

Agricultural.

A word to the Disaffected.

Feeling a peculiar interest in that portion of the rising generation, who have been reared under the benign influence of agricultural occupations, and being also desirous of education, I present to you in the pages of my journal for expressing a few sentiments, which, I largely trust, may find a welcome response from a large majority of your younger readers.

The subject on which I propose a short dissertation, is one which to me, has frequently occasioned no small astonishment; and though, however strange may by others be regarded, is nevertheless, one whose lamentable reality demands an immediate consideration. I particularly allude to an alarming inclination among our country lads and lasses, to forsake the comfortable allotments of home, in exchange for the deceitful allurements of city employments. Infatuated with the mistaken idea of speedily enhancing their temporal welfare by engaging in some branch of an already overstocked trade, and "wonderfully tickled" by the vain novelties of the metropolis, they abandon their friends, and farms, pressing onward to the city, confidently anticipating the consummation of a thousand longings. The evident consequences of such actual migrations, concentrating in all our considerable towns and cities from every direction of the country, must, undoubtedly, be a marked decline both of wages and labor; and those who have unluckily sacrificed the independent pursuit of agriculture for this entire imaginary benefit, will almost invariably, sooner or later, find that, like Frankenstein's monster, they have paid dear for their whistle. Even under whatever advantageous circumstances they may perchance be situated in their new career, they are unavoidably constantly exposed and which daily threaten the ruin of the thoughtless and unguarded.

But I have no occasion for such a free dress; I had rather remain with my limbs all free, than be habited about singing chick-a-de-de. "Thou art one, my dear child, though I cannot tell who. Has clothed me already, and warm enough too, Good morning! Oh, who are so happy as we?" And away he went, singing his chick-a-de-de.

SPRING.

Across the barren mountains
I'm coming full of glee,
My magic wand is in my hand,
My step is light and free;
Beneath my feet sweet dowers arise,
And sparkle all the grounds;
The daisy's star, the cowslip's gold,
In plenty spring around.

The gentle zephyr is my breath,
With violets perfumed;
My nature is the wide, wide world
By palace's sun illumed;
My music is the warbler's song,
Amongst the cloistered trees;
My dancers are the budding sprays,
Flourishing in the breeze.

My voice is heard in every wind,
Or ev'ling's murm'ring sound;
My footsteps leave a trace behind,
Upon the barren ground.
My herald is the early lark,
From his misty bed;
The wild rose the eglantine
Make garlands of my head.

Away, away ye biting winds,
And leave me to my toil.
Touch not, thou sniping frost, the vest,
I tread upon the soil.
Sing on ye merry warbling choir;
Dance on ye trembling sprays
Awake, ye mortals and enjoy
Such happy vernal days!

Greenwood, March 13th.

COE OF MANURING AN ACRE OF CORN.

The following estimate of manuring an acre of Indian corn is from a practical farmer, of Hicksville, near Long Island Railroad, New York:—
14 cubic yards, (30 loads,) of horse dung, 1.62
66 bushels of unsieveld ashes,.....7.00
3,630 mosbankers, (fish),.....4.54
$13.16

The horse dung be applied in the hill, at the time of plowing a handful of ashes is spread around it, even at first hoeing; one fish is slightly covered with earth midway between the hills and lengthwise of the rows, in June or July. By this course of manuring, an acre will yield from 70 to 80 bushels of shelled corn, and will be in favorable condition for a crop of rye, buckwheat, or roots, the next season, without any more manure.

TURNIP SALAD.—The tender tops of turnips, that have sprouted in the cellar of vegetable heap, make a delicate and wholesome salad, particularly at a season when the variety of fine lettuce has not come. They may be dressed like any other salad, or eaten dipped in salt, as celery. They are excellent in any way; and you only regret will be, that there is not likely to be as many messes as you would wish for.

MORNING PLASTERS.—When a mustard plaster is to be applied, there should always be a piece of clean muslin or gauze placed between it and the skin, unless the contrary is expressly ordered by a physician. The mustard acts quite as powerfully, and the whole can be removed more quickly, and without the disagreeable effects of dropping it about.

Pennsylvania Cultivator and Mechanic and Lumber and Coal Register; Dr. Thomas Foster's editor, Foster & Co., publishers, Harrisburg, Pa., pp. 31 octavo, monthly. Price $1 a year. The Pennsylvania Cultivator is handsomely printed and illustrated, and abounds with highly valuable practical matter. With the publishers please to send us the CULTIVATOR.

Planting Shrubs and Fruit Trees.

As soon as the spring as the weather becomes favorable, gooseberries, currants, raspberries, and all other similar shrubs should be transplanted. Those that commence growing early should be attended to first. If care be exercised in removing and setting them, there will be little danger of their falling to take root.

LICHTNER AND EARLY PEAS, should be got in 25 cents per bushel, and now is a warm place, and give the rows a sprinkling of gypsum and common horse ashes, in equal proportions. As soon as the plants attain a sufficient size to render them easily discernible, apply the bon, and extract them every week from the beds, keeping them constantly clean, and irrigating frequently with soap suds, or rain water in which cow excrement has been mixed and macerated will tend greatly to promote their health and growth.

FAMILY CHRONICLE.

Song of the Snow Bird.

BY MISS GOWEN.

There ground was all covered with snow one day,
And two little sisters were busy at play,
When a snow-bird was sitting close by a tree,
And merrily singing his chick-a-de-de.

He had never singing that tune very long
Ere Emily heard him, so loud was that song,
"Oh, sister, look out of the window," said she,
"Here's a dear little bird singing chick-a-de-de."

Poor fellow! he walks in the snow and the sleet,
And has neither stockings nor shoes on his feet;
I pity him so! how could he must be!
And yet he keeps singing his chick-a-de-de.

"If I were a bare-footed snow-bird, I know
I would not stay out in the cold and the snow;
I wonder what makes him so full of his glee,
He woe all the time singing that chick-a-de-de."

"Oh, mother! do get him some stockings and shoes,
And a nice little frock, and a hat if he choose;
I wish he'd come into the parlor and see
How warm we would make him, poor chick-a-de-de."

The bird had flown down for some pieces of bread,
And heard every word little Emily said;
"What a figure I'd make in that dress!" thought he,
And he laughed as he warbled his chick-a-de-de.

"I'm grateful," said he, "for the wish you express,
But I have no occasion for such a free dress;
I had rather remain with my limbs all free,
Than be habited about singing chick-a-de-de."

"Thou art one, my dear child, though I cannot tell who,
Has clothed me already, and warm enough too,
Good morning! Oh, who are so happy as we?"
And away he went, singing his chick-a-de-de."

LANGENHEIM'S Daguerreotype Establishment.

Exchange, Third Street, PHILADELPHIA.

The Hon. Henry Clay, visiting the Establishment for the purpose of having a Daguerreotype taken expressed his opinion on this favorite place of the "beauty of the Fashion" of Philadelphia, and vast numbers of strangers resort to it to procure a really good Daguerreotype. The proprietors will make every exertion to extend the long established fame of this well known establishment. Family groups, groups of children, and single portraits of all sizes are executed equally well. April 13, 1848.—y.

BOOKS AND STATIONERY.

THE Undersigned, at No. 30 North Fourth street, two doors below the Merchants' Hotel, Philadelphia, offers to the Merchants of Columbia county, when they visit the city a complete assortment of Books and Stationery, which they are selling at unusually low prices.

They have recently added to their stock a splendid variety of Fancy Articles of the useful kinds, and also a large stock of very cheap and handsome Window Curtains and Wall Paper. Every variety of Soaps and Perfumery for sale.

HUGAN & THOMPSON,
Philadelphia, May 27, 1848.—y.

EVANS & WATSON, No. 76, South Third street (Opposite the Philadelphia Exchange).

Manufacture and keep constantly on hand a large assortment of the above articles, together with their Patent Improved Salamander Fire-proof Safes, which are so constructed as to set at rest all manner of doubt as to their being strictly fire-proof, and that they will resist the fire of any building. The outside cases of these Safes are made of boiler iron, the inside case of soapstone, and between the outer case and inner case is a space of some three inches thick, and is filled with an impenetrable material, so as to make it an impossibility to burn any of the contents inside of this Chest. These Salamander Safes are prepared and do challenge the world to produce any article in the shape of Fire Safes that will stand as much heat, and we hold ourselves ready at all times to have them fairly tested by public and general assent to manufacture a large and general assortment of our Patent Fire Proof Safes of which there are over 800 now in use, and in every instance they have given entire satisfaction to the purchasers of which we will refer the public to a few gentlemen who have them in use.

Haywood & Snyder, Pottsville; Joseph G. Lawton, Pottsville; McWilliam Carr, Doylestown; Pa. P. N. & G. Taylor, 123 North 4th St., A. Wright, & Nephew Vine St. wharf, Alexander Carrol, Conveyancer, corner of Filbert and 6th sts., John M. Ford, 32 north 3d st., Myers Bush, 20 north 3d st., James M. Paul 101 north 4th st., Dr. David Jayne, 8 South 3d st., Matthew T. Miller, 20 south 3d st., and we could name some hundreds of others if it were necessary. Now we invite the attention of the public, and particularly those in want of Fire Proof Safes, to call at our store before purchasing elsewhere, and we can satisfy them that they will get a better and cheaper article than at any other establishment in the city.

We also manufacture the ordinary Fire Proof Chests, at very low prices, cheaper than they can be bought at any other store in Philadelphia.

JOHN EVANS,
JAMES WATSON,
Sept. 14 1848-ly.

DR. SWAYNE'S CELEBRATED Family Medicines.

THE universal celebrity which this valuable medicine is gaining throughout the United States, and the many astonishing cures it is constantly performing, has proved it to be, beyond all doubt, the only safe and certain cure for pulmonary Consumption, Coughs, Colics, Asthma, Spitting Blood, Liver Complaint, Nervous Debility, Tickling or Itching in the throat, Bronchitis, Difficulty of Breathing, or any symptoms of Consumption.

If the bowels are costive, a mild purgative should be resorted to occasionally. Dr. Swayne's Sarsaparilla Pills will be found a valuable acquisition to the Wild Cherry, and will prove a valuable medicine where an aperient is required.—Dr. Swayne's Compound Syrup of Wild Cherry is a medicine which has tested the test of experience and it used according to the directions (as described in Dr. Swayne's Guide to Health) seldom fails. The above pamphlet is well worth a perusal.

ANOTHER HOME CERTIFICATE.

DR. SWAYNE'S Compound Syrup of Wild Cherry is all it professes to be the greatest medicine in
