PROSPECTUS

TO THE NEW VOLUME OF

THE UNITED STATES MAGAZINE AND

democratic review.

VOLUME XI, COMMENCING JULY, 1842.

John L. O'Sullivan, Edilor.

By an increase in the number of pages, and by an alteration in its typographical arrangements, the quantity of matter heretofore furnished to the rea-ders of the Democratic Review, will be increased in its future numbers about

SEVENTY-FIVE PER CENT.

The Editor expects valuable aid to his own efforts during the course of the coming year, from a num-ber of the most able pens of the great Democratic Party - together with that of others, in its purely literary department, to which the same political designation is not to be applied. Among them may be particularly named;

Bancroft, Parke Godwin, J.L. Stephens J. L. Cooper, Hawthorne, Tilden. A. Kendall, Davezac, Tasistro, Whittier, Paulding, Eames. A H Everett, Bryant, Sedwick, Gilpin Brownson. Cass.

Cambreleng, C. J. Ingersoll. Butler, The Monthly Financial and Commercial articles, which have frequently been pronounced by the most intelligent criticisms during the past year in themselves alone worth the subscription to the work will be continued from the same able-hand.

Ar arrangement has been made, by which the Boston Quarterly Review, edited by Mr. BROWSson, will be merged in the Democratic Review, the atter being a frequent and regular contributor to ts pages. It is proper to state, that Mr. Brown-son's articles will be marked by his name though to most readers they would doubtless reveal themselves by their internal evidence; and that it has been agreed, under the circumstance, that these contributions shall be independent of the usual liability to editorial revision and control-the author alone having a similar responsibility for whatever peculiarity of views they may contain, as though appearing in the original work which has been heretofore edited with such distinguished ability by himself.

Among other attractive papers in preparation for the forthcoming volume, will be found some personal sketches, reminiscences, and anecdotes of the private life of General Jackson, from the pen of an intimate friend and member of his Cabinet.

The Pertraits of which it is intended to illustrate the numbers of the ensuing year, and which will be executed in a fine style of engraving, by J. L. Dick, of this city, are those of-

Dick, which will be accompanied with an original biography; a feature in the plan, which it would be impossible to give in a work of this kind, without the most liberal and extensive support—as they could not be furnished without an outlay of at least $2,500, per annum.

To the Friends of the Democratic Party.

The United States Magazine and Domocratic Review will require the energetic and cordial cooperation of every individual who wishes to see the pure and sound doctrines of American Bedublicansm advocated in such a manner as to exhibit the best possible examples of American principles and American Literature. The risk and expense uttend ing the publication is so great, that without a preport co-extensive with the Union, it cannot be sus-mined. The hierary and mochanical cost of pus-mg pari the work on a liberat scale proposed for the coming year will exceed that of any other Periodical; in the country; it therefore presents imperative claims upon the support and patronage of the party whose political tenets it is designed to advocates and to those who are friendly to the advance of our Periodical Literature, it will be considered no less meritorious.

There is no section of the country where there could not be found one or more who would desire to be supporters of such a work; and to bring it to the knowledge of such, your friendly assistance is respectively solicited.

The following means have been adopted to promote the great object of this great undertaking: It has been put at the lowest possible rate. Five Dollars a year for such a work .- comprising nearly 1500 pages of closely printed matter, in double columns, and including twelve finely engraved Por traits of the leading members of the Democratic party,-it must be evident, is much cheaper than the same amount of such matter was ever before furnished at in the United States; were not the sys tem of advance payments insisted on, and were it not expected that every Republican in the country, able to afford it, will deem it a duty to take the work, and thus eren e a very large subscription list. it could not be published for less than double the

The very first pens in the country are engaged ir, assistance and furtherance of the project, as will be seen by our Prospectus,

Its literary matter shall be the best of its kind hat can be produced, and it is the determination of tthe Proprietors to make this work unsurpassed by any other periodical extant.

Its typographical execution shall be, in all respects, the best that the present state of the art will enable the publishers to produce.

The Democratic Review is got up on truly national principles, and with a disregard of expense never heretofore attempted in periodical literature; this has been predicated upon the firm reliance of obtaining a very large list of paying subscribers, and name this shall be accomplished, the enterprise will entail a certain loss to the proprietors.

Every cent of the profit of the expected circulation, will be required to sustain the work at its pres ent improved standard, and enable it to fulfill the destiny which is assumed for it-that of being a truly national periodical—the organ and a worthy representative of the literature of American Democracy

The publishers fearleasly throw themselves on the Democracy of the Union for support. Upon them will depend to a great extent the success of so great an undertaking. The Publishers and Editor can, and indeed wish, to do more than bring the plan and the work fairly before the public. they have done-the numbers already published are admitted on all sides to be worthy of the cause.
