We have been requested to mention that the next quarter of Mr. C. P. WALLER'S School will commence on Tuesday the 21st inst. The tuition in the ordinary branches has been fixed by the Committee, at $3 per quarter, and the number of scholars limited to 35. An excellent opportunity is thus afforded to those who wish to secure to their children, the best fits of a small school. The tuition in the Latin and Greek languages, and in the higher branches of Mathematics, remains at the original price fixed by the Committee. Application for admission can be made to Mr. Waller at the school room, or at his residence at Mr. Hartman.

PASSAGE OF A BANK BILL AT LAST.

On Monday last a Bank Bill passed the Senate by a vote of 17 to 14, and on Tuesday, the same Bill passed the house of Representatives, without amendments. It is not such a Bill as we could have wished; but we must submit to the powers that be, with as good a grace as possible. We hope, however, we shall not hereafter, hear any grumbling from the Banks, as they have obtained their own time to resume, and upon their own terms. The Bill contains six sections.

The first requires the Banks to resume specie payments, on the 15th of January, leaving their creditors to collect their obligations of them according to the common law in force in this State, and not otherwise until after that time.

The second section provides for the unconditional forfeiture of the charters of all Banks which shall at any time thereafter, refuse to pay in gold or silver, all their obligations, whether bills or deposits, and provides measures for winding up their concerns in case of such refusal.

Section third makes wilful deliberate false swearing by an officer, or agent of a Bank, in relation to any statement required of them by law, perjury, and on conviction, an imprisonment of not less than one year nor more than six, shall be inflicted.

The fourth section requires the banks which have suspended specie payments since last October, to loan to the State, in proportion to their capital, three millions of dollars, at 5 per cent per annum.

The fifth section allows the banks to pursue their usual course of business of discounting, issuing bills, and declaring dividends, in the same manner as if they had not suspended specie payments.

The sixth section repeals all laws inconsistent with these resolutions.

We shall publish the bill next week.

The Madisonian makes a calculation of the probable result of the next presidential election, and gives an opinion that Harrison will get 222 votes and Van Buren 30 leaving 36 doubtful. How werry modest. We would advise our neighbor by all means to copy this calculation.

BUCHANAN AND DAVIS.

The whigs have endeavored to make a capital out of the pitiful conduct of Mr. Davis, in misrepresenting the remarks of Mr. Buchanan upon the Sub-Treasury Bill while it was under discussion in the U. S. Senate. He attempted to show that Mr. Buchanan advocated the passage of the bill upon the ground that it would reduce the wages of the laboring class. How well he succeeded, will be seen by an attentive perusal of the answer of Mr. Buchanan, which we publish entire in our paper of to-day. The way he takes up Mr. Davis is a caution, and if he did not wince under the lash he would make a very good whig Editor.

INGERSOLL AND NAYLOR.

"The tale going the rounds of the Loco Foco papers relating to frauds in the third Congressional district, is entirely unfounded and untrue."

The above is extracted from a truth loving Whig paper. We do not attempt to controvert it under any expectation that the author will acknowledge his error, or that we shall prevent him from re-asserting it over and over again, however strong the proof may be to the contrary, but in order to show how much reliance is to be placed in assertions from that quarter in future, & also as another conclusive proof of the truth of what the democratic party have always asserted in relation to the frauds of the election, which was the first movement in the Buckshot war, we extract the following from the Philadelphia Spirit of the Times:

THE CAT OUT OF THE BAG.—The Third District affair is now in fact ended, and Mr. Naylor's illegal position unequivocally defined: William G. Conrow, a gentleman of property and character, one of the election officers in Spring Garden, in 1838, and one of those return judges that signed Mr. Naylor's certificate, has, on oath, explained so many of the fraudulent circumstances attending this iniquitous matter that its whole blackness stands as it were developed in the light of day. Mr. Conrow deposed, that Mr. Naylor himself, assured him, that the democratic ticket was entirely elected, and that the Whigs who had gone to Harrisburg, had better return, and thus prevent the disgrace which must necessarily fall upon their party; that Mr. Naylor acknowledged that he was not elected, and that he was not returned according to law. Mr. C. declined answering some questions, on the plea that he was not bound to criminate himself; but declared that he signed Mr. Naylor's return under a misapprehension, and that if he had known at the time, all that he afterwards learned from Mr. Naylor himself, he would have signed the return of Mr. Ingersoll. On the whole, it is evident, that if Mr. Conrow had been called upon at the commencement of the investigation, he would by his evidence have put an end to its proceedings at once, and established the fact that Mr. Ingersoll and the people of the Third District, have been most infamously cheated of their rights, by a few unprincipled members of the Whig party.

War! War!

By the following extract from the correspondent of the States Capitol Gazette, it will be seen that great fears are entertained at Washington, that war between this country and Great Britain, is almost inevitable, in consequence of the disagreement with regard to the Maine Boundary Question.

The prospects of war with Great Britain has become evident. It may be that we cannot avoid it. The assumption of Great Britain if persisted in, will drive us into it. This is the opinion of the most sagacious men here. Neither the British Government nor that of the United States, will recede from their positions, as taken in the correspondence, submitted by the President to the Senate on Thursday. The next thing we shall hear will be that the British forces have made an attack upon the civil posse of Maine, in the disputed territory.—Maine will resent the blow, and where shall we be then? It is supposed here that these people, in the disputed territory, have already come to blows. We shall soon know. Congress will make no movement towards an adjournment until we again hear from Maine and from England. Great Britain will decide soon, upon the last proposition of this government, which was to appoint a joint Commission to run and mark the boundary line, according to the treaty of 1783. If they do not accede to this, there will be still one more reasonable choice of preserving peace—a resort to another arbitration by a third party. In the mean time the two countries may become embroiled upon this incidental question, which has now sprung up. When blood shall be shed, on either side, there will be a spontaneous rush to arms, by both parties. It may suit the policy of Great Britain, at this juncture, to go to war. She must find some means to keep quiet her discontented and starving population.

A part of the United States troops stationed in the upper part of New York State have been ordered to march to the disputed territory in Maine.

The trial of Wood, the unhappy man who murdered his daughter some months since in Philadelphia, terminated on Friday of last week, in an acquittal, "on the ground of insanity."

An Industrious Female.—A lady living on the banks of the Catawby River, lately performed the following extraordinary amount of work—the wove nine yards of cloth, spun four buns of yarn, milked three cows, churned four pounds of butter and had twin children all in one day!

There are disputes about territory between Rhode Island and Massachusetts, Wisconsin and Missouri, Illinois and Wisconsin, and the United States and Great Britain, yet to be adjusted.

Amalgamation.—The Legislature of Massachusetts, by a vote of 168 to 164 permitted the intermarriage of whites and blacks. The vote was very nearly a party one—nearly all the whigs voting for the amalgamation project, and nearly all the democrats against it.

HYMNICAL.

By the Rev. D. S. Tobias, on the 30th March, Mr. HENRY YEAGER, to Miss FYANNA SNYDER both of Roaringcreek Valley.
