

GRANADA.

The most remarkable object in this ruined capital of the ancient Moorish power and splendor is the Alhambra. The external appearance of this renowned palace is as remarkable for meanness and deformity as its internal structure is for richness and grace. It is precisely what Swinburne describes—a heap of ugly buildings as can well be seen, all huddled together, seemingly without the least intention of forming one habitation out of them. The roof is covered with deeply channeled tiles. The walls are built in a slovenly manner, and coarsely plastered. There is not the slightest attempt at external ornament—no symptom of regularity of design—so that the whole mass looks like a confused heap of coarsely finished barns and granaries. I know not whether the external ugliness of Moorish palaces is the result of design, and in order to increase the effect by contrast of the taste, beauty, richness, and symmetry within. Certainly the effect thus produced, is absolutely startling, and the surprise one experiences on entering literally bewildering. The suddenness of the change appears like enchantment. By and obscure and rudely finished door, and through a dead wall, the construction of which would discredit a farmyard, we are ushered into a palace which might rival the most brilliant description of eastern romance. I shall not attempt to describe this singular edifice. No description, indeed, can convey the slightest idea of the building, either in the arrangement of its apartments or in its decorations. They are altogether unlike any thing with which the eye is familiarized in European architecture; and the very names by which we should be forced to distinguish the different compartments, would necessarily convey a false impression of their appearance. To describe the ornaments and decorations of this fairy palace, would especially be a hopeless task. The exquisite symmetry of the various courts and halls, the singular lightness and elegance of the slender marble pillars, with their fanciful capitals and richly ornamented arches, the gorgeous coloring on roof and cupola, the tasteful minuteness of stucco lework on walls and ceilings, the pleasing variety of mosaic paintings, and the singular airy loveliness and most graceful richness of the whole, are things of which neither pen or pencil can convey any correct idea. The fresh loveliness of the brilliant decorations of the Alhambra, seems to mock the faded glories of its ancient lords. The perfect symmetry of the apartments, and the exquisite harmony of their decorations detract much from their apparent size. But though actually of larger dimensions than they appear, they are by no means of great size. Beautiful, and not grandeur, is the object aimed at by the Moorish architect; and the dimensions of the various apartments are admirably proportioned to the peculiar style of decoration. The light and elegant pillars, with their endless variety of capital; the fanciful and yet most graceful minuteness of the fretwork which adorns the wall; the beautiful, rich, but fanciful ornaments of the arches and ceilings; the carving and inlaying; the brilliant vermilion and azure coloring of the alcoves, would, in apartments of great size, be regarded as trippery and gingerbread. Here they are in perfect harmony, and accord so exquisitely with the style, dimensions and proportions of each apartment, as to produce a whole of unrivalled grace and beauty. The Court of the Myrtles, by which we enter the palace, is the plainest and has suffered much in its ornaments; but were it not for its proximity to the Court of the Lions, would be exceeding admired. The last is a most exquisite specimen of Moorish architecture—the open court—from which doubtless the Spaniards have derived their patio. The elegant and oft-described Fountain of the Lions, still shoots up its crystal jet in the centre of this splendid court. It consists of a double marble basin, on rising on a pedestal from the centre of the other; and from the centre of this upper basin, the water overflows into the lower, and is discharged from the mouths of the twelve lions which support it. The lions are grotesque, mis-shapen, ugly brutes. The basins are of very elegant shape and workmanship, ornamented with sculptured festoons and Arabic inscriptions. It is said to have been constructed professedly in imitation of Solomon's fountain; to the description of which, it is King; it bears no small resemblance. It stood up, on twelve oxen, three looking toward the north, three toward the west, and three looking toward the south, and three looking toward the east and the sea was set above them, and their hinder parts were toward. And it was a hand-breadth thick, and the brim thereof was wrought like the brim of a cup, with flowers of lilies. The Court of the Lions probably presented the most finished specimen of architectural beauty and elegance in the world. According to Swinburne's measurement it is one hundred feet in length and 50 in breadth. It is surrounded by an open corridor of indescribable lightness and elegance, the roof of which rests on richly ornamented arches, supported by one hundred and sixty-four marble columns, curiously sculptured, and with a variety of capitals, that no two appear to be alike. The ceiling of the corridors is of carved wood, originally gorgeously painted in azure, vermilion and gold, and inlaid with ivory; but only enough remains of these decorations to prove their ancient magnificence. Three noble and gorgeously ornamented halls open from this corridor; namely, the Sala de los Abencerrages, or Hall of the Abencerrages, on the south; the Sala de los Dos Hermanos, or Hall of the Two Sisters, on the north; and the Sala de Justicia, or Hall of Justice, on the east.

EMBRACING the present opportunity of expressing his thankfulness to his friends, and the public generally, for the liberal patronage he has heretofore received, informs his friends and the public in general, that he still continues to carry on the above business at his old established stand, on the corner of Main and East streets, where he hopes, by strict attention to business, to receive and merit a share of public patronage as heretofore. He deems it unnecessary to go into the game of brag, or to use any soft sadder about his SKILL in the PROFESSION OF GARMENT CUTTING as his shop is of long standing, and his work he thinks will speak for itself, and far more loudly than words. But he would merely say that, he warrants his work done with neatness, durability, and in the latest fashionable manner, and will ensure a good fit in all cases.

WORMS KILLS THOUSANDS.

CHILDREN are most subject to them, but persons of all ages are liable to be afflicted with them. Bad breath, paleness about the lips, flippant cheeks, picking at the nose, wasting away, jaundice, pain in the bowels, joints or limbs, distended belly, frightful dreams, moaning and sometimes of voracious appetite, are among the symptoms of worms. Many are doctored for months, for some other imaginary disease, when one box of Sherman's Worm Lozenges would effect a cure. Dr. Ryan, corner of Prince street and the Bowery, cured a man of worms that was reduced to a skeleton, and by only one box of Sherman's Lozenges; he is now as fat as an Alderman. Th Hon. B. B. Beardslee has saved the life of one of his children by them. The sale of over 3,000,000 boxes has fully testified to them. They are the only infallible worm destroying medicine known. What family will be without them?

Consumption, Coughs, Colds, Whooping Cough, Asthma, and all affections of the lungs, will find a healing value in Sherman's Cough Lozenges. They cured the Rev. Richard De Forest, the Rev. Messrs. Jonathan Howarth, Esq. and that worthy old hero, Leonard Rogers, from the consumptive's grave. They cured in one day the Rev. Mr. Dunbar, the Rev. Mr. Handcock; Wm. H. Attree Esq. of distressing coughs. They are the pleasantest cough medicine and cure the soonest of any known remedy.

Headache, Seasickness and Vertigo, relieved or from five to ten minutes by Sherman's Camphor Lozenges. Persons attending crowded rooms, travelling will find them to impart buoyancy of spirits and renew their energies. Those suffering from too free living will find a few of the lozenges to dispel the horrors and looseness of spirits. Mr. Knath, of the Sunday Mercury, has repeatedly cured himself of severe headache by them. Sept. Chadwick, of the packet ship Wellington, has witnessed their efficacy in a great many cases of sickness. They operate like a charm upon the agitated or shattered nerves, as Sherman's Plaster Man's Plaster does upon rheumatism, lumbago, pain or weakness in the side, back, breast or any part of the body. Mr. H. G. Duggers, 303 Astor street; Henry R. Goulding; 324 Chatham street; Moses J. Henriques Esq. and a multitude of others have experienced the wonderful effects of these Plasters.

Price only 12 1/2 cents. Caution is necessary to see that you get the genuine Sherman's Lozenges and Plasters, as there are many worthless articles attempted to be palmed off in place of them, by those who would trifle with your life for a shilling.

HISTORY OF WYOMING BY CHARLES MINER.

SUBSCRIPTIONS are respectfully solicited for the forthcoming History of Wyoming. The work, now ready for Press, will make an Octavo volume of about six hundred pages, of which five hundred pages will embrace the main body of the narrative. The Appendix, besides a variety of curious and illustrative articles will contain the "Hazard Travellers," revised with numerous additions, personal anecdotes, incidents and sketches of character, making about an hundred pages.

The author thinks proper to say, that no pains have been spared to obtain information upon every point connected with this subject. He has flattered himself, as Wyoming has become classic ground, as unnumbered errors have heretofore existed in regard to its story, and as its very interesting civil character has been scarcely touched upon, that almost every gentleman would derive for his library, in respect to it, an authentic narrative.

The purpose of taking up subscriptions is to enable the author to judge what number of copies it would be proper to publish. The Book will be neatly printed in octavo form, on excellent paper, with several illustrative plates, bound in cloth, in modern style, and delivered to subscribers at Two Dollars a copy. No money to be paid until the Book is delivered. Subscriptions received at this Office.

He hopes by strict attention to business and a desire to please, to receive a liberal share of patronage. Country Produce taken in payment for work at the market prices. PROSPECTUS OF THE UNITED STATES JOURNAL.

By JESSE E. DOW & CO. The first number of our new paper will be issued this (first) day of May, with an entire new dress—new type, fine white paper, with other important alterations and improvements. The paper will be devoted to a fearless exposition of Democratic principles; it will zealously and unflinchingly oppose each and every effort to establish a mammoth monarchy bank and other mischievous corporations and consolidations of wealth, which subverts the rights of the people and undermines the pillars of the Republic; it will oppose an oppressive and anti-republican tariff system, the assumption of the State debts by the General Government and all other Federal principles which have an inevitable tendency to destroy public prosperity as well as individual happiness. Against all such political decisions we shall wage unceasing, uncompromising war.

The Farmer and Mechanic who produce all the real capital of the nation, will find in our paper an unwearied champion of their inalienable rights; the long cherished principles of the editors are to well known to the public to require any pledge on this point. To the Miscellaneous Department particular attention will be devoted, the Ladies will always find in our columns a choice selection from the current literature of the day, as well as original contributions from the most talented writers of which our country can boast. A general summary of Foreign and Domestic news will be furnished; a regular price current and a correct list of the price of stocks will also be given.

The conductors have already secured the aid and co-operation of a large number of the most distinguished literary and political writers of the day; arrangements will also be made, at the earliest period possible, to embellish our columns by the contributions of correspondents from abroad. With this brief and imperfect outline of our plan, we very respectfully submit our claims to an extensive patronage to the consideration of a generous public.

THEOPHILUS FISK, Editor. JESSE E. DOW, Editors.

Brandreth's Pills.

READ and understand! The time will come when the medicine, Brandreth's Pills, will be appreciated as they ought and deserve; it will be understood that Dr. Brandreth has the strongest claims upon the public. It is true that every individual who makes a trial of the Brandreth Pills, concedes them to be the best medicine they ever used. They are indeed a medicine about which there is no mistake. Their value in a climate so changeable as ours cannot be sufficiently appreciated. A free preparation is at once restored, thus they cure colds, and consumption is prevented. Those who have a redundancy of bile find them of the most essential service, and should there be a deficiency of that important fluid the Brandreth Pills have an equally beneficial effect. Often has this important medicine saved valuable lives in those regions where the deadly yellow fever was prevailing. A few doses taken immediately upon the infection being received into the system, will be of most certain to prevent any material inconvenience. And at no stage of this dreadful epidemic is there so proper a medicine as the Brandreth Pills. Let this medicine be universally used in this disease, and no loss of blood allowed, and few, very few, would be its victims. So it is with other diseases. Assist nature with this all important medicine to remove morbid humors from the blood, and do not resort to bleeding or mercury, and we shall have a very great scarcity of persons afflicted with chronic maladies. The feathered tribe—the animal kingdom—ever which we are the lords, are not afflicted with chronic maladies; neither should it be if it were not for our pride which occasions them. Follow nature. Use the medicine which harmonizes with her, which mildly but surely removes all the impurities of the blood, which strengthens the feeble, and yet reduces those of too full habit to a healthy standard. Let me again say that every department of the manufacture of Brandreth Pills is personally superintended by me, and that every box with my three labels upon it may be relied upon to have the beneficial effect described if used according to the directions accompanying it.
