THE XXth Volume of the Weekly Tribune commenced with the issue of Sept. 1. During the past year the Tribune has been obliged to devote quite a large portion of its space to politics, but we shall soon be able to forego Political discussion almost entirely, for months if not for years, and devote nearly all our columns to subjects of less intense, but more abiding, interest.

1. Education.—The whole object of education, both popular and general, will be discussed in our columns throughout the year 1861, and we hope to elicit in that discussion on some of the profoundest thinkers and the ablest instructors in our country.

II. Agriculture.—We have been compelled to restrict our elucidations of this great interest throughout 1860, and shall endeavor to atone therefor in 1861. Whatever discovery, deduction, demonstration, is calculated to render the reward of labor devoted to cultivation more ample or more certain, shall receive prompt and full attention.

III. Machinery, &c.—We hail every invention or enterprise whereby American Capital and Labor are attracted to and advantageously employed in any department of Manufacturing or Mechanical Industry as a real contribution to the Public Weal, insuring ample, steady, more convenient, more remunerating markets to the Farmer, with fuller employment and better wages to the Laborer.

IV. Foreign Affairs.—We employ the best correspondents in London, Paris, Turin, Berlin, and other European Capitals, to transmit us early and accurate advices of the great changes there silently but certainly preparing.

V. Home News.—We employ regular paid correspondents in California, at the Isthmus of Darien, in the Rocky Mountain Gold Region, and wherever else we seem requisite. From the more accessible portions of our own country, we derive our information mainly from the multifarious correspondents of the Associated Press.
