

THE PAYMENT OF THE STATE INTEREST.

The press throughout the State, in respect of party, have taken this important matter in hand, and seem determined to make a disinterested effort to preserve the credit of the Commonwealth. For our own part we have never ceased to labor in this good work and will continue to do so until the end is attained or hope dies out in disappointment.

We believe that great interests are involved in this measure, and the people will suffer morally and pecuniarily if we relapse into discredit through mere supineness. The State has given a pledge of her ability to meet her semi-annual indebtedness, and it is our bounden duty to ourselves, our creditors and to those who come after us, and upon whom our mantle fall, to redeem it.

We have heard it said by men who have enjoyed the bounty of Pennsylvania, and grown rich and ungrateful of her abundance, that she cannot pay her debt and that her people never intended seriously to try.

The immense wealth of country in soil and minerals is a silent answer to the first assertion, and our proverbial honesty a sufficient refutation of the slander. Pennsylvania's early effort to recur to punctual liquidation of her semi-annual interest, is an index of the earnest desire of the people and a guarantee of future fidelity.—Dem Union.

From the Nourigewerk (Mex.) Journal. We publish the following as among the many evidences which we are constantly receiving of the increasing popularity of Dr. Jayne's Expectant. We have no interest in "pulling" it—any further than we have a desire to promote the health and happiness of our fellow creatures, who are wasting away to their graves, for which this medicine is an absolute remedy. And in calling the attention of the public to it, we feel that we are in the faithful discharge of our duty. New Portland, Nov. 4, 1842

Mr. Pean.—Sir, I wish you to send me 2 bottles of Jayne's Expectant, and in this connection, I would say, that I deem it an invaluable medicine, and an article that no family should be without for a single day. I have used it for two years in my family, and have always found it a quick and efficient remedy for tightness of the lungs, produced by long protracted colds, which produce the short-breathing cough, the precursor of Consumption, in which it so frequently terminates in this climate. It properly and seasonably administered, it will effectually break up the most violent fevers, so frequently consequent upon them. I would most cheerfully recommend this medicine to the public in all cases of that nature, as invaluable. JOHN H. WEBSTER. CHOLIC and FRETTING of THE LUNGS. Every mother should have Jayne's Cardui. It is the very thing they need for their children, as it immediately cures the cholera and alleviates all irritation of the stomach and bowels. The above Medicine are for sale at the store of JOHN R. MOYER, Bloomsburg.
