POETRY.

The Wife to her Husband.

[The following admirable lines from the pen of an American lady, a member of the Society of Friends, appeared some years ago in the Sunday Times newspaper.—We are told that the poem was found in the house of a tippling gardner, whom it had the happy effect of winning from the haunts of dissipation to his own domestic hearth.—It is touchingly sublime, and tenderly pathetic.—Ed. Col. Dem.]

"You took me, William, when a girl,
Unto your home and heart,
To bear in all your after-fate
A fond and faithful part.
And tell me, have I ever tried
That duty to forego,
Or pined there was no joy for me
When you were sunk in woe?

"No; I would rather share your tears,
Than any other's glee;
For though you're nothing to the world,
You're ALL THE WORLD TO ME.
You make a palace of my shed,
This rough hewn bench a throne;
There's sunlight for me in your smiles,
And music in your tone.

"I look upon you when you sleep—
My eyes with tears grow dim;
I cry, 'O Parent of the Poor,
Look down from Heaven on him,
Behold him toil from day to day,
Exhausting strength and soul;
Oh, look with mercy on him, Lord,
For Thou canst make him whole!'

"And when at last relieving sleep
Has on my eye-lids smiled,
How oft are they forbade to close
In slumber by our child!
I take the little murmurer
That spoils my span of rest,
And feel it as a part of thee
I lull upon my breast.

"There's only one return I crave—
I may not need it long,
And it may soothe me when I'm where
The wretched feel no wrong:
I ask not for a kinder tone,
For thou wast ever kind;
I ask not for less frugal fare—
My fare I do not mind;

"I ask not for attire more gay—
If such as I have got
Suffice to make me fair to thee,
For more I murmer not.
But I would ask some share of hours
That you on clubs bestow;
Of knowledge, which you prize so much,
Might I not something know?

"Subtract from meetings amongst men
Each eve an hour for me;
Make me companion of your soul,
As I may saicly be;
If you will read, I'll sit and work,
Then think when you're away;
Less tedious I shall find the time,
Dear William of your stay.

"A meet companion soon I'll be
For e'en your studious hours;
And teacher of those little ones
You call your cottage flowers;
And if we be not rich and great,
We may be wise and kind,
And as my heart can warm your heart,
So may my mind your mind."

Agricultural.

Farm Work for January.

Felling Timber, Fencing Stuff, &c.

Early winter, let it be remembered, is the proper season for cutting all kinds of hard-wood timber while the sap is low, but that of pine should be cut late in spring, when the pores of the wood is filled with resin, or pitch. Get out your stuff for posts and rails, and fashion them into shape, in order that they may be in readiness to put up in spring. Cut and pile a sufficient supply of fire wood, this month, to last a year, in order to be hauled home when dry, as it is needed.

Threshing Grain, and Shelling Corn.—See that these are attended to, if not done before, and carefully stored, free from vermin or wet, in order to be ready for a favorable sale. If you have much of this work to do, money will be saved by procuring the best machines designed for this purpose.

Winter Ploughing.—Take advantage of every opportunity that offers during the winter months, and plow stiff soils intended for seeding in spring; but be sure and not meddle with such grounds while they are wet.

SHEARING OR CLIPPING HORSES.—We have seen specimens of this recently in the city, that would quite astonish the uninitiated. A long-haired, shabby-looking beast after being a few hours under the hands of the shears, comes out with a close, smooth shining coat, quite to the taste of the admirers of horse flesh. There are some advantages in this practice irrespective of the looks. The horse does not sweat so easily and when once wet, he dries more readily, and the tendency to colds is thereby materially lessoned.

A BRIGHT plowshare is the cheapest commodity ever used by a farmer.—Cobett.

TO DESTROY INSECTS.—Trenching the ground in autumn, or early winter, is one of the best securities against most subterranean insects.

COACH AND WAGON MAKING.

THE undersigned having associated themselves together in the above business at the old stand of B. F. Hayhurst, on Market street, in Bloomsburg, Pa. would respectfully inform their friends and the public generally that they continue the above business in all its branches and that they are now prepared to manufacture Coaches, carriages buggies fur-waggons, Sleighs, Wood-sleds and every thing in that line of business, in the latest and most approved style, of the best materials and in the most workmanlike and substantial manner.

John Case, will personally attend to the Blacksmithing part of the business, and as he has worked for William Sloan, from April 13th 1847, to August 24th 1848 the public have had some opportunity to judge of the manner in which he executes his work.

Jonathan Mosteller, an experienced woodworkman, will personally attend to the wood shop.

☞ Repairing will be promptly attended to, and no pains will be spared to give general satisfaction, and by a close attention to business they hope to merit and receive a liberal share of the public patronage.

JOHN CASE,
JONATHAN MOSTELLER.
