THE DUTY OF THE HOUR. As a party we are prone to feel too secure in the election of Grant and Colfax. Now, although there is not the least possibility of their defeat, yet their ultimate election is not all that we desire to accomplish Centre county must be grasped from the hands of rebels and traitors. It has been too long in their hands for the good of its citizens. Through their mismanagement we are compelled to pay taxes, that, if the administration of our county's affairs had been in our own hands, we should not now be paying. In order to carry the county for Grant by a large majority, we must in the first place keep up our organizations-keep up the enthusiasm. Let us cease not in our labor for the cause of truth, liberty and justice. Let us go actively to work. Let our chairman appoint another series of meetings throughout the entire county. Already our enemies are at work. Saturday night last another campaign fund was raised, and arrangements made for the carrying on of the presidential campaign with such energy as was never before done in this county. Every artifice will be resorted to in order to accomplish their designs. They must be trustrated at every point-on eve y hand. We have beat themwhipped them heretofore, and shall we now, for the want of a little energy, let them regain a hundred fold what they have lost. By no means, no! Then up! In the language of our gallant leader, let us "push things."

AFTER THE ELECTION.

Now that the October election is what is the duty yet to be performed before the presidential election. That the Democracy have been whipped, defeated at every point, whipped beyond all expectation, there is no doubt.

black and white: If, in a review of the whole situation, i shall be concluded that mistakes have been made, it is better that they should be corrected now, than that the country should be dragged through four more weary years of strife, to be redeemed then by measures of the same kind that might, by ; magnificent exercise of pluck, be as easily adopted now. Whatever a sagacious fore-cast may perceive to be the proper course for the Democratic party four years hence, if it should be beaten now, had better be pursued at once. The time has come—the hour has struck-when we must turn our faces resolutely to the future. This is a young country, with a great career before it which no imagination can grasp; a majority of our voters are young men abounding in hope, enterprise, ardor, activity; and the country being in the dawn of a new era, when all minds are filled with expectation and excitement, that party has the best chances of a great future which is most in sympathy with the youthful, irrepressible energies of the nation. A growing nation, like an improving individual has always something to learn. A political party which does not advance with the naon, and enter into the fulness of its expanding, exuberant life, is on the declivity which descends to decadence and decrepitude. The Democratic party is full of vigorous youthful, aspiring elements; similar elements in the other party are yearning to join it, if we will but have the boldness to Colfax. But once carry build a bridge on which they cannot die; its part bald it for evermore. Vitality, its invincible tenacity of life, the
