Agricultural.

How blest the FARMER'S simple life!
How pure the joy it yields?
Far from the world's tempestous strife,
Free, 'mid the scented fields.—Everest.

Practical Farming.

How general, yet absurd is the notion that practical farming means, and is, the rough and tumble application of manual labor to the soil: and waking at 6 o'clock in the morning to feed the cows and clean the hog pen. In those days when science was herself confined to schools, its application could not be made to farming, and without applied science there could not be skillful practice. But the time honored profession of the farmer, has advaced with the intelligence of the age. It is true that the wealth of Arabam, Laban and Job, consisted in their cattle, as also did that of the Ulysses. Latinus and Varro; and Cato considered them the most certain and speedy means of enriching a country; but a Lavoisier, in France, and a Buel, in our own country, have shown wonderful results of the assistance which all the sciences have given in developing the mysteries of every production of the soil. The truth is, that as art advances, the more assistance it is likely to derive from science. The time is not many centuries past, when the timid sailor, crept from headland, and trembled when perchance he saw but the sky above and the sea below—his badly constructed craft dared not venture upon the unknown and trackless ocean, but science raised up the trembling needle, and fear gave way to confidence. Tall ships dance upon the captive sea, unknown lands yield up their treasures to the skill of a Columbus. Geography readily paid her tribute to navigation, and the Heavens themselves telegraphed their dispatches of Celestial guidance to the experimental mariner, who ventured beyond the particular limits of his practical grandfathers. Laban raised kids and lambs, Ulyssses raised cows; Lavoisier raised crops, and Buel raised fruit. Laban had shepherds; Ulysses was a prince and a warrior: Lavoisier never worked out of his labratory, and Buel was more of a practical printer than a practical farmer. Probus a Roman general employed his soldiers planting vines in Europe; as Hannibal formerly employed his planting olives in Africa—and it has been said in our times, that the best cabbages come from Kinderhook. It is the love of science in its application to farming, that enjoys its noble and elevated pleasure. It is of him it can be said as of Cincinnatus:

"The Romans as historians all allow,
Sought in extreme distress the rual plow;
In triumph, for the village swain
Returned, to the Nobleman again."

☞ Married men, says a cotemporary, should ever be polite to their wives, for if they are not, other folks will be!

DEATH OF COL. JACK HAYS.—The Memphis Eagle published a letter from Galveston, dated on the 3d inst., which announces the death of Col. Jack Hays, of cholera, at San Antonio.

☞ At dinner yesterday we put this question to the guests. Which is the strongest, lie, or truth? A moment's consideration. Mr. Joseph Proctor answered, "Truth; for you may re-ly on it?"

APPLETON'S

GREAT CENTRAL

Cheap Book Store,

164 Chestnut Street.

Corner of Seventh, Swaim's Buildings, PHILADELPHIA.

KNOWING the wants of the community, the Proprietor of this ESTABLISHMENT has fitted up a store in the most elegant manner, having due regard to the comfort of his customers, so that every stranger visiting his Book Store, may feel entirely at home.

His Immense Stock

of Books is classified according to the various Departments of Literature, so that visitors can find the Books they are in search of for themselves. Buying his stock for the most part at the Auction Sales, and being connected with one of the Largest Publishing Houses in this country, besides publishing largely himself, enables him to sell ALL BOOKS at than any other house of a similar character on this continent. His facilities for the importation of Books from Europe are unsurpassed, having a branch of his Establishment in London, where orders of private gentlemen are carefully executed and forwarded to this country by every STEAMER and Packet.

Lower Prices

A Catalogue,

of Books with the prices attached is issued quarterly, containing Lists of New Additions made to his large collection, which are in all cases for sale at the

Lowest Prices

or, from 25 to 75 per cent. below Publishers' Prices. Thus in buying even a few Books, quite a considerable amount is saved.

As a still further

Inducement

to strangers visiting the city, every one who purchases one Dollar's worth of Books, will receive a copy of the STRANGER IN PHILADELPHIA, an elegant 18mo. volume, the price of which is 25 cents.

☞ The limits of an advertisement are too confined to enumerate the prices of any of the Books or to give even a faint idea of the IMMENSE ADVANTAGES to be derived from purchasing at the Great Central Cheap Book store, but let all who are in search of Books send for a catalogue, and buy the books they are in want of, and when in want of, and when visiting the city, give Appleton one call, and you will be sure to CALL AGAIN.

Stationery

in all its branches, furnished at the Lowest Prices. The Initials of those purchasing Letter and Note Paper, neatly stamped in the corner without charge.

Orders for any article may be sent by mail, addressed to the proprietor, and the directions in all cases will be fully carried out, with great punctuality and despatch.

Orders for Catalogues should be pre-paid
