

THE NATIONAL.

WANTED.—A good girl can hear of a good situation by applying at this office. The highest wages paid.

LOCAL NEWS.

The Communication from Millsburg signed "Loyalty," will appear in our next, was received to late for this issue.

RECAPTURE.—We invite the attention of strangers and travelers to the eating saloon of Geo. M. Peck, in Dush's Arcade. Meals are served at all hours in the day at this saloon at reasonable rates. Mr. Peck is a clever fellow and keeps constantly on hand everything usually kept in first-class restaurants. Give him a call.

BELLEFONTE GLASS WORKS.—Work was resumed in the Glass works on the 7th inst. We understand that this company is now manufacturing about 1000 boxes of glass per week.

On last Saturday the 12th inst., we learn that Mr. Charles Emmett one of the employees in this establishment was seriously injured, being cut in the shoulder the muscle out by a roller falling off the pipes and the pipe with glass cutting him.

On the same day Mr. Frank Wilson also an employee had his fingers mangled by the car running over them.

On the same day Mr. Reed Emmett was badly hurt by being thrown by the large monkey, or "pot car."

Also on the same day, Mr. Andrew Geisner cut his thumb badly by the cap of a roller. We are of the opinion that last Saturday must have been a very unlucky day at the Glass Works. We sympathize with those injured and sincerely hope that it may be a long time before they suffer again or have another unlucky day.

Mr. Porter the superintendent is master of his business, and a perfect gentleman. Indeed all those employed in any capacity at the Glass Works are intelligent gentlemen, and it did us good to hear them laugh at the tales of P. G. Meek constantly preaching hard times.

PENN MUTUAL LIFE INSURANCE COMPANY.—We call the attention of our readers to the advertisement of the Penn Mutual Life Insurance Company and present the following:

REASONS WHY YOU SHOULD INSURE.

Life Insurance is the only certain means by which persons not possessed of Capital can secure their families against future want.

It is a moral duty, because it is an obligation on every person, to expose to as few risks as possible the future interests of those with whom he has linked himself.

It is a religious duty, because we are taught that "He that loveth his neighbor as himself, shall love his neighbor as himself," and especially for those of his own household, hath denied the faith, and is worse than an infidel.

It is a social duty, because no one has a right to expect society to support or provide for the support of his family, or to live by the sword, for he himself could, by a little self-denial, have made a certain provision.

It is a duty universally practicable, inasmuch as the periodical payments are exceeding small, compared with the amount insured.

The man of moderate income finds in it the only certain means by which he can insure to his representations the full results of his habitual economy.

The rich man can find no better investment of his capital. The man who wishes to live up to his income, can do so with clear conscience, after he has paid for a suitable Life Insurance.

The man who has a fixed income, the larger part of which he finds necessary for the support of his family should insure, as it is the best means of making his small savings accumulate.

Creditors can protect themselves against loss by the death of the debtor. The honest borrower can thus secure the repayment of a loan in case his trade enterprise should be terminated by death.

The Minister of the Gospel should insure, because he seldom, from his small salary, can save enough to leave his family comfortable in any other way.

The medical man ought to insure, because he is exposed to influences and accidents calculated to shorten his life; and because it is his interest to promote the practice of Life Insurance.

Reader, reflect upon these things and make up your mind to call upon W. B. Brown, Agent, and have your life insured.

It is with pleasure that we allude not only to the prospect of Bellefonte, but to the prosperity of the whole country. Under Republican rule and its admirable system of taxation, people are doing better than they have done for many years.

Under Republican rule and its admirable system of taxation, people are doing better than they have done for many years. Under Republican rule and its admirable system of taxation, people are doing better than they have done for many years.

Under Republican rule and its admirable system of taxation, people are doing better than they have done for many years. Under Republican rule and its admirable system of taxation, people are doing better than they have done for many years.

Under Republican rule and its admirable system of taxation, people are doing better than they have done for many years. Under Republican rule and its admirable system of taxation, people are doing better than they have done for many years.

Under Republican rule and its admirable system of taxation, people are doing better than they have done for many years. Under Republican rule and its admirable system of taxation, people are doing better than they have done for many years.

Under Republican rule and its admirable system of taxation, people are doing better than they have done for many years. Under Republican rule and its admirable system of taxation, people are doing better than they have done for many years.

Under Republican rule and its admirable system of taxation, people are doing better than they have done for many years. Under Republican rule and its admirable system of taxation, people are doing better than they have done for many years.

Under Republican rule and its admirable system of taxation, people are doing better than they have done for many years. Under Republican rule and its admirable system of taxation, people are doing better than they have done for many years.

Under Republican rule and its admirable system of taxation, people are doing better than they have done for many years. Under Republican rule and its admirable system of taxation, people are doing better than they have done for many years.

Under Republican rule and its admirable system of taxation, people are doing better than they have done for many years. Under Republican rule and its admirable system of taxation, people are doing better than they have done for many years.

Under Republican rule and its admirable system of taxation, people are doing better than they have done for many years. Under Republican rule and its admirable system of taxation, people are doing better than they have done for many years.

Under Republican rule and its admirable system of taxation, people are doing better than they have done for many years. Under Republican rule and its admirable system of taxation, people are doing better than they have done for many years.

Under Republican rule and its admirable system of taxation, people are doing better than they have done for many years. Under Republican rule and its admirable system of taxation, people are doing better than they have done for many years.

Under Republican rule and its admirable system of taxation, people are doing better than they have done for many years. Under Republican rule and its admirable system of taxation, people are doing better than they have done for many years.

OUR MEETINGS.—Not since 1860 has there been such a blaze of enthusiasm as now prevails the Republican organization of the county. The same unanimity of feeling, the same determination to execute the efforts of this campaign. The masses are thoroughly persuaded that they are again called upon to settle the issues which agitated the public mind in 1860 and '64; and the earnest responses given to the call for every man to do his duty, augur no doubtful triumph. The reports of meetings in all parts of the county, induce the conviction that the people are "wide awake" to the importance of the campaign. The numerous meetings thus far held in our own county, which, without an exception, have been well attended, show our people to be fully alive, and solemly in earnest. Can we, in view of these circumstances, be thought extravagant in our ideas, when we say that the political reformation of our country is among the possibilities. We can assure our readers that the probability attaching to this desirable result is so strong that it makes the "Cops" wriggle with anxiety.

Our meeting at Honesdale, on Saturday evening last, for several reasons eminently deserving of notice. A very interesting feature of this meeting was a grand display of the Tanners' Club from Dousburg and Centre Furnace; a club numbering fifty-two members, with the cap, cape and torchlight peculiar to the organization. The Tanners appeared on horseback, under the command of Colonel McFarland, and with the readiness with which their evolutions were performed, showed that they had not forgotten their army discipline. While the Tanners were yet a mile or more distant from the place of meeting they were heard swelling the chorus of "Rally round the flag, boys!" The words of the song became more and more distinct as they approached, until by their actual presence they began an enthusiasm which seemed a sure premonition of triumph. As many as could find room were crowded into the building, and the meeting was organized as an affair of the club, and E. H. Kinsale, acting as Secretary, when Messrs. Stephens and Brown, of Bellefonte, engaged in laying bare the rottenness of so-called Democracy. Reconstruction, taxation, and the financial questions of the day were discussed in a manner that showed the speakers had given these matters the attention due them. The meeting passed off pleasantly; in itself considered a success, and as such should be taken as an intimation of what must follow earnest effort.

MEETING AT PINE GROVE.

The meeting at Pine Grove was organized by calling John Daily to the Chair, and appointing Mr. Feltz and several others vice presidents, and Messrs. Whipple and Dunlap, secretaries. A large crowd was in attendance. The speakers present were Gen. Beaver, A. O. Purst, S. D. Gray, and Evan M. Blanchard. The utmost enthusiasm was manifested throughout the meeting. The singing by the Glee Club was good. A large number of ladies were present. The meeting was productive of much good.

On Wednesday night, according to appointment, Hon. W. H. Armstrong addressed the people of Walter township. The meeting was held in the new and beautiful school house in Hulseburg. There was a respectable audience, and Mr. Armstrong surpassed himself and made one of the best and most telling speeches to which we have listened for years. He explained the issues of the campaign in a clear and forcible manner, and to the satisfaction of every one present.

Loud calls were then made for Col. W. B. Brown, who declined speaking at the time, and introduced Mr. Love to the audience. Mr. Love spoke for about one hour and twenty minutes, explaining the act of reconstruction, &c. He was followed by Col. Brown, who made a few practical remarks, and the meeting closed with three cheers for Grant and Colfax and the whole State and country.

The speakers, on their way to Hulseburg, by special invitation, stopped at the James Gordon's and partook of a most excellent supper. Mr. Gordon and his amiable lady have the thanks of all the speakers, and it is the united wish of all that they may long live to enjoy their comfortable and pleasant home.

At the close of Mr. A's speech, Mr. Wm. P. Wilson, our efficient Chairman, on behalf of the ladies present, presented Mr. Armstrong with a magnificent bouquet. Mr. Armstrong replied with appropriate remarks, after which Mr. Wilson made a short and telling speech, which was well received. The ladies then sang some of their three charming songs for Grant, Colfax, and our whole tribe.

After the adjournment of the meeting the speakers adjourned to the hotel of Mr. Alex. Knoll, where an excellent supper was served, and where we aided some little in paying "the national debt." Mr. Knoll, by the way, is a good Republican, and "knows how to keep a hotel."

THE MEETING AT DOANSBURG.

On our way to attend this meeting we were astonished at the signs of good times and prosperity all along the route. The new Union church erected near Mr. Garlick, on the Bellefonte and Hulseburg road, stood as the best evidence in the world that the farmers in that section were not suffering from hard times.

Again, upon entering Doanburg, (this was our first visit), we were surprised at the general appearance of the town—its streets and houses, and the handsome brick churches are completed and one, fast approaching completion, and other buildings going up in different localities.

Upon arriving, we at once repaired to the residence of E. D. Dush, Esq., where we were treated in a most kind and hospitable manner. The speakers were at the same time doing justice to the supper prepared by George Jack, Esq.

At about half-past seven, the Doanburg Brass Band, led by their conductor, accompanied the speakers, and afterwards repaired to the headquarters of the Tanners' Club. In a few moments the club, numbering near one hundred, were formed in line, and after marching through the principal streets, halted in front of the speakers' stand. The porch of Mr. Brink's house was tastefully decorated with evergreens and flowers by the hands of the fair ladies of Doanburg, who, by the way, are not few in number. This porch was used as the speakers' stand. The house of Samuel H. Dush was illuminated, making a good appearance and showing that the heart of the good and honest Republican is in the right place. The meeting was organized by appointing the different officers. In consequence of the illness of Mrs. Brink, the meeting adjourned to the porch of Geo. Jack, Esq., after music by the band, Mr. Armstrong was loudly called.

After three hearty cheers for Mr. Armstrong, he made his appearance upon the stand and entered upon the discussion of the issues of the present campaign. He spoke of the question of the "National Debt," Greenbacks, &c., to the satisfaction of all present. He read from the Centre Hall Reporter, the fourth resolution of the Democratic Platform, which declared that the Government should "specify of property;" and proceeded to show the honest farmers and mechanics of Harris township, the effect it would have upon them. That under this system their farms would be taxed according to their real value. This system would compel the farmer to pay $200 in tax, while he does not now pay more than $20. He showed them that the Republican system exempts their farms entirely from taxation.

Mr. Armstrong made a telling speech and was well received.

He was followed by Gen. Beaver, who took up the subject where Mr. Armstrong closed, and for about twenty minutes spoke in a strong and forcible manner. He explained the doctrine of State rights, and explained fully the working of the law enforcing the revenue tax, and stated what taxes were taxed and those exempt. After Gen. Beaver closed his remarks and returned from the stand, the audience called for Col. W. B. Brown. The Colonel stated that this was an infringement on the programme, and declining to speak, introduced his friend John G. Love, Esq.

Mr. Love spoke for an hour, delivering a neat, strong and forcible speech. The questions of finances, taxation, the record of the Democratic party; also the past history and the glorious future of the Republican party, constituted the outline of his speech. His speech was attentively listened to, and we are satisfied was well received. After Mr. Love had closed his speech, the Brass Band played the "Star Spangled Banner." After which the vast audience again called out Col. Brown, who responded to the call for nearly an hour. He made some good points, and closed by an appeal to the people to close up the lines and make a solid fight, not only for a national victory, but for the redemption of Centre county.

The singing by the ladies in attendance, and Messrs. Evan M. Blanchard, Gen. Beaver, Love, Gray (not he of Walden notoriety), and others, were highly complimented, both before and after the meeting; and at the singing in the parlor, one of the young ladies, who was particularly good, seemed to be so entirely captivated, either with the music or the ladies present, so much so that he joined in the singing that every muscle, every nerve, in fact, his whole soul seemed to be in motion or absorbed. At one time we were alarmed, fearing that his head might be thrown off his shoulders.

On behalf of the speakers, we thank Col. Jack and his family for the entertainment received after the meeting.

We forgot to mention that Messrs. Armstrong, Beaver, and others were made recipients of very handsome bouquets.

SECRETARY.

MEETING AT PINE GROVE.

The meeting at Pine Grove was organized by calling John Daily to the Chair, and appointing Mr. Feltz and several others vice presidents, and Messrs. Whipple and Dunlap, secretaries. A large crowd was in attendance. The speakers present were Gen. Beaver, A. O. Purst, S. D. Gray, and Evan M. Blanchard. The utmost enthusiasm was manifested throughout the meeting. The singing by the Glee Club was good. A large number of ladies were present. The meeting was productive of much good.

On Wednesday night, according to appointment, Hon. W. H. Armstrong addressed the people of Walter township. The meeting was held in the new and beautiful school house in Hulseburg. There was a respectable audience, and Mr. Armstrong surpassed himself and made one of the best and most telling speeches to which we have listened for years. He explained the issues of the campaign in a clear and forcible manner, and to the satisfaction of every one present.

Loud calls were then made for Col. W. B. Brown, who declined speaking at the time, and introduced Mr. Love to the audience. Mr. Love spoke for about one hour and twenty minutes, explaining the act of reconstruction, &c. He was followed by Col. Brown, who made a few practical remarks, and the meeting closed with three cheers for Grant and Colfax and the whole State and country.

The speakers, on their way to Hulseburg, by special invitation, stopped at the James Gordon's and partook of a most excellent supper. Mr. Gordon and his amiable lady have the thanks of all the speakers, and it is the united wish of all that they may long live to enjoy their comfortable and pleasant home.

At the close of Mr. A's speech, Mr. Wm. P. Wilson, our efficient Chairman, on behalf of the ladies present, presented Mr. Armstrong with a magnificent bouquet. Mr. Armstrong replied with appropriate remarks, after which Mr. Wilson made a short and telling speech, which was well received. The ladies then sang some of their three charming songs for Grant, Colfax, and our whole tribe.

After the adjournment of the meeting the speakers adjourned to the hotel of Mr. Alex. Knoll, where an excellent supper was served, and where we aided some little in paying "the national debt." Mr. Knoll, by the way, is a good Republican, and "knows how to keep a hotel."

THE MEETING AT DOANSBURG.

On our way to attend this meeting we were astonished at the signs of good times and prosperity all along the route. The new Union church erected near Mr. Garlick, on the Bellefonte and Hulseburg road, stood as the best evidence in the world that the farmers in that section were not suffering from hard times.

Again, upon entering Doanburg, (this was our first visit), we were surprised at the general appearance of the town—its streets and houses, and the handsome brick churches are completed and one, fast approaching completion, and other buildings going up in different localities.

Upon arriving, we at once repaired to the residence of E. D. Dush, Esq., where we were treated in a most kind and hospitable manner. The speakers were at the same time doing justice to the supper prepared by George Jack, Esq.

At about half-past seven, the Doanburg Brass Band, led by their conductor, accompanied the speakers, and afterwards repaired to the headquarters of the Tanners' Club. In a few moments the club, numbering near one hundred, were formed in line, and after marching through the principal streets, halted in front of the speakers' stand. The porch of Mr. Brink's house was tastefully decorated with evergreens and flowers by the hands of the fair ladies of Doanburg, who, by the way, are not few in number. This porch was used as the speakers' stand. The house of Samuel H. Dush was illuminated, making a good appearance and showing that the heart of the good and honest Republican is in the right place. The meeting was organized by appointing the different officers. In consequence of the illness of Mrs. Brink, the meeting adjourned to the porch of Geo. Jack, Esq., after music by the band, Mr. Armstrong was loudly called.

After three hearty cheers for Mr. Armstrong, he made his appearance upon the stand and entered upon the discussion of the issues of the present campaign. He spoke of the question of the "National Debt," Greenbacks, &c., to the satisfaction of all present. He read from the Centre Hall Reporter, the fourth resolution of the Democratic Platform, which declared that the Government should "specify of property;" and proceeded to show the honest farmers and mechanics of Harris township, the effect it would have upon them. That under this system their farms would be taxed according to their real value. This system would compel the farmer to pay $200 in tax, while he does not now pay more than $20. He showed them that the Republican system exempts their farms entirely from taxation.

Mr. Armstrong made a telling speech and was well received.

OUR MEETINGS.—Not since 1860 has there been such a blaze of enthusiasm as now prevails the Republican organization of the county. The same unanimity of feeling, the same determination to execute the efforts of this campaign. The masses are thoroughly persuaded that they are again called upon to settle the issues which agitated the public mind in 1860 and '64; and the earnest responses given to the call for every man to do his duty, augur no doubtful triumph. The reports of meetings in all parts of the county, induce the conviction that the people are "wide awake" to the importance of the campaign. The numerous meetings thus far held in our own county, which, without an exception, have been well attended, show our people to be fully alive, and solemly in earnest. Can we, in view of these circumstances, be thought extravagant in our ideas, when we say that the political reformation of our country is among the possibilities. We can assure our readers that the probability attaching to this desirable result is so strong that it makes the "Cops" wriggle with anxiety.

Our meeting at Honesdale, on Saturday evening last, for several reasons eminently deserving of notice. A very interesting feature of this meeting was a grand display of the Tanners' Club from Dousburg and Centre Furnace; a club numbering fifty-two members, with the cap, cape and torchlight peculiar to the organization. The Tanners appeared on horseback, under the command of Colonel McFarland, and with the readiness with which their evolutions were performed, showed that they had not forgotten their army discipline. While the Tanners were yet a mile or more distant from the place of meeting they were heard swelling the chorus of "Rally round the flag, boys!" The words of the song became more and more distinct as they approached, until by their actual presence they began an enthusiasm which seemed a sure premonition of triumph. As many as could find room were crowded into the building, and the meeting was organized as an affair of the club, and E. H. Kinsale, acting as Secretary, when Messrs. Stephens and Brown, of Bellefonte, engaged in laying bare the rottenness of so-called Democracy. Reconstruction, taxation, and the financial questions of the day were discussed in a manner that showed the speakers had given these matters the attention due them. The meeting passed off pleasantly; in itself considered a success, and as such should be taken as an intimation of what must follow earnest effort.

MEETING AT PINE GROVE.

The meeting at Pine Grove was organized by calling John Daily to the Chair, and appointing Mr. Feltz and several others vice presidents, and Messrs. Whipple and Dunlap, secretaries. A large crowd was in attendance. The speakers present were Gen. Beaver, A. O. Purst, S. D. Gray, and Evan M. Blanchard. The utmost enthusiasm was manifested throughout the meeting. The singing by the Glee Club was good. A large number of ladies were present. The meeting was productive of much good.

On Wednesday night, according to appointment, Hon. W. H. Armstrong addressed the people of Walter township. The meeting was held in the new and beautiful school house in Hulseburg. There was a respectable audience, and Mr. Armstrong surpassed himself and made one of the best and most telling speeches to which we have listened for years. He explained the issues of the campaign in a clear and forcible manner, and to the satisfaction of every one present.

Loud calls were then made for Col. W. B. Brown, who declined speaking at the time, and introduced Mr. Love to the audience. Mr. Love spoke for about one hour and twenty minutes, explaining the act of reconstruction, &c. He was followed by Col. Brown, who made a few practical remarks, and the meeting closed with three cheers for Grant and Colfax and the whole State and country.

The speakers, on their way to Hulseburg, by special invitation, stopped at the James Gordon's and partook of a most excellent supper. Mr. Gordon and his amiable lady have the thanks of all the speakers, and it is the united wish of all that they may long live to enjoy their comfortable and pleasant home.

At the close of Mr. A's speech, Mr. Wm. P. Wilson, our efficient Chairman, on behalf of the ladies present, presented Mr. Armstrong with a magnificent bouquet. Mr. Armstrong replied with appropriate remarks, after which Mr. Wilson made a short and telling speech, which was well received. The ladies then sang some of their three charming songs for Grant, Colfax, and our whole tribe.

After the adjournment of the meeting the speakers adjourned to the hotel of Mr. Alex. Knoll, where an excellent supper was served, and where we aided some little in paying "the national debt." Mr. Knoll, by the way, is a good Republican, and "knows how to keep a hotel."

THE MEETING AT DOANSBURG.

On our way to attend this meeting we were astonished at the signs of good times and prosperity all along the route. The new Union church erected near Mr. Garlick, on the Bellefonte and Hulseburg road, stood as the best evidence in the world that the farmers in that section were not suffering from hard times.

Again, upon entering Doanburg, (this was our first visit), we were surprised at the general appearance of the town—its streets and houses, and the handsome brick churches are completed and one, fast approaching completion, and other buildings going up in different localities.

Upon arriving, we at once repaired to the residence of E. D. Dush, Esq., where we were treated in a most kind and hospitable manner. The speakers were at the same time doing justice to the supper prepared by George Jack, Esq.

At about half-past seven, the Doanburg Brass Band, led by their conductor, accompanied the speakers, and afterwards repaired to the headquarters of the Tanners' Club. In a few moments the club, numbering near one hundred, were formed in line, and after marching through the principal streets, halted in front of the speakers' stand. The porch of Mr. Brink's house was tastefully decorated with evergreens and flowers by the hands of the fair ladies of Doanburg, who, by the way, are not few in number. This porch was used as the speakers' stand. The house of Samuel H. Dush was illuminated, making a good appearance and showing that the heart of the good and honest Republican is in the right place. The meeting was organized by appointing the different officers. In consequence of the illness of Mrs. Brink, the meeting adjourned to the porch of Geo. Jack, Esq., after music by the band, Mr. Armstrong was loudly called.

After three hearty cheers for Mr. Armstrong, he made his appearance upon the stand and entered upon the discussion of the issues of the present campaign. He spoke of the question of the "National Debt," Greenbacks, &c., to the satisfaction of all present. He read from the Centre Hall Reporter, the fourth resolution of the Democratic Platform, which declared that the Government should "specify of property;" and proceeded to show the honest farmers and mechanics of Harris township, the effect it would have upon them. That under this system their farms would be taxed according to their real value. This system would compel the farmer to pay $200 in tax, while he does not now pay more than $20. He showed them that the Republican system exempts their farms entirely from taxation.

Mr. Armstrong made a telling speech and was well received.

He was followed by Gen. Beaver, who took up the subject where Mr. Armstrong closed, and for about twenty minutes spoke in a strong and forcible manner. He explained the doctrine of State rights, and explained fully the working of the law enforcing the revenue tax, and stated what taxes were taxed and those exempt. After Gen. Beaver closed his remarks and returned from the stand, the audience called for Col. W. B. Brown. The Colonel stated that this was an infringement on the programme, and declining to speak, introduced his friend John G. Love, Esq.

Mr. Love spoke for an hour, delivering a neat, strong and forcible speech. The questions of finances, taxation, the record of the Democratic party; also the past history and the glorious future of the Republican party, constituted the outline of his speech. His speech was attentively listened to, and we are satisfied was well received. After Mr. Love had closed his speech, the Brass Band played the "Star Spangled Banner." After which the vast audience again called out Col. Brown, who responded to the call for nearly an hour. He made some good points, and closed by an appeal to the people to close up the lines and make a solid fight, not only for a national victory, but for the redemption of Centre county.

The singing by the ladies in attendance, and Messrs. Evan M. Blanchard, Gen. Beaver, Love, Gray (not he of Walden notoriety), and others, were highly complimented, both before and after the meeting; and at the singing in the parlor, one of the young ladies, who was particularly good, seemed to be so entirely captivated, either with the music or the ladies present, so much so that he joined in the singing that every muscle, every nerve, in fact, his whole soul seemed to be in motion or absorbed. At one time we were alarmed, fearing that his head might be thrown off his shoulders.

On behalf of the speakers, we thank Col. Jack and his family for the entertainment received after the meeting.

We forgot to mention that Messrs. Armstrong, Beaver, and others were made recipients of very handsome bouquets.

SECRETARY.

MEETING AT PINE GROVE.

The meeting at Pine Grove was organized by calling John Daily to the Chair, and appointing Mr. Feltz and several others vice presidents, and Messrs. Whipple and Dunlap, secretaries. A large crowd was in attendance. The speakers present were Gen. Beaver, A. O. Purst, S. D. Gray, and Evan M. Blanchard. The utmost enthusiasm was manifested throughout the meeting. The singing by the Glee Club was good. A large number of ladies were present. The meeting was productive of much good.

On Wednesday night, according to appointment, Hon. W. H. Armstrong addressed the people of Walter township. The meeting was held in the new and beautiful school house in Hulseburg. There was a respectable audience, and Mr. Armstrong surpassed himself and made one of the best and most telling speeches to which we have listened for years. He explained the issues of the campaign in a clear and forcible manner, and to the satisfaction of every one present.

Loud calls were then made for Col. W. B. Brown, who declined speaking at the time, and introduced Mr. Love to the audience. Mr. Love spoke for about one hour and twenty minutes, explaining the act of reconstruction, &c. He was followed by Col. Brown, who made a few practical remarks, and the meeting closed with three cheers for Grant and Colfax and the whole State and country.

The speakers, on their way to Hulseburg, by special invitation, stopped at the James Gordon's and partook of a most excellent supper. Mr. Gordon and his amiable lady have the thanks of all the speakers, and it is the united wish of all that they may long live to enjoy their comfortable and pleasant home.

At the close of Mr. A's speech, Mr. Wm. P. Wilson, our efficient Chairman, on behalf of the ladies present, presented Mr. Armstrong with a magnificent bouquet. Mr. Armstrong replied with appropriate remarks, after which Mr. Wilson made a short and telling speech, which was well received. The ladies then sang some of their three charming songs for Grant, Colfax, and our whole tribe.

After the adjournment of the meeting the speakers adjourned to the hotel of Mr. Alex. Knoll, where an excellent supper was served, and where we aided some little in paying "the national debt." Mr. Knoll, by the way, is a good Republican, and "knows how to keep a hotel."

THE MEETING AT DOANSBURG.

On our way to attend this meeting we were astonished at the signs of good times and prosperity all along the route. The new Union church erected near Mr. Garlick, on the Bellefonte and Hulseburg road, stood as the best evidence in the world that the farmers in that section were not suffering from hard times.

Again, upon entering Doanburg, (this was our first visit), we were surprised at the general appearance of the town—its streets and houses, and the handsome brick churches are completed and one, fast approaching completion, and other buildings going up in different localities.

Upon arriving, we at once repaired to the residence of E. D. Dush, Esq., where we were treated in a most kind and hospitable manner. The speakers were at the same time doing justice to the supper prepared by George Jack, Esq.

At about half-past seven, the Doanburg Brass Band, led by their conductor, accompanied the speakers, and afterwards repaired to the headquarters of the Tanners' Club. In a few moments the club, numbering near one hundred, were formed in line, and after marching through the principal streets, halted in front of the speakers' stand. The porch of Mr. Brink's house was tastefully decorated with evergreens and flowers by the hands of the fair ladies of Doanburg, who, by the way, are not few in number. This porch was used as the speakers' stand. The house of Samuel H. Dush was illuminated, making a good appearance and showing that the heart of the good and honest Republican is in the right place. The meeting was organized by appointing the different officers. In consequence of the illness of Mrs. Brink, the meeting adjourned to the porch of Geo. Jack, Esq., after music by the band, Mr. Armstrong was loudly called.

After three hearty cheers for Mr. Armstrong, he made his appearance upon the stand and entered upon the discussion of the issues of the present campaign. He spoke of the question of the "National Debt," Greenbacks, &c., to the satisfaction of all present. He read from the Centre Hall Reporter, the fourth resolution of the Democratic Platform, which declared that the Government should "specify of property;" and proceeded to show the honest farmers and mechanics of Harris township, the effect it would have upon them. That under this system their farms would be taxed according to their real value. This system would compel the farmer to pay $200 in tax, while he does not now pay more than $20. He showed them that the Republican system exempts their farms entirely from taxation.

Mr. Armstrong made a telling speech and was well received.

OUR MEETINGS.—Not since 1860 has there been such a blaze of enthusiasm as now prevails the Republican organization of the county. The same unanimity of feeling, the same determination to execute the efforts of this campaign. The masses are thoroughly persuaded that they are again called upon to settle the issues which agitated the public mind in 1860 and '64; and the earnest responses given to the call for every man to do his duty, augur no doubtful triumph. The reports of meetings in all parts of the county, induce the conviction that the people are "wide awake" to the importance of the campaign. The numerous meetings thus far held in our own county, which, without an exception, have been well attended, show our people to be fully alive, and solemly in earnest. Can we, in view of these circumstances, be thought extravagant in our ideas, when we say that the political reformation of our country is among the possibilities. We can assure our readers that the probability attaching to this desirable result is so strong that it makes the "Cops" wriggle with anxiety.

Our meeting at Honesdale, on Saturday evening last, for several reasons eminently deserving of notice. A very interesting feature of this meeting was a grand display of the Tanners' Club from Dousburg and Centre Furnace; a club numbering fifty-two members, with the cap, cape and torchlight peculiar to the organization. The Tanners appeared on horseback, under the command of Colonel McFarland, and with the readiness with which their evolutions were performed, showed that they had not forgotten their army discipline. While the Tanners were yet a mile or more distant from the place of meeting they were heard swelling the chorus of "Rally round the flag, boys!" The words of the song became more and more distinct as they approached, until by their actual presence they began an enthusiasm which seemed a sure premonition of triumph. As many as could find room were crowded into the building, and the meeting was organized as an affair of the club, and E. H. Kinsale, acting as Secretary, when Messrs. Stephens and Brown, of Bellefonte, engaged in laying bare the rottenness of so-called Democracy. Reconstruction, taxation, and the financial questions of the day were discussed in a manner that showed the speakers had given these matters the attention due them. The meeting passed off pleasantly; in itself considered a success, and as such should be taken as an intimation of what must follow earnest effort.