

The Subversive Bill has passed both houses of Congress, and been signed by the President.

Advance of the Army.—The following letter from the Army to the editors of the New Orleans Delta, indicates that Gen. Taylor is about pushing for the interior with an expectation of further fighting:

MATAMORAS, July 6, 1846.

At length the monotony of the camp life is broken. We have received orders to strike tents, preparatory to moving forward to Camargo. All is life and activity in camp to day. We are waiting for the steamer Big Hatchee, which we momentarily expect to arrive, when we will embark on board of her and proceed fifteen miles above there, where we will be disembarked and wait until the Louisiana Brigade comes up, when we will be marched forward. The 7th Infantry U. S. A., commanded by Capt. Niles, is embarking for the same destination. The steamboat And, Big Hatchee and Troy, are here; and the enterprise, C, is in the lake. C begins to look like a new I have now no doubt but what we will very soon be in Camargo.

We spent the 'glorious 4th' most gloriously. The Boigade (Col. Walton and Mark's Regiment) were paraded and reviewed by Gen. Taylor and Smith. Gen. T. said to us that we would move forward to Monterey with the least possible delay; and that if we did not have another crack at the enemy, it would be because they out-travelled us, as he was determined to 'go ahead,' and he hoped and believed that we would not be detained any more.

Yours, truly, S. S.

We have a little later intelligence from the army. The steamship Fashion arrived at New Orleans from Brazos on the 25th ult. She brings verbal reports that there was a general movement of the troops up the Rio Grande.

Gen. Taylor remained at Matamoras sending troops forward as fast as his means of transporting them would allow.

Advised had arrived of the taking of Camargo without firing a shot. When the U. S. troops arrived at that place, Carrizal was on the opposite side of the river St. Juan, but offered no resistance.

Gen. Taylor had received advice by scouts that there were only about 300 troops in Monterey.

The general impression was that there would be no resistance offered to the U. S. troops this side of that city on account of the quietude of the enemy.

The impression is also gaining ground in the army that negotiations for peace are in progress.

It was said that Paredes was afraid to leave the capital on account of suspected attempts at revolution in his absence.

There was a report that Mr. Lumsden, of the Picayune, together with his party, had been cut off by the Indians, but it was not generally credited.

The volunteers were still suffering diarrhoea, but otherwise enjoyed good health.

INTERSEAL.

MARRIED.—On the 30th ult. by the Rev. William J. Eyer, Mr. GIDEON KRAM, to Miss ANNA CATHARINE CROMLEY, both of Monterey township.
