

Poetry.

From the New Monthly Magazine.
COUSINS.

Had you ever a cousin, Tom?
Did your cousins happen to sing?
Sisters we've all by the dozen, Tom,
But a cousin's a different thing; And'd find, if you ever kissed her, Tom,
(But let this be a secret between us,)
That your lips would have been in a buster,
Tom,
For they're not of the sisters' genus.

There is something, Tom, in a sister's lip,
When you give her a good-night kiss,
That savors so much of relationship,
That nothing occurs amiss;
But a cousin's lips if you once unite With yours, in the quietest way,
Instead of sleeping a wink that night,
You'll be dreaming the following day.

And people think it no harm, Tom,
With a cousin to hear you talk;
And no one feels any alarm, Tom,
At a quiet cousinly walk,—
But Tom, you'll soon find, what I happen to know That such walks often grow into straying
And the voices of cousins are sometimes so low,
Heaven only knows what you'll say,

And then there happens so often, Tom,
Soft pressures of hands and fingers,
And looks that were moulded to soften,
Tom,
And tones on which memory lingers That long ere your walk is half over, the strings
Of your heart are all put in play,
By the voice of those fair demi-sisterly things,
In not quite the most brotherly way.

And the song of a sister may bring to you
Tom,
Such tones as the Angels woo:
But a fear if your cousin should sing to you
Tom,
You'll take her for angel too;
For so curious a note is that note of theirs,
That you'll fancy the voice that gave it,
Has been all the while singing the National Air
Instead of the Psalms of David.

I once had a cousin that sung, Tom,
And her name may be nameless now;
But the sound of those songs are still young
Tom,
Though we are no longer so;
For I fully dream of a bower of green,
And there is not a leaf on the tree—
But I sit walking, and singing that cousin has been—
God forgive her! the ruin of me!

And now I care nought for society, Tom,
And lead a most anchorite life,
For I loved myself into sobriety, Tom,
And out of the wish for a wife;
But oh! if I said but half what I might say,
So sad were the lessons 'twould give,
That 'twould keep you from loving for many a day
And from cousins—as long as you live

REMEMBRANCES.

I remember, I remember—Thos. Hood
May go wof howl, no screech-owl stir
A wing about thy sepulchre;
No boisterous winds or storms come hither
To starve or wither Thy soft sweet earth. But like a spring, Love keen it ever flourishing. HENRIC.

I remember, I remember,
The church-yard still and lone,
And the grave of the loved one resting there And the white sepulchre stone.

The ring she gave, and the lock of hair,
And the glance of her glazed eye;
And the press of her palid lip to mine,
And her last, low fainting sigh.

I remember, I remember,
The bearers' moving slow;
And the coffin borne on the pall hung bier,
And the mourner's depth of woe.

The open grave and the gathering round,
Of the kindred of the dead;
And the rattling sound of the falling earth,
And the tears in silence shed.

I remember, I remember,
The hour when first we met,
And the sweet low voice, which answered me,
Rings in my memory yet.

The lonely walk, by the clear brook side,
And the song in the shady grove;
The garland which I wore for her,
And the vows of our plighted love.

OSCA.

He who tells a lie is not insensible how great a task he undertakes; for he must be forced to invent twenty more to maintain that one.

It is absurd to think of passing through life without a jest.

State Capitol Gazette.

Two Dollars for the Session—in Advance.

The undersigned embraces the present opportunity of conveying to his friends and the public, his sincere acknowledgements, for the very liberal patronage which they continue to extend to the State Capitol Gazette; and in his future course he shall use every endeavor to merit their approval of which he has the best evidence in their generous support of the paper. The approaching session of the Legislature will be one of deep interest and importance to the people of Pennsylvania. The election of a State Treasurer, and a United States Senator, and the adoption of an Apportionment Bill, are among the important acts to be performed by the Legislature; and they will engross much feeling and deliberation. With the hope of increasing the usefulness of our paper, we have made ample arrangements, as well for reporting the proceedings of both branches, as for presenting them to our readers at the earliest possible period. We have engaged the most competent Reporters, and our publication will embrace full details of what may transpire in either branch during the session. In many instances we shall give a full report of the debates, and in every instance we shall produce such a synopsis of the discussions, as will convey to the constituent, the course and zeal of his representative. In addition to this, we have employed an able and attentive correspondent at the seat of general government; and our readers may anticipate, not only the earliest and most correct information in regard to the doings of the administration, and the plans and operations upon the political chess-board.

It may be well enough to reiterate, what we stated on assuming the sole ownership and control of this paper, that its political character will remain unchanged. We were educated in the school of Jeffersonian democracy—we have always zealously contended for the principles we then imbibed, and under the broad banner of equal rights, we shall be found rallying, faithfully defending our beloved doctrines, and our hallowed institutions. As an organ of the democratic party, we shall exert every zeal and ability to maintain its usages and principles, and secure the success of its candidates. As a sentinel upon freedom's watch-tower, we shall always be found vigilant and energetic in guarding the rights and liberties of the people; and as a journalist, our columns will contain that quantity and quality of intelligence which cannot fail to please and instruct the general reader.

With these professions of enterprise and declaration of principles, and with renewed assurances of our gratefulness, for the liberal support extended to us, we pledge our zealous exertions to deserve a continuance of the patronage of an enlightened public.

TERMS.

The State Capitol Gazette will be published cle belonging to a Drug Store.

Legislative Keystone

TWO DOLLARS FOR THE SESSION.

The KEYSTONE will, as usual, be published twice a week during the session of the Legislature; and as we shall spare neither pains nor expense in giving full and accurate reports of the proceedings of the two Houses, together with sketches of the debates on all public and important questions, we hope to receive a liberal support from the reading public. The coming session of our Legislature will be one of more than common interest, and persons desirous of obtaining early and correct information from the seat of government, will find it to their advantage to take the Keystone. To lawyers, judges, justices of the Peace, and public officers generally, it will be invaluable, as all the laws of a public and general nature are published in it immediately after their passage, and fully three months before they will be promulgated in any other manner. We shall also have an able correspondent at Washington city, who will keep the readers of our paper apprised of all that is doing at the seat of the National Government.
