

THE GARLAND

SONG FOR THE WYOMING VOLUNTEERS

BY S. D. MINER.

Att—'Lea Rig'

Where Susquehanna pours her tide
In swelling murmurs to the sea,
Far where her waters narrow glide,
And gentle peace was wont to be,
A voice came up on air and wave,
That call'd on us to aid to bring,
And bade us gird our swords to go,
And show the blood of Wyoming.

Sweet vale adieu, where FRIENDSHIP'S tie
Has held our hearts a captive long,
Where gentle LOVE shall never die,
And 'ZURRI' embodied dwells in song,
Our thoughts shall gently turn them back,
To thee our fondest wishes cling,
And when the blast of war shall break,
We'll strike for thee fair Wyoming.

Though Palo Alto's fight is won,
And hush'd the shouts at Monterey,
E'er yet the blast of war is done,
We'll mingle in the glorious fray,
And side by side with patriot bands,
From distant lands, on vengeful wing,
A cry shall come will nerve our hands,
The shout shall be of Wyoming.

We'll gather laurels fresh and green,
And pay the tribute war shall claim,
And bid the dark and glorious scene,
Their be the ill that made the blame;
And when the toils of war are o'er,
And peace at last, her joys shall sing,
The lads that time and war shall spare,
Will seek thy shades sweet Wyoming.

HONOR TO THE PLOUGH.
Though clouds o'ercrest our native sky,
And seem to dim the sun;
We will not down in languor lie,
Or deem the day is done;
The rural arts we loved before
No less we'll cherish now;
And crown the barquet, as of yore,
With Honour to the Plough.

In these fair fields, whose peaceful soil
To faith and hope be given,
We'll seek the prize with honest toil,
And leave the rest to Heaven.
We'll gird us to our work like men
Who own a holy vow,
And if in joy we meet again,
Give Honour to the Plough.

Let Art, array'd in magic power,
With Labour hand in hand,
Go forth, and now in perils hour
Sustain a sinking land.
Let never Sloth unnerve the arm,
Or Fear the spirit cow;
These words alone should work a charm—
All Honour to the Plough.

The heath redress the meadow drain,
The latent swamp explore,
And o'er the long-expecting plain Diffuse the quickening store
Then fearless urge the furrow deep
Up to the mountain's brow,
And when the rich results you reap,
Give Honour to the Plough.

So still shall Health by pastures green
And nodding harvests roam,
And still behind her rustic screen
Shall Virtue find a home;
And while their bowers the muses build
Beneath the neighboring bough
Shall many a grateful verse be fill'd
With Honour to the Plough.

'Is that clock right, over there?' asked his visitor the other day.
'Right over there?' said the boy, 'taint'
nowhere else!'

WRIGHT'S INDIAN VEGETABLE PILLS.

It is hardly necessary to speak in detail, at this period of its history, the reputation of that medicine stand higher, and we may say that its reputation is likely to be more enduring. Adapted to all constitutions, to every form of disease, and to all climates, Wright's Indian Vegetable Pills are above every other medicine, fitted for the use of man under whatever circumstances they may be placed. At sea or on land, at home or abroad, in summer's heat and winter's cold, with a common regard to the conditions of health, and with Wright's Indian Vegetable Pills at hand, there is no excuse for being sick, unless the constitution be utterly irreclaimable.
As our object is to state where the genuine medicine can be obtained, rather than to give an extended notice—which our limits forbid—we shall merely mention one or two of the numerous testimonials that have just come to hand. Hundreds of the same kind might be added, but we are sure the public will save us the trouble of repeating them.
(Extract of a letter from Hernando, Mississippi.)
'To W. Wright—Your Pills have given me great benefit, and are justly very popular. I can sell from 30 to 40 dozen annually if I could be supplied.
Yours, Wm. Huxar, Junr., Agent.'
