

THE GARLAND
With sweetest flowers enrich'd,
From various gardens cul'd with care.

The Violet and the Rose.
ROSE.
Sad flower! why bloom'st thou here alone,
In solitude so sweet to thee?
Like you I would not be unknown,
Shut out from all good company.

VIOLET.
That very power that bids me bloom, Endow'd me with a humble mind;
I feel contentment sweet at home,
Which others rove abroad to find.

ROSE.
But look at my gay glossy dress,
And see if yours is half so fair;
And many a one I have heard confess,
No flowers with myself compare.

VIOLET.
'Tis true my dress is very plain,
To vie with you I don't pretend,
It ill becomes us to be vain
Of robes bestow'd us by a friend.

ROSE.
But see what a fine form is mine,
Beauty herself plays on my cheek,
Sure taste and elegance combined,
Have passed each flower myself to deck.

VIOLET.
Poor silly flower! who made thy form,
Who gave thy cheek that beautiful glow?
The hand that shields me from the storm,
The hand that planted me so low.

Though mean my dress, my face unfair,
Though here despised by thee, I bloom,
It is my choice, I would not dare To own thy charms, to meet thy doom.

Alas! sweet flower, those very charms
You boast may to your ruin turn:
This night from thy fond mother's arms Thou may'st be ruffin hands be borne,

Scarcely spoke this little simple flower, When lo! a stranger passing by Plucked the proud rose that very hour,
Upon his breast to bloom and die.

The Farmer's Song.
Air—"THE SEA."
A life on my native soil—
A home in a farmer's cot—
I'll never at labor recoil
And ask for no happier lot.

The city has no charm
With its turmoil and noise and strife;
O give me a snug little farm
With and notable wife.

A life on my native soil—
A home in a farmer's cot—
With my faithful team will I toil
And ask for no happier lot.

Gee up!—Gee up!—
Gee up gee up and gee O!

On my native soil here I stand, Midst blossoming fields around;
Where the air is pleasant and bland
And the hills with cattle abound!

The river is flowing by,
The boatman singing we hear;
And the laborers how they ply
While echo sends round their cheer!

How cheerful it is to view Whole valleys of waving grain
And the husbandman's jovial crew
With sickles prostrating the plain!

O, the song of my heart shall be While earth her sweet products shall yield,
The life of a farmer for me
A home in the forest and field.

VALUABLE DISCOVERY.
We presume few persons who have been observed the large amount of cinders thrown out and remarked its close resemblance to granite, trap, and other igneous rocks. If, therefore this vast mass of now worthless matter, can be formed into stone blocks to be used in building as is indicated in the following extract from a late foreign paper it will be indeed a valuable discovery.
We hope it will receive a fair trial:

Valuable Discovery.—A French mechanic formed the idea, that by subjecting iron dross to the slow cooling process which is known to produce a total change in the nature of glass, a new and useful species of might be obtained; and, iron dross, such as the large furnace yield, is a wholly useless substance, the announced successful results of his persevering attempts cannot but be matter of great interest, more especially at the present time, when the smelting furnaces of England are in a hitherto unknown state of activity. The object which the Frenchman sought to accomplish, was to impart to iron dross the compactness and hardness of granite, and, at the same time, to save the cost and labor which the hewing of the real stone requires. To this end, he contrived to jet the iron refuse, while in a fluid state, run into iron basins, which were previously brought to a red heat, by being placed so as to receive the superfluous flame which issues from the mouth of the furnace, and in order to insure the slow cooling, these forms are provided with double slides between which sand is introduced, which is well known to be a bad conductor of heat; the whole is again brought to a glow heat, and in like manner again cooled off. By this procedure, it is asserted the ingenious discoverer has succeeded in forming paving stones, flags, large building-blocks, and even pipes, of any given form, of a degree of hardness and polish equal, if not superior, to the best hewn natural granite, and at the most trifling conceivable cost.

JAYNE'S HAIR TONIC.
We have heretofore numbered ourselves among those who believed that the 'Hair Tonic,' prepared by Dr. Jayne, was one of the many quack nostrums whose virtues are never seen beyond the fulsome puff of their authors. We are willing, at length to make public acknowledgement of the error of our belief. An intimate friend, some two or three months since all the top of whose cranium was as bald as a piece of polished marble, mangle all our jesting and ridicule of the idea of attempting to cultivate so barren a spot, purchased a bottle or two of the Hair Tonic from Dr.
Jayne, and according to his directions, applied it. During the present week the same friend ushered himself into our presence, and uncovering his hitherto naked head, astonished us with a thin, tho' luxur-ant growth of hair, from one to two inches in length—upon the very premises we had believed as unyielding to cultivation as the trackless and that skirts the Atlantic. This is no puff, but it is religiously true, and to those who doubt it, the gentleman can be pointed out. What is more in favor of the 'Tonic,' the case here cited was not one of temporary baldness—no sudden loss of the hair—but was one of years standing, though the gentleman is but forty five years of age.—Philadelphia Spirit of the Times.

Cholera, Summer Complaint, Diarrhoea, Dysentery and all other derangements of the stomach and bowels, cured by Dr. Jayne's Carmine Balm.

New York, 8th month, 1st, 1838.
Friend Dr. Jayne—It gives me much pleasure to inform you of the result of a case in which I administered your Carmine Balm, and I consider it a matter of duty to thee and the public to give the following statements. Being called to visit a patient a few days since, I found he was vomiting and purging most violently, with severe Torment and Cramps in the upper and lower extremities, and also in the abdominal parities. The cramp was so violent, that it took four men to rub him incessantly to keep down the spasms, and to use his own words he said it seemed to him as if his bones would snap in two. There was also violent cholic pains around the umbilical region attended with severe distress. In short I considered it to be a case of genuine cholera. I found on inquiry the patient had been well the day previous, with a cough and the bowels. That six hours before I saw him he was seized with the complaint and had gradually got worse. The extremities were cold and he was nearly pulseless. I immediately gave him a spoonful of your Balm which in a few moments was ejected from the stomach, but on giving it a few times the stomach became settled and he expressed himself relieved. I then gave him a calomel and opium powder. In two hours from the time I saw him he felt quite easy and fell asleep, and slept well for five hours; but on waking the symptoms again returned. I directed more of the Balm to be given him when the disease subsided and the patient was convalescent. It took one bottle to effect a cure. I have also often witnessed the beneficial effects of the Carmine Balm in summer complaints and diarrhoea that I would be without for its weight in silver.

I remain thy friend,
