

AGRICULTURE.

THE POULTRY QUARTERS.—Many farmers are resigned to a long, eggless Winter because they will not take trouble to provide for the hiddies. Fowls want a warm Southern aspect, sheltered from the wind and snows, and must have it if you want eggs. A poultry house ought to be part of every farmer's establishment; but if you cannot have a separate building, finish off a part of the barn cellar, and put a window at the South side, where the sun can look in upon them for a few hours in the day. Furnish this room with pure water, gravel, old mortar, oyster or clam shells, or bones, all broken up finely. Put a bed of loam or muck under the roosts, and see that it is mixed with the droppings once a week. Fowls suffer more from the neglect of their flocks, than from any other cause. It is entirely practicable to have fresh eggs all through the Winter, if you will give your pullets warmth, cleanliness, and the materials to work with. Meat is essential.

PUMPKIN SAUCE.—Cut the pumpkin the same as you would a citron melon for preserving. Boil in plenty of water until tender. Then, take out the pumpkin. For twelve pounds of pumpkin, add to the liquor six pounds of sugar, and one of sliced lemons. Put back the pumpkin, and stew slowly until thoroughly done.

Figs.—The fig harvest at Smyrna this year is said to be much better in quality and quantity than for several years. The usual number of American vessels are waiting there for cargo.

THE BEST CHERRIES.

Fall is perhaps the best time to set out young cherry trees. It is not necessary that the soil should be very fertile, and it should not be enriched by strong manures. A rather low, moist soil, we think is to be preferred; the trees after planting, should be well staked, and the stakes should remain for at least three years. No trees require support so much as the cherry, as it is liable to swing much by the wind, and become bruised, torn and weakened at the surface of the ground.

Few people care for more than a half a dozen varieties of cherries, and that is enough when the right sorts are selected.

There is in this, as in all other fruit, a considerable variety of opinion as to which are the best. And this can be no cause of surprise, as the locality and soil have much to do in raising the cherry to perfection and profit.—Perhaps for the greater portion of Pennsylvania, New Jersey, Delaware, Maryland, &c., the following varieties, which we regard as among the very best, are well adapted, viz.:—Early Purple Quince, Mayduline, Early Richmond (for baking, preserving and "bounce"); Black Tartarian, Black Eagle, Elton, Downton, and Coe's Transparent. Here are eight kinds, and if we were to drop any it would be the last. The Yellow Spanish, the Governor Wood, Oscella, &c., are not generally adapted to our immediate region. There are many other varieties that are valuable and thought highly of by some, and may do well here, which it is not necessary to enumerate, as the foregoing are quite sufficient to meet the wishes or needs of any moderate person, whether for private use or market.—Germania Telegraph.

USE THE FANNING MILL THOROUGHLY.—It will pay to clean grain thoroughly before offering it for sale. A careless or dishonest man has little reason to congratulate himself upon having sold a quantity of chaff, odds and ends, and other foul stuff, for the price of wheat. Dealers in grain have sharp eyes for anything that affects the market price, and they readily detect willful or careless neglect to properly clean the crop, and a reduction of from two to four or more cents per bushel is the consequence. It requires but a few pounds weight of refuse among grain to greatly damage its appearance. An amount which would bring fifty cents less if sold at the price of wheat, will reduce the market value of twenty-five bushels from four to five cents per bushel, thus entailing actual loss, instead of gain, as some by their practice seem to suppose. Grain merchants sometimes take advantage of the fact, that foreign miller in grain deteriorates the market value below the actual damage caused by its presence. They put large quantities of poorly cleaned grain through the fanning mill, take out one or two cents per bushel in the weight of foul seeds, etc., and are able to sell the improved grain at four or five cents advance per bushel, all of which might have been realized by the producer, in return for a few hours extra labor.—American Agriculturist.

THE ARTIL CROP.—In Western New-York, as elsewhere, apples are extensively grown, the crop is very large and prices are, therefore, low. Shippers are now buying moderately and sending Eastward from five hundred to one thousand barrels per day from this market. The price paid for the best Fall and Winter fruit is from fifty cents to seventy-five cents per barrel—without the barrels, of course.—Koch's or Republic.
