AGRICULTURAL HYMN.

Great God of Eden! 'twas thy hand
That first did earth in bloom,
And shed upon a soil long laid
Nature's first rich perfume.
From the plow the flowers sprang,
Keen by the sun's first rays—
White plain and hill and valley rung
With life, and joy, and praise.
God of the clouds! thy hand can open
The fountains of the sky,
And on the exulting thistle crop
Four down the rich supply.
The farmer whom sweet dews' o'er,
Jora in the meadow given;
Thinks on the promise harvest's store,
And smiling, looks to heaven.
God of the Sheaf! to thee alone
As due our thanks and praise—
When harvest's grateful labor's done,
On plenty glad we gaze.
Then shall our hearts on heaven rest,
Thy grace we will adore,
And thank thee God whose mercies bleed
Our harvest and our store.

LIMING FOLLOWED BY SOREL.—It is quite generally the case that a year or two after lime, or plaster in large quantities, has been sown on land, it produces a heavy growth of sorrel. "The most of fectual way to get rid of it," says a correspondent of the Genesee Farmer, "is to sow unleached ashes at the rate of two or three bushels per acre, with the first grass or clover grown after the application of the lime; and when sowing plaster to mix a small proportion of unleached ashes with it."

KEEP HOUSE PLANTS CLEAN.—A writer in the London Cottage Gardener relates an experiment showing the advantage of keeping the leaves of plants free from dust. Two orange trees, weighing respectively eighteen ounces and twenty ounces, were allowed to vegetate without their leaves being cleaned for a year; and two others, weighing nineteen ounces and twenty and a half ounces, had their leaves sponged with tepid water once a week; the first two increased in weight less than half an ounce each, while of the two latter, one had increased two, and the other nearly three ounces. Except the cleansing, the plants were similarly treated.

FRESH PARSLEY IN WINTER.—This can easily be obtained in the following way: Saw a good stout barrel in two; then make auger-holes of three fourths inch diameter and about five inches apart, all over the cask. Before winter sets fairly in, dig up an abundance of plants from the garden, and beginning at the bottom of the barrel, set the crown of a plant into each hole, covering the roots with good garden soil as you proceed with the planting. Go on thus, until the cask is filled, and then set a few plants on the top. Place the cask in a warm and light cellar, or under the staging of a greenhouse, and it will not only look well, but will furnish the table with many a savory garnish all winter.

OUR RECIPE FOR CURING MEAT.
As the season has come round again for curing meat for the season, it may be acceptable to many readers—especially to many fresh readers—who may not have either preserved it, or have before seen it, to reprint our recipe for curing meat. We will add, that after using it for about twenty years, and comparing the hams so cured with others cured by a dozen different processes, we are more than ever convinced of its superiority. It is this: To one gallon of water, take 1 1/2 lbs. of salt; 1 lb. sugar; 1/2 ounce of salt petre, 1/2 ounce of potash. In this ratio the pickle to be increased to any quantity desired. Let these be boiled together, until all the dirt from the sugar rises to the top and is skimmed off. Then throw it into a tub to cool, and when cold, pour it over your beef or pork, to remain the usual time, say four or five weeks. The meat must be well covered with pickle, and should not be put down for at least two days after killing, during which time it should be slightly sprinkled with powdered saltpetre, which removes all the surface blood, &c., leaving the meat fresh and clean.
Several of our friends have omitted the boiling of the pickle, and found it to answer equally as well. It will not, however, answer quite as well. By boiling the pickle, it is purified—for the amount of dirt which is thrown off by the operation, from the salt and sugar, would surprise any one acquainted with the fact.—German Town Telegraph.

GARGET.—A farmer in Western New York, who "was brought up from childhood on a farm, has kept a dairy for a living, and is getting somewhat along in years," thinks that nature is a sufficient physician for this disease, which he says is caused by accident. When he discovers that the milk is bloody he draws it carefully, but does not save it from the section of the udder affected until the milk again presents a healthy appearance, which generally has been but a few milkings.

TO KEEP APPLS FROM ROTTING.—Place them in a dry cellar with a family of children.
Proton deep while sluggard's sleep,
And you will have corn to sell and keep.

ever brought to this place, all of which please call and see you must believe.
Have learned from experience that "long credits will not keep things moving." I have determined to cash buyers, to make it an object to them as well as to the seller, to keep their purchases on hand, or ready to order.

Having secured a regular apprenticeship at the Drug and Apothecary business, I have carried on for the last six years, on my own book. I flatter myself that I am a competent and successful druggist, and I am anxious to do the public good. I would ask a trial on the new principle, and will guarantee to return the cost of the medicine, if it does not give relief. I have a large stock of the best and most reliable goods, and I am prepared to cash buyers, to make it an object to them as well as to the seller, to keep their purchases on hand, or ready to order.
