

WHAT AM I.
Daw Jr. the eloquent preacher of short patent sermons, answers the above question to this wise—
When I ask myself the question 'What am I?' it puzzles me how to answer it. Materially speaking, I am a sort of increased humanity—a small barrel of the unstrained oil of nothing, thickened into substance by accidentally coming in contact with a cold congealing world. Chemically speaking, I am a compound of phosphorous, gas and atmospheric winds, as most of you have, doubtless, long ago discovered. Mechanically speaking, I am an old clock, made, wound up and set in motion some several years ago by the Great Clock maker of the Universe. I was made to run 70 years; at last, if Fate and Fortune will only keep my finer works in order, I shall expect to keep going till my weights have run the full length of their chords. Morally speaking, I am an equal mixture of vice and virtue—a kind of vinegar and molasses mess. Soberly are they mixed together that the vinegar of vice is not so sour as to be unpalatable, nor the molasses of virtue so sweet as to be sickening. My feelings are as tender as young teal stools—my passions are as strong as a decoction of tobacco juice—my sympathies are as soft and downy under an angel's wing—and my desires for the proportion of human happiness are just as I happen to feel about the head and neck of a turkey.

Metaphorically speaking, I am a toy thing of time, played for a short period and then cast among rubbish, a foot ball of fate, kicked about till I burst, and am no longer worthy even of a kick; wind mill of excitement, that moves with the popular breeze, but is still in a calm, and a correct thermometer, my mercury rising to summer heat by the warm rays of hope, and sinking to below zero in the cold atmosphere of doubt, a mean yellow candle, already burnt one third of its way to the socket, and every moment in danger of being extinguished by the sufferers of Death; an old boot, worn by a pilgrim, with a wooden leg, over the rough road of existence, till it is neither worth feeling, patching nor pressing. In fact, my friends I don't see that I am of any more use to the universe (considered as a whole) than a shovel of powder to a ten acre cornfield. When I am dead and gone, I shall be as a thing that never had been; and the children of posterity will probably shoot marbles across my grave, as unconscious of their sacrilegious doings as a parcel of mice gnawing at the grey leaves of an old and favorite family bible.

Mrs SPITZIZELLE'S SCHOOL.—The school taught in Squibbown, by Miss Helena Juliana Augusta Irene Spitzizelle, is conducted on the purest principles of mild, only modesty and delicacy.
Miss Susan Sniffles, spell shawl
School—shawl
No—'tain't right
School.
No, try again
School.
Laloo, that ain't right. Susan, what do you put round your neck?
My beads, mam.
What else?
My new lace cape, mam
Pshaw! Did you go to church last night?
Yes mam
Well, now, what did you have round your neck, besides the cap and beads, just before you started?
O dear me, I can't tell
Stilly child. Recollect now, for you must tell
I am afeered to, mam
Afeard to? What nonsense. Tell it right out. Miss. Or I will give you black mark.
Well, then, Jim Smith, the carpenter man, but it was only once.
Good gracious, lordy me! Why the child is ruined, O, la! Did I ever hear the like? Go right into the closet, Miss Susan Sniffles this minute.
Elasticity of a Jew's Conscience.—What do you axe for that coal? said an Irishman to a Jew on Main street yesterday as he flirted up the tails of a calico coat, whose texture you might in all probability have darted straw through—cheap and nasty like the People's texture.
'Var you want to buy that coat, tell you sell have it for three dollars, cheap as dirt.
'Three dollars! be faggers, I can buy them for less nor that on Waters street.
'Well, cum in, I sell 'em cheaper nor any store in this city, by got; now, var! ill you give for 'em? I sell it to you for two dollars and a half not a dam cent less, so help me got!
'Be dad I shan't give that for it, I'll give ye a dollar and half and not a d—d cent more.
Well, dat ish too bad by got to expect me to sell you a coat vnter me two dollar and a half in New York for the case for one dollar and a half ish too bad.
Well by my troth if yees can't sell it for that I shall take it at all!
'Stop, I sell it for two dollar—not a d—d cent less so help me got.
'De! a bayroth more will ye get for this a dollar and a half.
'Come back, you shall take it for one and seventy five!
'Say the dollar and a half—
'Well take it along—by got it is too cheap, I wouldn't sell it to nobody else for get price; so help me got.'

LADIES' AND GENTLEMEN'S MAGAZINE FOR 1845.
GRAHAM'S MAGAZINE has long enjoyed the enviable reputation of being the best periodical in the U. S., both in the quality and number of its embellishments, and in the tone of its literary matter. It is the cheapest as well as the best. For the year 1844 the publisher has given about 100 pages more original matter than any of his contemporaries more original steel engravings, in addition to fashion plates and colored flowers. The cheapness and merit of a three-dollar magazine over all others are apparent, which has made an outlay of Seven Thousand Dollars greater than other magazines for the year 1844 the publisher has given about an addition of engravings over other magazines that would embellish the costliest Annual. The publisher is however satisfied that nothing but real excellence can maintain the high position his Magazine has attained in the United States.
The publisher does not hesitate to say that he defies all competition with Graham's magazine for 1845. His immense subscription list, the high order of the engravers engaged, the number and variety of elegant plates already purchased and on hand, and the immense facility which his capital and position give to promote the work, render any efforts at rival a matter of ridicule, every number of the work issued, bears with it the evidence of its triumphant success, and establishes the impossibility of successful competition, improves and extends for good works, that nothing of a humbug order will be tolerated.
Every number of Graham's Magazine is issued at a cost of nearly $4000—the plates alone consisting nearly half the sum most of the plates are from Original American Paintings, executed expressly for the proprietor, for engravings for the magazine. Among the pictures painted for the volume for 1845, are two by Sally, the greatest artist, several by Leutze, Chapman, Inman, Conaroe, Rotzheimel, Thomson, and others of the best artists of America. The cost of getting up embellishments in this style may be estimated when we state that some of these pictures cost $200 a piece, and will cost us some of them three times that sum to have them engraved and worked off for the edition of 'Graham's' But no cost shall be spared to keep our proud position at the head of the Periodicals of the world.
GRAHAM'S ELEGANT EMBELLISHMENTS.
The most splendid engravings of all sorts lend their charm to the pages of Graham's magazine. Everything in the way of novelty and beauty that has ever been invited is laid under contribution. Nothing that capital and taste can supply is omitted. First, as the most elegant and appropriate, as well as the most popular embellishment, we place Sartain's Brilliant Mexican Engraving.
We were the first to introduce this beautiful style of work, as a regular embellishment of the popular monthly. Its wide spread reputation thro' the means of our amulet, called forth a host of imitators, but up to this time nothing has been produced to rival the glorious pictures given in Graham's 'The Shepherd's Love' and 'The Coquette.' These with a host of others, done for us by Mr. Sartain, stand 'unprecedented and alone' at the head of American engraving. We have several of these immortal plates under way, and shall give one in the January number.
TO POSTMASTERS AND OTHERS.
The high merit of Graham's magazine considered the publisher states himself that the following liberal terms will induce thousands to subscribe.
TO CLUBS.
The following proposals are made—2 copies for $5; 5 for $10; 8 for $13; 11 for $20.
'To the Postmaster, or other persons forming a club, the Publisher will forward a Novel for every subscriber sent, so that by varying the books, a complete library may be obtained by any person in a short time.
Single Copies, three dollars per annum in advance. And to the person sending the money, a copy of 'Ringwood the Rover,' Herbe's great Novel and also a copy of 'The Game of Art and Beauty,' a beautiful work for a lady's Gentle Table, containing thirteen splendid steel and mezzotint Engravings, will be forwarded gratis.

In fact, whatever offer is made, by any other Family Journal, at all approaching in worth, value or pretensions, to the Saturday Courier, will be furnished by us.
The Courier has become so well and favorably known through a triumphantly popular course of fourteen years, that it would be superfluous to say much of that subject here. We may remark however, that to the industry, talent and enterprise, which have for years kept this paper a bright mirror for all its imitators, will constantly be added the productions of every available writer, and continued judicious and liberal expenditures will continue to be made, as well in the Literary as the Typographical departments. Our means will always enable us to be in advance of all others, and we shall be so.
Histories of Modern Republics.—A new and important announcement for the coming year, in addition to our already numerous popular features, will be a series of Condensed Histories of Modern Republics, by a fresh and vigorous writer, who will impart a world of important instruction to the rising generation, in this new and entertaining Romance of History.
Biographies and notices of Distinguished Literary and Scientific Men.—Among the interesting essays and sketches of value, which we shall continue to present in the Courier, will be a full and interesting account of the rise, progress, and present elevated standing of all distinguished men, of the Past and Present, (at home or abroad,) in all departments of Art, Science, Literature, Statesmanship, Poetry, Mechanics, Planting, Agriculture, Printing, Mechanic Arts, &c.
This will be a very interesting feature for the Young. It will be a department of the Courier, which it has ever been our aim to render of inestimable value to those for whom we feel to drop no interest as we do for the Young and Old, our great and growing Country, The Lives of Distinguished Men are of much value to those who are yet forming their own character for the purpose of emulating their past, correctly, on the Great Stage of Human Life.
Indeed, we hope that this Department of the Courier will be worth more (each year) to every family who have sons and daughters to be reared, than five times the amount we ask for a year's subscription to the Saturday Courier.
Incidents, Histories, Scenes, Battle Grounds, &c, of the American and other Revolutions.
Under this head, (which is, by the way, not at all new in the Courier,) we will hereafter give graphic and interesting accounts (occasionally beautifully illustrated) of the killing incidents so produced (through the daily important history of the American Revolution, and of all other revolutions that we may regard of the last interest of value to the readers of the Philadelphia Saturday Courier. This will be of deep consequence, also, to every member of any family of the American Republic, who may choose to do themselves, and to the favor of securing regularly, the visits of the Courier at their Family Fireside.
POPULAR TOPICALITY.—To qualify the growing appetite for better knowledge of the important features of our great and glorious country, our past exertions shall be redoubled in future to present vivid pictures of American cities, towns, mountains, lakes, rivers, canals, scenery, &c.
Our good domestic Tales, Essays, Fables, &c, will continue regularly to be furnished by the hands and pens in the country. These classic productions are acknowledged to be the best, for useful but not in the family circle, that appear in any periodical.

Where the state of the system does not harmonize with the above picture of health, it is of greatest importance that no time be lost in seeking for a doctor, or in the use of foolish remedies, often the result of speculation; instead of this, to take a dose of BRANDRETH'S PILLS for the health of the organ or part that requires it.
All who wish to preserve their health, all who are determined to defend their life against the encroachments of disease which might send them prematurely to the grave, will, without hesitation, have recourse to the Brandreth Pills, when the state of the system does not harmonize with the above picture of health.
Those who live in a country where contagious or other diseases prevail, should often think of this picture of health, and observe himself with particular attention, in order to act accordingly. The rise and rightly directed will follow this advice, he wishes we left to their own obstruction.
