The Worthlessness of Gold.

It is stated by many of the survivors of the Central America's passengers, that there was seldom so large an amount of money owned by passengers as was in the case with those who came by the Central America.

Shocking Tragedy.

A most shocking tragedy occurred at Gloucester, Mass., Sunday afternoon. After dinner Mrs. Davis, her two sisters, and a Mrs. Douglas left home for the purpose of berrying, and having proceeded about a mile, nearly to the shore on the outside, had become somewhat scattered.

A Monument to Herndon.

The noble Capt. Herndon, of the ill-fated Central America, is probably no more. What more appropriate action, says the New York Journal of Commerce, could be taken with reference to his death...

How his Hat Troubled Him.

"When I was a young lad, just beginning to think about the girls," said Charley, "I was monstrous pious, and went to meeting every Sunday; but I have since come to the conclusion that it was not so much for the concern I felt for the 'good of my soul,' as it was for the sake of gazing about the room, and thinking to myself which girl was the prettiest, and which one I would rather marry."

Miscellaneous.

THE Lord knows what besides, that had been accumulated in a tub, under the fascinating cognomen of 'swill.'

Romantic Folly.

The Inland Daily Times of Lancaster, Pa., chronicles the return of two young women, who became fascinated with the attractions of a circus which visited that place not long since, and took it in their romantic heads to go off with it, despite the earnest and repeated remonstrances of their parents.

Heaven.

Can mortal minds conceive the glory of that upper sphere where the sun never goes down and night can never come? Where the river of life rolls its crystal waves around the high white throne of the great Eternal.

Beauty not a Requisite of Love.

There is a most affecting and thrilling story told, in illustration of our theme of Commodore Barclay, who fought the battle of Lake Erie against Perry. He was engaged to be married to a fine English girl. At Trafalgar he lost an arm.

Remember the Poor.

A Story from Real Life. Reader, you have probably seen many noble-looking men, but never one more so than Charles Frankly.

CORN—An Agricultural Song.

Tune—"Sparkling and Bright." COMPOSED AND SUNG AT A 'HUSKING-BREY' BY AMERICAN AGRICULTURE.

Then hark your corn, before the sun is up, and give us some of your best crop. Better than gold is our corn to feed, and from the side earth advancing, 'Twill give you health and bring you wealth.
