

A SINGULAR RACE OF BEINGS.

The Paris correspondent of the New York Advertiser, writing of a visit to the great Royal Lunatic Hospital at Charenton, about seven miles from Paris, gives the following interesting account of a singular race of humanity found in a particular department of France:

As we went round the long galleries, Dr. Foville pointed out to us several persons whose heads were of a very peculiar form, more or less approaching the pyramidal; the face might represent the base, and the occiput the apex. Their foreheads were particularly broad and narrow. In reference to them, he remarked that this species of head was peculiar to a particular department of France, in the same manner as the flat-heads of the Indians are peculiar to our tribe. In this district more children die at an early age than in any other, the diseases being principally convulsions and other maladies which depend on the health of the brain. More insomuch come from this than from any other quarter of the kingdom, in proportion to the population; and finally more cases of idiocy, epilepsy, and the like, than elsewhere.—What is the cause? Evidently the peculiar shape of the head, which pervades the people of that whole region, who all participate in this deformity in a greater or less degree, without a single exception.—So universal is it, indeed, that some painters and sculptors, regarding it as the natural head of man, have drawn from this source their ideal of beauty, and fixed upon the stooping shoulders of their Venuses and Apollos, heads gracefully rising in tapering pyramids.

An investigation of this extraordinary phenomenon has been made, and the cause discovered. The Flat Head Indians are known to alter the form of their infants' heads, by pressure on the skull when its bones are in a more or less cartilaginous state, and not yet firmly united. From this fact it was suspected, that some such prank was practised on these children of France; and, sure enough, it had been found that mothers and nurses had been employed for centuries in the wholesale business of driving mad, maiming, and murdering the children of a particular district. This enormity has been committed by putting a peculiar cap upon the heads of their tender offspring, and fastening it tightly there by means of a strong band; and this simple cord has killed its hundreds, and diseased an entire region! With the Flat Head Indians the pressure is in another direction and may affect the intellect, while the nutritive organs are unimpaired. Dr. Foville mentions an autopsy made on one of those country women, who had the venous circulation so impeded that a large plexus was formed, for the accommodation of which a deep cavity was sunk in one of the lobes of the brain. So that from the silly ambition of improving the beautiful proportions of nature, men have succeeded in producing the valuable varieties of Pyramidal-heads, Flat Heads and Black heads.

THE WEALTH OF A COUNTRY DEPENDS UPON ITS FARMERS AND MECHANICS.
What is wealth? These things which are convenient and necessary to use, and which administer to our wants and comfort. Money alone cannot, therefore, be considered as wealth because if the articles or things above mentioned are not to be had not in existence, a man would be poor indeed though he was loaded with gold and silver. If he were hungry, and there was no bread to be bought, his gold would be of little service.

It is true, mankind, by common consent, have agreed that gold and silver should be the signs and evidence of property, or, in other words, the measure of property; and he who has a certain amount of it, has evidence of it for the very things which do, in fact constitute wealth.

Thus a man who has a hundred dollars in his pocket has a ticket, as it were, to entitle him to enter into the possession of 100 bushels of corn, or 100 yards of cloth, or 100 acres of wild land, or a yoke of oxen, or a horse and wagon, as the case may be. But if these things do not exist, and he needs them, his ticket is of no more use than if he had a ticket to go into the theatre and it should be burned down before he used it.

The elements, therefore, of wealth consists in material productions brought together, changed and modified by the hand of man, of the farmer and mechanic. Commerce, though necessary and honorable, is nothing more than the moving or changing of these productions from place to place. It is we are right in the position we have taken, that wealth consists in natural productions, changed and wrought upon by the labor of man, it follows that the country which possesses the most of the elements or materials to work upon a good soil; abundance of water power; forests of timber; quarries of different kinds of stone; mines, and beds of different kinds of material, &c, must have the most natural wealth.

It then requires the hand of industry and skill to put them together to form real, substantial wealth. This is the duty of the farmer and mechanic.

The more industrious and skillful this class is, the more wealth will be accumulated in the country. Do farmers and mechanics consider these things rightly? Are they not too apt to think themselves mere plodders and servants in the increase of wealth? And, indeed, is there not a false standard of respectability; too much in use in society, and are not the productive classes to apt too measure themselves by it?—This standard appears to be, idleness and a fine coat; and consequently, the moral man can be, and finer the dress the more of a gentleman. Not so. Respectability should consist in an improved mind and skillful and industrious hands. Moral qualifications being equal, he should have the most honor, who, by the combination of the efforts of his mind and physical powers, has contributed more largely to the increase of those things which constitute wealth.

ANECDOTE OF GEN. JACKSON.

A letter from Pensacola says that a gentleman sojourning there has amused his leisure hours in hunting up the legendary history of the place and has picked up the following:

Gen. Jackson, during his exploits in Florida, wishing to get the most accurate information respecting Pensacola, loaded up a country wagon with chickens and under the guidance of an Indian in the disguise of old clothes and a long beard made his appearance there as the pedlar of a rare species of game chickens.—Having demanded a pretty high price for his game chickens, he was long enough in selling them to gain a pretty thorough knowledge of the place, and finally returned without being suspected. Whether he succeeded in selling his chickens or not, he certainly succeeded in the principal object of his business.

If this is true, it is singular that it has not before found its way before the public but there are old citizens here who vouch for the story, and as every reminiscence respecting the 'Old Hero' is interesting at this time, I give you this for what it is worth.

Although the consecration of synagogues is too serious a subject to joke about, I cannot help relating an incident that occurred during the ceremonies. Every one who has been two days at a time in Baltimore, knows old old black Moses the ice cream man, who goes through the street, with his basket singing—

'Here comes old Moses— Poor old Moses!'

With his yi-yi-i-ice cream. Well just as the Rev. Mr. Isaacs was in the midst of a beautiful comment on the character of Moses and the prophets, the veritable old black Moses innocently passed along the street, and his 'poor old Moses' resounded through the synagogue. It even raised a smile some what on the countenance of some of the worshippers, whilst my old friends Jesse and David of the press actually bit pieces out of the rims of their hats to prevent breaking out into a merry laugh at the ludicrousness of the occurrence.—N Y Herald.

A curious Irishman, after overhearing part of a conversation about the 'western country,' on one of the New York Ferry Boats, replied, 'Faith, and ye'll not catch me yingling there before I've seen the place.'

A Cleanly shaved gentleman enquired of a fair demoiselle, the other day, whether or not she admitted mustaches. 'Oh,' replied the fair charmer, with an arch look, 'I invariably set my face against them!'

Very shortly afterwards, his upper lip betrayed symptoms of careful cultivation.

SAMUEL HAGENBUCH TO TAX COLLECTORS AND TAX PAYERS.

In consequence of a Circular, lately issued by the State Treasurer, directing that the State Tax still remaining unpaid, for the present and former years, must be paid into the State Treasury, on or before the second Tuesday in January next, and that every county, failing to pay its portion of State Taxes, shall be, after that time charged an interest of five per cent, on such amount as shall remain unpaid, and payments from the State Treasury, for school or other purposes withheld, until such balance with its interest is fully paid; we are under the necessity of requiring the several Tax Collectors of Columbia County to collect and pay over to the county Treasury, on or before the Third Monday of November next, ALL the State Taxes for former years which still remain unpaid.

The promissory with which our former Circular was responded to, by Tax Collectors and Tax Payers, by which the county Treasurer was enabled to pay into the State Treasury at that time required, the whole amount of State Tax due from this county, for the present year, induces us to believe, the Columbia county will not, on the second Tuesday of January next, be found among the defaulters.

Brandreth's Pills.

READ and understand! The time will come when the medicine, Brandreth's Pills, will be appreciated as they ought and deserve, it will be understood that Dr. Brandreth has the strongest claims upon the public. It is true that every individual who makes a trial of the Brandreth's Pills concede them to be the best medicine they ever used. They are indeed a medicine about which there is no mistake. Their value in a climate so changeable as ours cannot be efficiently appreciated. A free perspiration is at once restored. Thus they cure colds, and consumption is prevented.—Those who have a redundancy of life find them of the most essential service, and should there be a deficiency of that important fluid the Brandreth's Pills have an equally beneficial effect. Often has this important medicine saved valuable lives in those regions where the dreadful yellow fever was prevailing. A few doses taken immediately upon the infection being received into the system, will be almost certain to prevent any material inconvenience. And at no stage of this dreadful epidemic is there so proper a medicine as the Brandreth's Pills. Let this medicine be universally used in this disease, and no loss of blood allowed, and few, very few, would be its victims. So it is with other diseases. Assist nature with this all important medicine to remove morbid humors from the blood, and do not resort to bleeding or mercury, and we shall have a very great scarcity of persons afflicted with chronic maladies. The feathered tribes—the animal kingdom—over which we are the lords, are not afflicted with chronic maladies; neither should we be if it were not for our price which occasions them. Follow nature. Use the medicine which harmonizes with her, which mildly but surely removes all the impurities of the blood, which strengthens the feeble, and yet reduces the too full habit to a healthy standard. Let me again say that every department of the manufacture of Brandreth's Pills is personally superintended by me, and that every box with my three labels upon it may be relied upon to have the beneficial effect described if used according to the directions accompanying it.
