

'MY NAME IS HANES'

There are thousands of people in this country, who make use of the common expression, 'My name is Hanes,' when they are about leaving a place or party suddenly, yet few know from whence the expression is derived. A more common saying, or one in more general use has never been got up. We hear it in Maine, in Georgia, in Maryland & in Arkansas—it is in the mouth of the old and young, the grave and the gay—in short, 'My name is Hanes' enjoys a popularity which no other cant phrase does—be it our next care to give its origin.

Some forty-five years since, a gentleman by the name of Hanes was travelling on horseback in the vicinity of Mr. Jefferson's residence, in Virginia. Party spirit was running extremely high in those days. Mr. Jefferson was President, and Mr. Hanes was a rank Federalist, and, as a matter of course, a bitter opponent to the then existing administration and its head. It was not acquainted with Mr. Jefferson, and accidentally coming up with that gentle man, also travelling on horseback, his party zeal soon led him into a conversation upon the all-absorbing topic. In the course of the conversation, Hanes took particular pains to abuse Mr. Jefferson, calling him, all sorts of hard names, running down every measure of his administration, and poking the non-intercourse act at him as most outrageous & ruinous; ridiculing his gun boat system as preposterous and nonsensical—opposed his purchase of Louisiana, as a wild scheme—in short, took every leading feature of the day descended on them and their originator with the greatest bitterness. Mr. Jefferson all the while said little. There was no such thing as getting away from his very particular friend and he did not feel exactly at liberty to combat his arguments.

They finally arrived in front of Mr. Jefferson's residence, Hanes, of course, not acquainted with the fact. Notwithstanding he had been vilified and abused 'like a pickpocket,' to use the old saying Mr. Jefferson still, with the true Virginia hospitality and politeness, invited his traveling companion to alight, and partake of some refreshments. Hanes was about getting from his horse, when it occurred to him that he should ask his companion's name. Jefferson, said the President, blandly, 'What! Thomas Jefferson?' 'Yes sir; The man I Hanes,' said President Thomas Jefferson, continuing the astonished Hanes. The same, rejoined Mr. Jefferson. 'Well my name is Hanes!' and putting spurs to his horse he was out of hearing instantly. This, we are informed, was the origin of the phrase.

IT HAS PERFECTLY CURED ME.

PHILADELPHIA, December, 1837. To Dr. D. Jayne—Dear Sir—The astonishing and miraculous beneficial effects your valuable EXPECTORANT had on my neighbor, the Rev. Mr. Rushing, made so favorable an impression on my mind, that after consulting with several friends, and learning that you were a regular Practitioner of Medicine, I called upon you, and purchased half a dozen bottles, and told you that if I lived it takes them, you should have a good report from me. I am alive and well this day! Thanks be to a merciful God, and your Expectorant. I now I come forward cheerfully to fulfill my promise.

For twenty long years had I been a constant sufferer from the effects of a hard, dry cough, pain in the breast, and difficulty of breathing; the last five of which, chills and fevers, every spring and fall, added to my misery. I was worn away to a mere skeleton; with the greatest difficulty only could I get up and down stairs, my appetite was gone, and my strength had so far failed me, that my friends were persuaded I could not survive many weeks, unless I obtained relief. Indeed, sir, my situation was perfectly miserable to myself and so distressing to my family, that I felt willing to take, whenever it should please the Master to take my home. But I heard of your medicine, and relief came. Yes! it proved the Balm of Gilead to my poor afflicted body. Before I had taken one bottle, I experienced a mitigation of all my symptoms and to my great joy I found in the continued use of it the happiest relief. In short, IT HAS MADE A PERFECT CURE OF ME—and I can truly say, I have no desire to be better.

With everlasting gratitude, I am dear sir, your obliged friend. MARY GILL. Corner of Ross Street and Germantown Road, Phila.

NEW SERIES OF THE CONGRESSIONAL GLOBE AND APPENDIX.

TO BE STEREOTYPED.

The undersigned originated the mode of journalizing the proceedings of Congress, which presented them entire. Their publication was the first and only one that gave each successive step in every measure to both branches of Congress; a brief of all debates, every important vote; and an Appendix including at full length all the revised speeches delivered during the session. The work thus conducted by them is a most perfect political history. The Senators from the States and the Representatives from every section of the Union bring with them into Congress a knowledge of the feelings, sentiments, and interests of their several constituents. Public opinion and the public information, as it exists among those they represent, are embodied by them, and in the crucible of Congress the wisdom of our times is brought to its test, and is there concentrated, in directing the political movements of the whole country. The impetus thus given through Congress from every quarter react upon the nation as a whole, and all its component parts are made to move in co operation. The press cannot be more usefully employed than in condensing and again spreading abroad the intelligence of our free country; tending to such happy results through our almost unobscured State and National institutions.

Having identified ourselves with the plan of advancing the usefulness of Congress by publishing full and impartial reports, and having a large mass of the Congressional Globe and Appendix, issued during the last year, which would be impaired in value to us and utility to the public if the work were discontinued, we have a double motive to prompt us to extend it through a new series. We are resolved if possible to give it permanence, and to hand it down to successors as a standard work worthy of being maintained and improved. We shall enter upon our new undertaking without being distracted or burdened by any associate labors of the press; and, unencumbered, shall hope to make the new series a step in advance of the former in all points of execution. With a view to accomplish this, we shall be (one or the other) always in attendance in Congress—and compare the manuscript of our own reporters with the daily reports of the city papers—correct all by our own observation and knowledge of the proceedings; and in important matters, where that will not assure us of the fidelity of the reports we will procure the aid of the members themselves, to obtain the exact scope of their remarks. The work, thus authentic, will be stereotyped, which is a guaranty that we will make as perfect as it is possible for us to make it, we would not incur the expense of stereotyping it, if we did not feel confident of its superiority over all works of the kind which have been or are likely to be published. Stereotyping the work will enable us to supply lost or mutilated numbers, which we will do without making any charge for them.

The Congressional Globe is made up of the daily proceedings of the two Houses of Congress. The speeches of the members are condensed, to bring them into a readable length. All the resolutions offered, or motions made, are given in the mover's own words and the yeas and nays on all the important questions. It is printed with small type—breviter and non-feral—in a double royal sheet, in quarto form, each number containing sixteen royal quarto pages.

The Appendix is made up of the President's annual messages; the reports of the principal officers of the Government that accompany it, and all the long speeches of members of Congress, written out or revised by themselves. It is printed in the same form as the Congressional Globe, and usually makes about the same number of pages.

We print the numbers as fast as the proceedings of Congress furnish enough matter for a number of the Appendix a week; but during remainder of a session, there is usually sufficient matter for two or three numbers of each every week. The next session will be a long one, and it is supposed will be unusually interesting; therefore, we calculate that the Congressional Globe and Appendix will each be at least one thousand large quarto pages, printed in small type—breviter and non-feral. We publish complete indexes to both at the end of a session.

We have on hand the Congressional Globe and Appendix for the last twelve sessions of Congress of which five were long and seven were short sessions. Each session are bound together in excellent binding, with Russia backs and corners. Our prices for them, thus bound together are $5 a volume for a short, and $5 a volume for a long session, making $10 for a full set. Those who want their back volumes should apply for them immediately, as they are in demand. The last Congress subscribed for two hundred and twenty six sets, and it is probable that the next will subscribe for at least as many more, as the proceedings of Congress for the last eight years cannot be procured from any other source. Gale & Sexton, having stopped printing their Register of Debates in 1837 a few hundred copies of the first volume is all we have on hand.

The next session of Congress will be a long one, and, therefore, the Congressional Globe and Appendix should be $2 for the session, which is the price we charge for the unbound numbers of the past long sessions; but we have concluded to reduce the price, as follows, until the first day of next

January, after which time the Congressional Globe and Appendix will each be $2 for the session, and no deduction will be made on account of the number of copies taken.

TERMS.
For one copy of the Congressional Globe $1 50
For one copy of the Appendix 1 50
For four copies of either, or part of both 5 00
For twenty five copies of either, or part of both 25 00

The money may be remitted to our risk. It should be paid by the 15th of December, at farthest, to procure all the numbers promptly.

Proprietors of newspapers who copy this Prospectus, and send to us one copy of their paper containing it, shall have their names entered on our books for one copy of the Congressional Globe and Appendix during the session.

Our prices for these papers are so low that we cannot afford to credit them out, therefore no person need consume his time in writing for them and not sending the money.

Brandreth's Pills.

Read and understand. The time will come when the medicine, Brandreth's Pills, will be understood as they ought and deserve; it will be understood that Dr. Brandreth has the strongest claims upon the public. It is true that every individual who makes a trial of the Brandreth Pills concede them to be the best medicine they ever used. They are indeed a medicine about which there is no mistake. Their value in a climate so changeable as ours cannot be sufficiently appreciated. A free preparation is at once restored, thus they cure colds, and consumption is prevented. Those who have a redundancy of bile find them of the most essential service, and should there be a deficiency of that important fluid the Brandreth Pills have an equally beneficial effect. Often has this important medicine saved valuable lives in those regions where the dreadful yellow fever was prevailing. A few doses taken immediately upon the infection being received into the system, will, in all but certain to prevent any material inconvenience. And at no stage of this dreadful epidemic is there so proper a medicine as the Brandreth Pills. Let this medicine be universally used in this disease, and no loss of blood allowed, and few very few would be its victims. So it is with other diseases. Assist nature with this important medicine to remove morbid humors from the blood, and do not resort to bleeding or mercury, and we shall have a very great security of persons afflicted with chronic maladies. The feathered tribe—the usual kingdom—over which we are the lords, are not afflicted with chronic maladies, neither should we be if it were not for our price which occasions them. Follow nature. Use the medicine which harmonizes with her, which mildly but surely removes all the impurities of the blood, which strengthens the feeble and yet reduces those of too full habit to a healthy standard. Let me again say that every department of the manufacture of Brandreth's Pills is personally superintended by me, and that every box with my three labels upon it, may be relied upon to have the beneficial effect described if used according to the directions accompanying it.

TAX COLLECTORS AND TAXPAYERS.

In consequence of a Circular, lately issued by the State Treasurer, directing that the State Tax still remaining unpaid, for the present and last years, must be paid into the State Treasury, on or before the second Tuesday in January next, and that every county, falling to pay its portion of State Taxes, shall be, after that time charged an interest of five per cent, on such amount as shall remain unpaid, and payments from the State Treasury, for relief of other purposes, will be made only in the necessity of requiring the several Tax Collectors of Columbia County to collect and pay over into the county Treasury, on or before the Third Monday of November next, ALL the State Taxes for former years which still remain unpaid.

The promptness with which our former Circular was responded to, both by Tax Collectors and Tax Payers, by which the county Treasury was enabled to pay into the State Treasury at that time required, the whole amount of State Tax due from this county, for the present year, induces us to believe, that Columbia county will not, on the second Tuesday of January next, be found among the defaulters.
