Removing the the work. To accomplish that more quickly small engine with boiler attached was procured and forced water through hose to the top of the stack, and thus flooded the blast until it was suf ficiently cool to admit of men working it out. A number of machinists from I. P. Morris &

Co.'s Works, Philadelphia, are also repairing the engine, which as soon as fluished will be put in operation. The engine house is not to be rebuilt until the furnace is in blast again, which is supposed will be in about four weeks. The loss from the explosion is estimated at $20,000, exclusive of the loss of time. Mr. S. Sjob 'rg, superinten' ent, is a skillful manager, and will, no doubt, have the works in operation as soon as possible .- Easter Express.

A FIGHT-GEORGE AND HIS WHEELBARnow.-George Bortz, a young man attached to bis arms, awaited, but for a moment, the coming Henry Bornemann's tonsorial establishment, in shock. The pilot of the engine struck the blud the First Ward, had for sometime felt himself legs of the horses, throwing them a considerable agrieved by, and entertained rather bitter feelings towards John J.
