

ELDDRESEUR B

SATURDAY, JULY 7, 1838.

EMOCRATIC NOMINATION FOR GOVERNOR: EN. DAVID R. PORTER.

ANNIVERSARY CELEBRATION. 4th of July, 1838.

(OF HUNTINGBON COUNTY.)

n pursuance of previous arrangements, ge concourse of citizens from this and adjoining townships, assembled at the use of C. Doebler, in Bloomsburg, at an ly hour in the morning, to celebrate this niversary of our National Independence. 11 o'clock, a procession was formed, aded by the Washington Guards, Bloomsarg Rangers, and Bloomsburg Artillery, and proceeded to the Presbyterian meeting use, where, after a prayer by the Rev. Mr. Drake, the reading of the Declaration of Independence by W. G. Hurley, Esq. and a prayer in German, by the Rev. Mr. Tobias, an eloquent and patriotic address was delivered by the Rev. Mr. Toby, which was listened to by a crowded audience with treat interest and gratification. The serviees were then closed by a prayer by the Rev. Mr. J. P. Mudson, of Williamsport, when the procession was again formed, and returned to the house of Mr. Doebler, where the company sat down to a sumptuous dinner provided by that gentleman under a bower erected for the purpose.

The company were highly gratified with the appearance in the procession of six Revolutionary soldiers, who had fought for their country's freedom in those days that " tried men's souls." 'Their united ages amounted to 486, viz : Abraham Shoemaker, aged 80 years.

Frederick Kalhoven, 78 John Hartman 82 Andrew McClure, 80 David Johnson, 80. Henry Arwine,

It done our hearts good to see these old veterans marching, with a firm and erect step, after martial music; it appeared to carry them back to "days gone by," and bring to their remembrance "old lang syne." They gave utterance to the joy they felt at meeting, on so happy an occasion, with the third and fourth generations, by recounting. with great clear prenes that occurred during the battles of Long Island, Germantown and Trenton, in which they participated.

After the removal of the cloth, the company was organized by the appointment of Treasury Bill, Col. James McChure, President; Wm. McKelvy; Maj. M. McDowell, and John first magnitude in the banner of National In-Rosessow, Esq. Vice Presidents; and H. WEBB. Secretary, when the following regular To ists were drank, and responded too by long and hearty cheers, accompanied by the road of canani.

REGULAR TOASTS.

4th July '76-We revert back to that glorious period of our national history, with gratitude to that illustrious band of American Statesman, who pledged "their lives, their fortunes, and their sacred honors," on the altar of our country's freedom.

The President of the United States.

The Governor of Pennsylvania.

The Army & Navy of the United States. The departe i heroes of the Revolution .-They will be remembered as long as the principles of Liberty are cherished. The surviving heroes of the Revolution -May they long live to enjoy that bounty which their country has bestowed upon them, and which their services have so justly

George Washington-Virtue and Liberty will be forgotten before his name will cease to be loved & venerated by his coun-

Gen. Lafuyette-Though he has left the earth, yet the fruits of his services in the cause of freedom will always remain as a bright beacon to cheer onward the advocates of Liberty.

Liberty and Equality-May their principles expand until they shall encompass the whole earth.

The Internal Improvement System of Pennsylvania-If we may judge from its worth in its infancy, we can form but a feint idea of its value, when it shall arrive at manhood,

The United States-A nation of freeman governing themselves-A noble monument for kings to look at.

Pennsylvania-Rich in minerals-Rich in agriculture & manufactures-but still richer in infellectual and moral worth.

Columbia County-Well may she be proud of her industrious and virtuous population-she needs but the genius of enterprize, to bring forth the hidden treasures of her inexpustable mines, to tender her equal in wealth to her more favored sisters.

VOLUNTEER TOASTS. James McClure, president of the day-The day we celebrate-A day that gave birth to the liberties of these United States. Wm. McKelvy, Vice President-The Orator of the day.

M. McDowell, Vice President-The Militia System of Pennsylvania, needs reformation-May we see the propriety of encouraging volunteers.

J. Robinson, Esq. Vice President-The citizens of Bloomsburg and vicinity-The good feeling this day evinced, becomes us well whilst surrounded with peace and plenty, and enjoying the prospect of a most bountiful harvest.

Rev. Mr. Toby, the orator of the Day-The few remaining soldiers of the Revolulution; venerable patriarchs; the survivors of a former generation-They have had the rare satisfaction of contemplating for more than half a century, the rising value of the noble inheritance which they purchased for their posterity at so high a price. May the warm expressions of a nation's gratitude cheer their declining years, and attend them to the last.

W. G. Hurley-Liberty and Union, now and forever, one and inseparable.

Dr. J. Ramsey-J. C. Calhonn-The nullifier of the south-Let him who steers in the wake of his "illustrious predecessor" keep an eye on his bearings, or, to use Blair's cognomen, the 'bank's fed instrument" will come athwar; his haws.

H. Webb-J. C.Calhoun, the able statesman of the South-Though he may have gone astray in advocating nullification, yet his firm and patriotic support of the Independent Treasury Bill, is an ample redeeming quality for all past errors.

I. Wells-The officers and soldiers in the war for Independence-The departed we mourh-the surviving we greet. Let not their descendants prove ungrateful heirs to the inheritance they have bequeathed.

John McReynolds-The United States -An asylum for the oppressed-the country of the brave. .

T. Painter-The memory of Hamilton, Green, Steuben, DeKalb, and the host of other worthies, their copatriots in the struggle which secured a name among the nations of the earth for their country.

C. Brobst-Farewell! a long farewell to the serviles who vated for the odious Sub-

I. Wells-Free Schools-Stars of the dependence.

S. Price-Martin Van Buren, the friend of his country-May he follow the golden rules faid down by his predecessor, Gen Jackson, more strictly than his political opponents wish him to do.

John K. Groiz-The Sub-Treasury-Success to its downfall.

J. W. Musgrave-May the same spirit of harmony continue to exist among us, that filled the hearts of the worthy signers of the declaration of independence.

B. F. Hartman-The day we celebrate. I. Wells-The United States-Each an independent republic, bound by ties of confederation, we pray never to be sundered until the earth dissolves in ruins.

H. Smith-Kentucky Clay-If formed into brick, would make the most majestic " mala that an independent nation can raise. 15 C. Morris-Kentucky Clay-Two attempts having been already made to rear a temple from this worthless material, it would be mere folly to lay the foundation for

J. Stauffer-Success to the Artillery Company of Bloomsburg-May it always be as ready to meet the enemy, as were the veterans of the revolution. M. S. Mears-Christian Brobst, the friend of internal improvement---long may we cherish his name as the friend of his Joseph Ruch-The citizens of Bloomsburg and vicinity-May they ever be united at their social meetings in principles of true democracy.

J. D. Gulick-The Fair Sex-Heaven's best gift.

Thomas Willitts-One country-one constitution-one destiny.

H. Smith-The six of the last remnants of the continental army who honor us with their presence-May they continue many years among us, the best memento we can have of the inestimable blessings we enjoy, bequeathed to us by them and their co-patriots.

D. Brewer-The United States' Navy-May she ever be blest with such officers as Perry Decator, and Lawrence.

Joseph Crawford-John C. Calhoun, like the Irishman's fice, when he put his finger on it, it was'nt there.

E. Armstrong-The Heroes of the Revolution-May their remaining years be as happy as their former were glorious.

Daniel Brewer-The President of the United States-The friend of the peoplethe sustainer of democracy.

By a Guest-The American Fair-The sons of America need no greater incentive to preserve our liberties uncontaminated, than the approving smiles of the fair daughters of Columbia's soil,

By the Company-Our Host and Hostess-May they always enjoy a board equally plentiful as the one they have this day prepared for us.

The company separated with feelings of unity and harmony, highly gratified with the whole proceedings of the day.

The young Gentlemen and Ladies of Bloomsburg and vicinity, celebrated the National Anniversary in a grove, near Fishing Creek, about half a mile from this village. We understand that about seventy gentlemen and ladies sat down to an elegant dinner, prepared by Mr. D. Snyder, in his usual good style. The Declaration of Independence was read by Mr. Samuel Yearick, and an oration delivered by Mr. William Neal, with which the company were highly pleased. After spending : a few hours in social hilarity in the cool hade of that pleasant retreat, bordering or the banks of Fishing Creek, the company formed a procession, of about an hundred and twenty in number, (including two parties of young Masters and Misses, who had assembled in the same neighborhood. and partaken of some good cheer provided expressly for them,) headed by a band of martial music, under the command of Capt. Biggs, marched into town, down Firststreet, and up the whole length of Centrestreet, presenting such an array of beauty, correct deportment, and good order, in one procession, as never before witnessed by the citizens of Bloomsburg. After arriving at Mr. Snyder's, the company again partook of some cooling refreshments, and then separated with all the good feeling that the day is so well calculated to inspire, after having been passed in so pleasant and social a manner.

The Committee of Arrangement deserve great credit for their exertion in conducting the proceedings, and more especially the President of the day, Mr. W. Neal, by whose active means and ready tact the festivities and pleasures were greatly increased, and well deserve the commendation and thanks of the company.

Their proceedings were received too late for publication in to-days paper.

Sub-Treasury Bill.

On the 25th ult, the Sub-Treasury bill was defeated in the House of Representatives by a majority of 14-a majority larger than was anticipated by its most sanguine opponents. The vote stood 111 ayes-125 nays, and 6 absent. After this question was settled in the house, Mr. Webster introduced into the Senate, a resolution re-establishing the old state pet bank deposite system, and Mr. Buchanan also introduced a resolution making them receivers of the public money upon special deposite, without the privilege of using it; allowing the banks a compensation for their trouble, Both of these projects were rejected by a decided vote. It is not now probable that any legislation will be liad in Congress, upon the subject, during the present session, as both houses have resolved to adjourn on the 9th

The following tables are not without interest. The first gives the vote of the members from this State upon the Sub-Treasury bill, and the second gives the general vote.

Mr. Spring Rice, in his budget, gives rather a melancholy accounts of the British finances. The revenue has declined to the extent of nearly three millions .- The expenditure of the last year exceeds the receipts nearly a million and half sterling-Canada has made a heavy haul upon the British purse.

A Novel Suit .- A Mr. Young, of Brookville, brought a suit against a schoolmaster in the district, for refusing to permit his children to use "Volney's Ruins" in school as a reading book .- The action was brought to obtain compensation for the damage his children sustained in being deprived of the perusal of that work. The verdict was, of course, for the defendant.

Singular Coincidence .- The Great Western and Sirius steamers, says the New York Star, were the first that ever came from Europe, and now we have the pleasure of announcing the arrival at this port of the canal boat Great Western and Sirius, from Pousville direct, being the two first boats from that place with coal, under the direction of Messrs, Stockton & Stevens, of the Camden and Amboy Railroad and Delaware and Raritan Canal Co.

At a sale of Blooded Cattle, at Bloomfield, New-York, in the latter part of May, three cows and the stock that has been raised from them in three years, sold for four thousand nine hundred and sixteen dollars!

The widow Betrothed .- Barron, the young man convicted at Rochester of the murder of Mr. Lyman, was engaged to be married. His intended bride was present at his trial, and the day after his conviction appeared in the deepest mourning. She is said to be a beautiful and chaste appearing young lady .- Evening Star.

Notwithstanding her "chaste appearing." the young lady stated on her cross-axamination-for it was as a witness she was presest at the trial-that there was a little 16sponsibility in the cradle at home, of which she was the mother and Barront he father. Com. Adv.

A gunsmith in Cleveland uses Wright's Indian Purgative pills for drilling rifles. He states that they are a great bore.

The Citizens of Charleston, S. C. have petitioned Congress to enact some law relative to steam navigation, which shall protect the lives of travellers from the carelessness or ignorance of people engaged in that business.

Absence of Mind .- A young lady carried a letter to the Post Office, dropped herself into the box instead of the letter, and did not discover the mistake, till the clerk asked her if she was single.

Formidable .- 'The number of bank directors and bank officers in the United States is said to be sixteen thousand.

Clear the Way .- Letters have been received in Mobile, from Pensacola, dated the 24th ult, which state that the Commercial Bank of Florida, at St. Joseph's, has failed, and that all the officers of the institution had left between two days by express, for other parts. Go it ye rogues, if you break your legs!

Bloomsburg June, 19th 1938.

The above mentioned gentleman has said, in the last number of the Democrat, that I had better mind my own business, and not be lying about my neighbors. What I have said about Ludwick Licht, is mentioned above, and that I can prove, without fear.

G. BOMBOY. Bloomsburg, July, 7th 1838.

I wish to inform G. Bomboy that I think he has enough to do to keep himself and son Thomus from lying without accusing his neighbors of doing so, without any just cause, although they may suspect that an OUTLINE was taken from my shop with-L. LICHT.
