$500 in greenbacks will be paid to any firm in the county to furnish finer Harness or Saddles and at lower prices than at the establishment of A. McDonald. Also just received a large lot of Scotch, Irish and Wool collars of a fine grade, and whips beyond number, all to be sold low.

A Pennsylvania Railroad conductor reported as having forbidden honeymoon "bidding and cooing," observing a bridegroom's arm out of place, he forbade further demonstrations. "But I have a right to hug her," said John. "Not on a railroad," said the conductor, "there is a law against all unjust discrimination on railroads, and, as I haven't a woman for each man to hug, your action is in violation of the law, and must be stopped."

Carpets and Oil Cloths.—An entirely new stock and new patterns of carpets and oil cloths, at from 25 to 30 per cent. below last spring's prices, at B. Mulheim's, in Bridgewater, Pa. oct8-3t

Michael to the Front.—Michael Nenzenbader, born at Weiler, in the Kingdom of Wurtemberg, Germany, is wanted. He can be rich if he so wills it. He is reported in Germany to have been living in Springfield township, Mahoning county, Ohio, some time ago. There is a considerable sum of money on deposit for him in one of the German banks, left him by a near relative, several years since. This has accumulated rapidly and is now sufficient to put Michael on a solid financial basis. Where he is now the question. He came to this country in 1821. Information of himself or heirs or other relatives should be sent to Mr. E. Ritter, Youngstown, Ohio. If the lost is not found, we are afraid a good many people will be sorry that they cannot persecute Michael, and walk away with the rusty thalers.

The trustees of the Frankfort Academy have elected Mr. J. L. Stitt, of the class of 1873, in Wooster University, principal of the academy, vice. Prof. Veszy, who enters the United Presbyterian Theological Seminary in Allegheny City, as a candidate for the ministry. The academy is in a flourishing condition.

We regret to learn that Rev. Gledhill was badly hurt on Sunday afternoon last while on his way from Asbury to New Cumberland. The shafts of his buggy become detached, allowing it to run back down the hill, by which he was thrown out and received several severe bruises and hurts. At last accounts he was fast recovering from the effects of the accident.—Hancock Courier.

Mr. Gledhill is the faithful M. E. minister at Georgetown, this county. His numerous friends in the Pittsburgh conference will be sorry to hear of his misfortune.

You can save from 5 to 20 per cent. by buying your goods from J. H. Christy, who was in the East during the late money panic, and who by buying for cash secured all his goods at prices warranted to satisfy all who may give him a call. oct8-4t

Something for the Ladies.—Ladies are hereby informed that they will find at Bence's store, Third street, Beaver, one of the largest, finest, and most fashionable stock of Hats, Bonnets and general Millinery Goods ever offered at this place to which their attention is especially invited as many novelties are offered which are new in this part of the country really being the latest Paris and London styles. In addition ladies will find full lines of gross grained Ribbons, Laces, Veils, Buchings, Hosiery, Gloves, Corsets, felt skirts, Scarves and Shawls, ladies and girls wear, also the best makes barred flannel at factory prices. We always sell Alexander's best kid gloves. Our stock will be found full and complete during the season. Thanking our many friends and patrons for past favors, we will try and merit the same in the future. Give an early call at Bence's, Third street, Beaver. oct1-4w

The Cooks.—Jay Cooke and his brother Henry D., are just now talked about by the people generally—the one as a very prominent but lately unsuccessful banker, and the latter as Ex-Governor of the District of Columbia. The latter used to be editor of the Ohio State Journal, and it was while occupying that position that Governor Chase took a fancy to him that led to his being transferred to Washington, and to brother Jay's being put in charge of the government loans. Henry was a rather dull editor and Jay a prosaic banker, but under the management of their patron both acquired name and fame and became wealthy. Chase had a habit of gathering round him men who would not become his rivals, and it was in pursuance of this idea that he took up the Cooks and started them on careers that for a time caused them to tower high above their fellows.

Free of Charge.—(all at Hugo Andriessen's) Beaver Drug Store, Beaver, Pa. and get a sample bottle of Dr. A. Bochee's German Syrup. Free of Charge. It has lately been introduced in this country from Germany, and for any person suffering with a severe cough, heavy cold settled on the breast, consumption or any disease of the throat and lungs it has no equal in the world. Our regular size bottles 75 cents. In all cases money will be promptly returned if perfect satisfaction is not given. Two doses will relieve any case. Try it. nov29-1y

A Pennsylvania "Captain Jack."—It may not be generally known that, in the old Indian times, there existed in Middle Pennsylvania, a veritable "Captain Jack" of great prowess, whose deeds of desperate valor as a Border-ranger, and a reckless "Indian fighter," made him as famous in his day, as his latter Modoc namesake is ours. By whatever name this singular and mysterious character was then called, whether "Captain Jack," "The Black Hunter," "The Black Rifle," or the "Wild Hunter of the Juniata," in the new historical novel called "Old Fort Duquesne, or Captain Jack the Scout," just published in Pittsburgh, by Charles McKnight, Esq., editor of Peoples Monthly, this grim, redoubtable warrior figures as the hero, and Braddock's expedition and bloody battle are the central points. We are in receipt of this book and can assure our readers that, without being at all what is known as "sensational," it is like from cover to cover, and teems with stirring scenes, desperate struggles, and daring personal adventure. Over thirty pages of carefully-written historic notes have been added to give the work more weight and authority, and it is believed to be historically correct. The book is sold only by agents at $2.50, and bookmen say it is an honest work at the price. Ladies or gentlemen who desire a quick-selling book, should write at once to "Peoples Monthly," Pittsburgh, and procure terms. Sample copy sent postage paid, for only two dollars.

Wholesale Watches, Jewelry, &c.—The house of C. B. Barrett & Co., 69 Fifth Avenue, Pittsburgh, Pa., is becoming well known to the trade generally, for the largeness and superiority of their stock. The firm do an exclusively wholesale trade. See advertisement in another column.

An old gentleman and lady from Pennsylvania are visiting our fair whose life history is somewhat singular. It appears that a widow took an orphan boy to raise, and when he arrived at the age of eighteen, she married him, she then being in her fifth year. Ten years ago, they took an orphan girl to raise. This summer the old lady died, being ninety-six years of age, and nine weeks after, the old man married the girl they had raised being sixty-eight.—Barnesville Daily Enterprise.

On the Square.—During a recent visit to Pittsburgh we happened to drop into the Hat House of Messrs. Helmeberg & Logan, and were struck with their mode of doing business, which was strictly on the one price system. They have an immense stock of Fall and Winter Goods, which they are selling rapidly. When in the city call and see them, and after giving them a trial you will be convinced that it was your interest to have done so.

A Buckeye Traveller on Beaver County Affairs.—The Wellsville Union had a correspondent last week, who had been travelling some in West Va., and who finally pulled up in this county. After describing what he saw in West Va., he says:

Our destination was the vicinity of Frankfort Springs in Beaver county, Pa., consequently our stay in Pughtown was short.

The country improves as we approach Frankfort; indeed, one can imagine that he can tell where Pennsylvania sets in just by the inhabitants. In Virginia the people have a southern appearance, raw-boned, tall and gaunt. The women look like as I heard remarked, "A Jack in the green on stilts; a weeping willow grafted on to a poplar; the monument stuck into the dome of St. Paul's; and the dome downwards;" she walks and acts like a vessel in a storm caused by her exceedingly large strides, and if you meet her she will gaze you out of countenance like some of the idle loafers at the corners of the streets in our own town.

In Pennsylvania we find the people of a different build, generally heavy set. Nature has been exceedingly kind in awarding them an amplitude of figure, and are usually cheerful, happy, and apparently contented. The ladies appear satisfied with the amount of bulk that Nature apportioned them. They do not trouble themselves with the waywardness and blindness which the victims of fashion are guilty of. My friend, J. N., appeared almost smitten with the unassuming grace of the ladies of the rural districts of Beaver county.

The corn crop in Hancock county will be more than an average crop; while in Beaver and the western part of Washington county, Pa., the corn having mostly been planted on very high lands, will scarcely come up to an average crop. Most of the farmers have all their seedling done, and in many parts of these counties the grain is up beautifully, and has every appearance of being well set. A great amount of grain was sowed this season—more than has been for years. Fruit is scarce. No peaches to be seen. Apples pretty plenty, but of a very inferior quality. Potatoes plenty,—the bug did not trouble this section much. The wool trade, or wool raising, appears to be the main business with farmers in Beaver and Washington counties. Two gentlemen living near Poe's post-office, by the name of McGuire, have on hand 3,700 fleeces of wool. This amount they have accumulated since 1839, from the shearing of their own sheep.

Hardware.—Bruce & Brierly, dealers in Hardware, Stoves, Paints, Oils, Glass &c., Main street, Beaver Falls, Pa. Builder's Hardware a specialty. Fresh White Lime, Plaster Paris and Cement. Also Wood and Iron pumps of the most improved patterns always in stock. oct8-3t

Jan. A. Saxon, a well known and wealthy banker of Canton, Ohio, recently gave his son a note for five thousand dollars, payable one year from date provided that he, the son, does not use tobacco during the period named, and that he promises not to do so forever after.—Carrington (Ohio) Chronicle

After chewing and smoking tobacco for twenty-five years we gave up the whole practice some six months ago, and have neither "touched nor tasted" the "weed" since. We may state in addition that we have not received "a note for five thousand dollars, payable one year after date," for the self denial here referred to, nor have we at the present time any flattering expectations that a "treasure" of that kind will be dropped into our lap soon. Still, if any of our friends or any "well known and wealthy banker" sees proper to surprise us with such a token of his regard, we will not decline to pocket the paper and look grateful besides. Under the circumstances this explanation seems necessary.

Suspension of Iron Works.—Owing to the present depression of money matters the extensive iron works of Messrs. Reis, Brown & Berger, excepting the furnaces, have been stopped. We trust that by next week we will be able to announce that they are again in operation. A permanent closing of these works at this season of the year, would not fail to carry untold misery to the hearths and homes of hundreds of families in and about New Castle. We repeat, we hope the suspension will be but temporary.

A New Way to Raise the Mind.—A "sharper" is traveling through some parts of this State duping the honest farmers. He passes himself off as a United States detective, has his warrants, charges the man with having passed counterfeit money, arrests him on the bogus warrant, and if the party resists, he displays a pair of handcuffs, and threatens to put them on if the party refuses to go with him. After he has succeeded in frightening the party, he proposes to compromise for a certain sum and let him go.

James T. Brady's Assets and Liabilities.—The creditors and counsel of James T. Brady, the Pittsburgh banker who suspended a week or two ago, held a meeting on last Thursday. At the meeting it was ascertained that his assets were about $270,000, and his liabilities about $432,000. From this it would seem that Mr. B. is badly "broke." Rumor says that he has left Pittsburgh, and gone to New York where he will open a broker's office without delay.

B. Mulheim has reduced prices. Call there and get bargains. On Main street, Bridgewater.

Mr. John W. Knox has purchased the Cochran house in New Castle, and proposes to lay down $31,000 for it.

The person having a book called "Humors of Bench and Bar" will please leave the same at this office.

Copper Bottom has gone to Morgantown, West Va. He will probably do some fast pacing there within the next week or two.

Imboden, of confederate cavalry fame, has gone into the libel business, and puts his damages at $25,000. It is a country editor.

Nat will resume his caricaturing for Harper's Weekly. He has but few equals and no superior in that branch of business.

Wilson Krepps, near Baden, will have a public sale on the 15th of October. For particulars see bills printed at this office.

T. M. Taylor, Esq., of Rochester has a public sale of household furniture on next Friday—October 10th. For particulars see bills printed at this office.

The election will be held on the 14th day of October this year. The second Tuesday turns up as late as it can in the month.

William D. Dunlap, formerly of New Castle, but latterly a resident of Shreveport, Louisiana, died in that city on the 16th of September, of yellow fever.

State Superintendent Wickersham advises school boards to publish accounts of their annual receipts and expenditures without further delay. Sensible advice.

Bro. Rukenbrod of the Salem Republican wants to know where John Smith lives. If any of our readers can tell him they may write to Mr. R. at Salem, Ohio.

Avoid exposures in the night air, or to the early chills of the morning. A little prudence and precaution may avoid a doctor's bill, and perhaps the expense of a funeral.

The Rev. John Russell, of Detroit, Michigan, lectured on temperance in New Brighton on last Saturday evening. He said to have made a forcible and logical speech.

Jacob Young of Chippewa township, has a public sale of stock and farming implements on the 15th of October—next Wednesday. For particulars see bills printed at this office.

Miss Della, daughter of the late John Collier, deceased, of Chicago, and formerly of this county, was married at Wabash, Indiana, to Mr. B. M. Holman, on the 17th of September.

A. R. Moore, Esq., formerly of this county, but for the past few years a resident of Tidouise, Warren county, has returned to Beaver, and again taken up his residence among his old friends and acquaintances.

The prettiest girl in Fort Scott, Kansas, is a clerk in her father's butcher shop. She can get almost any price she asks for a steak from the young "spoonies" who visit the stall she presides over.

A Butler county man who has been an inveterate smoker for fifty years, has suddenly and permanently given it up. He knocked the ashes out of his pipe into a keg of powder. He has not smoked any since, and his friends are quite confident he never will.

The managers of the Washington county Agricultural Society, believing that the weather did not give them a fair chance to develop week before last, postponed their exhibition until Wednesday and Thursday of next week—October 15 and 16. They anticipate a large crowd there.

Two Titusville, Pa. lawyers entered into a solemn compact not to drink intoxicating liquors for a year except when out duck shooting, under forfeit of $100. One of them quenches his thirst without losing the ducks by keeping a duck in his back yard to fire at when he is dry, and the other has invested in one also.

With whisky at $1 per pint, and difficult to get, at even that price, we wonder that so many of our young bloods, and some that are not so young either, can manage to get up a drunk every second or third night. A good many of them succeed in doing that very thing.

Hibbard in Rochester has an excellent stock of Dry Goods &c. We looked in upon him the other evening and found him radiant with smiles, surrounded with customers, and fairly submerged with a fresh stock of nearly everything in the Dry Goods line. If he is not doing a land office business, appearances are deceitful, that's all.

J. H. Cunningham, Esq., formerly of Beaver, but latterly of St. Petersburg, Clarion county, has followed the oil developing tide, and located at Modoc City, Butler county. The "Judge" possesses more than ordinary ability, and we hope to hear of him getting into a very large practice in his new location. He was in Beaver last week, looking well and in the best of spirits.

Mr. John Grim of Cannelton, this county, has bought the Taylor oil refinery at New Galilee and will convert his building into a general tool and machine factory. Mr. Grim, some time ago, took out a patent for a coal drill, which is fast growing into general use. Being a good workman himself, and employing none but competent persons to assist him, Mr. G. will no doubt soon command an extensive business at New Galilee and vicinity.

College Notes.—Mrs. Hurlburt, in charge of the Art Department, has already secured a large enthusiastic class. All lessons are from objects; no more copying from flat surfaces.

Madame Johannessen's French class is encouragingly large. With a knowledge of the French language one can travel all over the continent of Europe.

The music class was never as large as the present term under the direction of Prof. Johannessen. The new Professor handles the bones as well as manipulates the keys most skillfully.

The Young Folks' entertainment in the new College Hall, Friday evening of last week was very enjoyable. The quartette, piano, organ, violin and voice in Ave Maria was of a high order and well executed. The older pupils give an entertainment Friday evening of this week at 7 o'clock. The friends of the institution are invited to attend.

Sudden Death.—Mrs. Adams, relict of the late Hon. Benj. Adams, of this place, died suddenly at her home on last Wednesday morning. She had not been in good health for a day or two past, but no serious consequences were apprehended from her indisposition. On Wednesday morning, however, she took worse very suddenly, and in a few minutes afterwards, she breathed her last. Mrs. A. was a christian lady, highly esteemed for her many virtues, and her sudden death is a matter of sincere regret to all who knew her. She was 91 years of age.

Golden and Silver Jelly Cake. Golden Cake.—Take the yolks of eight eggs, well beaten, and one cup white sugar, one half cup of butter, one-half cup of sweet milk, and one-and-three quarters cups of flour, having in it one-half measure of Banner Baking Powder.

Silver Cake.—Take one-half cup butter, two cups white sugar, three quarters cups of sweet milk; flavor to taste, then add the whites of eight eggs, well beaten, and three cups of flour, having in it one measure Banner Baking Powder. Each can of the Banner Baking Powder contains a small measure, to be used even full, according to printed directions. If you cannot obtain this really valuable article from your grocer, send twenty-five cents by mail, addressed to Banner Baking Powder, P. O. Lock Box, 317, Pittsburgh, Pa., and you will receive, postage paid, a quarter pound package, together with a list of fifty valuable recipes.

Fancy Barred, Plain and Country Flannels all Wool, at 40 and 45 cts. per yard. Great Bargains at the Cheap Store of W. A. Smith, Rochester, Pa. oct8-2w

Mrs. Patterson, who presided over the domestic economy of the White House during the term of her father, Andy Johnson, has added new lustre to her laurels by taking the premium for the best butter at a Tennessee fair.—Exchange.

We have seen the above or something very much like it floating around in the newspapers nearly every fall since Mrs. Patterson left the White House. Hence we have no faith at all in its truth, and in fact we are almost ready to believe now that Mrs. Patterson can neither make butter herself nor fell a good from a bad article when it is set before her.

Muscle.—We would call the attention of our readers to the card of Charlotte Blume, to be found in our advertising columns. Her house is one of the oldest in Pittsburgh, and in her rear room will be found constantly stocked with some of the finest instruments manufactured in this country. "Kraus Pianos," for which she is agent, have long been acknowledged superior to all others. Haines Bros Pianos are the finest and most durable low-priced instruments in the market; while Geo. A. Prince & Co.'s Organs are acknowledged, for tone and durability, to be unequalled. She also keeps on hand a large stock of small instruments, also Sheet Music, Books, &c. Persons ordering from a distance are assured of receiving most prompt attention. Catalogues and price lists mailed to any address. Her warehouses are located No. 19 Sixth Avenue, just opposite Trinity Church.

Immense Establishment.—The wholesale Boot and Shoe house of J. H. Borland, No. 53 and 55 Wood street, Pittsburgh, has just received one of the largest and best selected stocks of goods ever brought to this city. Bought for cash will be sold at Eastern prices. Particular attention is called to his Smoky City Boots, Rubbers at factory prices. Orders from country dealers solicited, filled promptly and satisfaction guaranteed. Give him a call before purchasing elsewhere. The family retail store is located at 99 Market street, where he has a full line of goods for country and city trade.

Receipts Beaver County Fair.—The following will show the amount of money taken in at the Fair, and the several sources from which it came: From family tickets..... $2,353 00 From single tickets..... 682 00 From Seminary..... 7 30 From horse tickets..... 94 85 From horse tickets (double)..... 38 50 From grand stand..... 369 50 From life membership..... 30 00 From stalls..... 31 30 From stands..... 507 00 From entrance fees..... 330 00 From oats..... 34 55 From State..... 100 00 Total..... $4,243 90

The American Cyclopaedia, first published about fifteen years ago has been thoroughly revised and is now being reissued by D. Appleton & Co. of New York. James Fife, Esq., of Beaver Falls is the Agent for the county, and he is now engaged in taking subscriptions. He proposes to deliver one volume every two months, requiring two years and a half to deliver the full set. In this way many persons will be enabled to get the work who might not be able to pay at once. It is by far the ablest work of the kind ever issued from the press in this country, and is not surpassed even in Europe. No library is complete without it, and doubtless the Agent will dispose of many copies in this county.

Millinery Goods, Fancy Notions, &c.—A few days ago we accepted an invitation to attend an "opening" of fall styles at the new wholesale millinery house of Porter, Donaldson & Co., 127 Wood street, thinking that we would give our lady readers a description of the bonnets and styles. On visiting and finding ourselves completely surrounded by the milliners of the city and neighborhood, we found it would be simply impossible to give any description of all the bonnets, that would be at all satisfactory to ourselves or others. Hence we shall only mention one or two, and first, among those that seemed to strike us, and come in for general praise, was a handsome velvet in two shades of blue, the darkest shade being the old cloth blue that our grandmothers wore, but now called marine blue. It was very handsomely trimmed with a plume shaded to match velvets. The lace trimming was very simple yet very pretty, consisting only of a bow of light blue gross-grain ribbon which brought out in strong yet pleasing contrast the darker shade of the velvet.

Another was a rich bronze velvet, with a wreath of autumn leaves for a face trimming. The outside trimming being handsome ostrich feathers of the same and contrasting shade of the velvet. One of the handiwork was a rich olive velvet, trimmed with blue and blue feathers. In all of them we were struck with the old shades and contrasts, using in so many instances two shades of the same color, yet as wide apart as they possibly could be dyed. Many new shades are introduced, old favorites of years ago brought back, and some few, that have been struggling for life, seemed to have leaped into new favor.

We notice olive, plum, myrtle, sage, the rich claret, the bright sultan, the many shades of bronze, the delicate blues and dainty lavender as predominating, and in them all found ribbons, velvets and feathers, all to match each other.

Everything seems to indicate that more fashions will be worn this fall than last, yet fashions, as they retain the lead, and from them there is no end. P. D. & Co. devoted their entire second store to the exhibition of a mammoth stock of feathers, to attempt to describe which would be useless. Natural colored feathers, both long and the short tip, are something new and very pretty. The richly shaded feathers is also something entirely new, and very rich, while in fancy wings, aigrettes, &c., there is every conceivable shade and style. Adjoining the patterns was displayed a very handsome table of ornaments, conspicuous among which was bright steel ornaments, now so popular, all the pointed points sparkling and making a very effective trimming on a dark velvet or ribbon.

Many other items of interest claimed our attention on the different floors, but we cannot particularize, but only mention the fine assortment of ladies' lace, neck ruching, embroideries, &c., and express the wish that all our wholesale buyers will examine the stock of Porter, Donaldson & Co. before purchasing, and feel as much pleased with it as we were.—Pittsburgh Commercial.

To Everyone.—Have you given one thought to the fact that cold weather is close at hand, and where can I buy my winter clothing to the best advantage. If not look at the many reasons why you can do better at S. & J. Snellenburg's, the New Brighton clothing store, than any other house in Western Pennsylvania. 1st. You can see a large stock. 2d. Get better and more stylish made goods. 3d. And buy them at a reasonable price.

You can get suits, overcoats, fine shirts and underwear for men, youths and boys of the latest styles. Special attention is called to the large stock of men's boys' and children's overcoats which will be sold at a discount before November 1st, 1873. S. & J. Snellenburg, Clothing and Tailors, New Brighton, Pa. (Press and Star please copy.)

The Premium Cook Stove.—The Improved Howard for sale by Bruce & Brierly, Beaver Falls, Pa., is not only the best and most beautiful, but the cheapest First Class Cooking Stove in the market. It has been in use for over five years and has given entire satisfaction; and for beauty of design and cleanliness we defy competition. We do not employ traveling agents nor peddlers to canvass the county, (as many of the dealers do) have neither freights nor drayage to pay, and therefore give our customers the advantage of the same. We have also a full line of Heating Stoves of the best improved patterns always on hand which we are selling at panic prices. Come and see us and be convinced. oct8-3t

Owing to the great monetary panic which prevails, I have been able to buy my Dry Goods and Millinery at greatly reduced prices, (being a cash buyer), as I always give my Customers the benefit of every Bargain I make, persons will find it to their interest to call at the cheap store before making their purchases. W. A. Smith, Rochester, Pa. oct8-2w

We had some half in Beaver on Monday last, and it appeared as though winter commenced in earnest the balance of the day.
