The Child's Dream.

"Oh III have had a dream, mother, So heartiful and stranger Would I could sleep on, mother, And the dream never change !". "What hast then dreamed, my dear one? Thy Look is bright and wild; Thy mother's ear is ready To listen to her child."

"Ildreamed I lay askep, mother, Beneath an orange free. When a white hird came and sang, mother, So sweetly unto me; Though it wake me with its warbling, Its notes were soft and low, And it tesde me rise and follow, Wherever it might go.

*It led me on and on, mother, Through g over and realms of light, Until it came to oxx, mother, Which dazzled-'t was so bright. As tremblingly I entered, An angle form drew near, And bid me welcome thither,

Nor pain, nor sorrow tear.

"I knew not aught there, mother, Lonly Jell 't was bliss, And joined that white bird's song, mother, Oh! canst thou read me this?" "Yes, dearest, to thy mother Such happiness was given-The Holy Spirit was that bird, That grove of light was Heaven ?"

The New Year-

THE treshness of another year is about us, and we still continue the most favored nation on the face of the globe. We have, therefore, much cause for gratulation-much reason to thankfulness to the Supreme Ruler of the Universe-the arbiter of the destinies of nations as well as men-Never has a new year diwned upon this people and found them in a higher state of prosperity, or witnessed among them, so small an amount of littman suffering. The multitude are contented and happy-the season has thus far, been pleasant -while abundance of employment invites the labor of the industrious, and thus enables the poor man to witness the fagget biazing upon his hearth, and the smile of peace and healthfulness diumine the face of the little ones who surround

We are at peace, with all the nations of the earth -our commerce whitens every sea-our flag is every where respected-and in every section of the globe, the American citizen commands protection, and holds up his head with honor, proud of the land of his nativity. Our national treasury is filled to overflowing-the various members of the confederacy are still united together as a band of brothers, and it must be the prayer of every patriotic heart, that years upon years may pass away, and find them still free, sovereign, independent UNITED STATES.

On an occasion like the present, it becomes us to look back-to examine the deeds of the past, repentus of our errors, and endeavor to avoid their recurrence. Human nature, in its best and must exalted estate, is weak and talable. Our passions too frequently control the judgment, and plunge us into excesses from which, in our calmer and wiser moments, we turn with shame and sorrow. How has it been with you, gentle reader, during the year that has just departed! Have you nothing to repeat of-no unkind word to reeall-no broken friendship to renew-no act of immorality or crime to ask forgiveness for! Are you better, wiser, happier than you were this time twelve months? Let these questions be asked calmly and philosophically, and considered in the spirit of christianity, and the investigation may not prove altogether fruitless,

We are all traveling towards the same goal -Thousands who were here last year, are "dust and ashes" now. Thousands who creshere now, will e "food for worms" a year, bence. These ar plain facts by all admitted, and they are full of admountion. For what were we created, and whither do our footsteps tend. Half a century hence, and the majority of these who constitute the living and moving mustinde of the presen-Time, will be tenants of other spheres-the mortal part will have passed away, but what of the immortal-the soul-the spirit? It cannot be that like the poor insect that is crushed under the foot of the heedless passenger, there will be for man no hereafter. It cannot be, that his career will terminate here-that the principle imparted to dust at the beginning will not survive the existence of that dust. No he was recuted for hugher ends, with more emobling abjects, for a more immortal destiny. The action here, however, may-may, mile govern the destiny hereafter, This withere is but a trial place—an ordeal; a mere preliate to the growt drama of another life -and another world. But enough in this tone. A Happy New Year to you, and a reader -May Health attend your footsters and Contents ment sit smiling by your fire-ide .-

The prices of labor here will create surprise in the United States. Kannakes, or Sandwich Isllanders, the worst of laborers, are now employed constantly about town in storing and landing merchardise at a deliar an hour each; and the most indifferent laborers are hired by the week together at six or eight dollars per day. Mechanics obtarn, when employed by the day, eight or tendollars per day, and by the nonth about six. In a few days, as the sickly season is over, I presume wages will advance, for most of the laboring bases are returning to the mines.

It is impossible to give you a fair idea of the asuperable difficulties we all must with in any susiness which we are called upon to do. I can sest effect this, bowever, by stating facts for your nformation. I have just completed the repairs apon a Government lighter, preparatory to disharging the cargo of the transport ship Huntress. I attempted to hire a lighter to effect this, but could not get one capable of containing one hundred and twenty barrels, manned by two men, short of fifty dollars per day. I have had the master of the Government lighter employed for several days in getting a crew for her; and when he offers eighty dollars per month for sailers, he is hughed at, and told that a man can get that amount in the mines in one day! A few days since, I sent a wagon-master to employ some mento handle stores in the public warehouse. After searching about the town, in vain, for several hours he saw a man on the deck whom he felt sure of getting, for the individual in question did be har therey of this not seem to be blessed with a redworld's gear.
