

The Advance of the Cholera. We hope our citizens are directing their best energies to the immediate purification of Bloomsburg, wherever it is necessary.

The Cholera.—From all the information we can gather on the subject, we are of the opinion that this disease is becoming much milder in its course, and that the cases which occur yield much more readily to remedial treatment than when the malarial first made its appearance among us.

In the majority of instances of fatal termination, imprudence in diet has led to the attack. This fact should ward citizens to guard against a well known and common cause of the disease, and induce them to shape their course accordingly.

Cheerfulness of mind is at all times necessary to the preservation of sound health, and at this time it should be preserved as far as possible. Ordinary avocations should not be relinquished, or healthful amusements, whether mental or physical, neglected.

The disease is in St. Louis, it will be recollected. The B. publican of this place says on the same subject: "It prevails—and why? Simply because the provocatives of the disease are all found there in the offensive state of the yards, the streets, and the alleys, and the unhealthy condition of the houses and the number of persons crowded into them."

CONNUBIAL ECNDS. "The silken tie that binds two willing hearts."

MARRIED: In East-Sugarloaf, Luzerne Co., on the 15th inst., by the Rev. G. H. Day, W. M. F. ROBERTS, Esq., of Hazleton, to Mrs. H. JANE YOST, of the former place.

In Danville, on the 23d inst., by the Rev. Mr. Mitchell, Mr. JOHN J. McHENRY, to Miss SARAH E. LUNDY, both of Rohrsburg, Col. Co.

In Light-Street, on the 14th inst., by the Rev. J. A. Gere, Mr. GEORGE M. HAGENBUCH, and Miss CAMPASA, daughter of Jacob Mellick.

In Danville, on the 18th inst., by Eli Trego, Esq., Mr. PETER BURKE, and Miss EUPHEMIA KISNER, both of that Borough.

In the same place, on the 18th inst., by Rev. Dr. Yeomans, Mr. HARMON G. SHERRER, of Hemlock, and Miss ELIZABETH UNSTAD, of Mahoning.

THE SEPULCRAL URN. "Thou hast all seasons for thine urn, O' death!"

DIED: At Port Noble, Bloomsburg, on Friday, the 18th inst., Mrs. CATHARINE, wife Jacob Risewick, aged about 43 years.

In the same place, on Monday last, the 21st inst., Mrs. MARY, wife of John Risewick, aged about 45 years.

[The late, history and death of the two Ladies, whose obituary we record above, are characterized by rare coincidental circumstances. They were sisters—raised together, married brothers, lived near neighbors, died about the same time, and now repose, side by side, beneath the clouds of the valley. Their sickness was of very short duration, having been called, prematurely, by the embarrasment of the social family circle to another world, leaving the disconsolate husband and orphan to mourn the irreparable loss of the dutiful wife and affectionate mother.]

In Danville, on the 25th inst., MARY, daughter of John O'Conner, Esq., aged about 12 months.

In the same place, and at the same time, SAMUEL MIDDLETON, aged about 48 years.

In Pittston, on the 19th inst., Mrs. EVELINE M., wife of D. Alton, Esq., and daughter of Capt. S. Benedict, aged about 27 years.
