it seems-at least Mr. Walker rebuts the same-which is rotation after two terms

A long array of counties is cited to show the contrary rule throughout the State. The best real argument for a plurality of terms however seems to be the long known fact that ers with whom I had conversation lately, seem to think that a Superintendent very long in office be comes entirely too theoretical, getting further and further away from actual practical teaching. But above all looms up still the unsettled question : I
