

The following are the receipts to the office of the COLUMBIA DEMOCRAT, during the month of January, 1861:

Table with columns for Name, Amount, and Date. Includes Dr. G. M. Henshaw, Dr. J. C. ...

SULLIVAN COUNTY Court commences next Monday.

The Boston "Olive Branch" has been temporarily suspended, owing to the "Lincoln Times."

LEGAL DOUBLE NOTES, for Vouchers, and other business transactions, in neat form, just printed and for sale at the office of the Columbia Democrat.

The Proceedings of the Teachers' Association, held on the 5th inst., at Light Street, appears in this issue of the "Columbia Democrat."

A meeting of the Democratic Association will be held at its reading room, on this Saturday Evening, at 7 o'clock. It is to be hoped that all the Standing Committee will be prepared to report.

J. G. FREEZE, Post.

By a mistake of the Composer, the report of the Teachers' Association on the outside of this week's issue, reads "Proceedings of the Teachers Institute." The Association is a separate and distinct organization.

"ATTENTION, YEOMAN MEN!" We receive, by the advertisement of Messrs. HENSON & CO., of New York, that the renowned "Stimulating Ointment" invented by Dr. Bellingham for a healthy stimulation to the growth of beard or whiskers, has now had its American market confided to their agency. The high reputation of this article in London Paris, and other cities of Europe, seems to have been fully justified by experience in this country. We find that its praises are re-echoed among all classes. A few weeks are said to prove its almost magical influence upon the beard or whiskers. The British Whiskers have made such free use of it as to attract the attention of The London Times. See advertisement of Messrs. Henson & Co in another column.

Something Worth Seeing. The last wonder of the nineteenth century is about to be exhibited to the good people of Bloomsburg. We refer to the appearance among us of one of that diminutive race of beings until now supposed to be fabulous, in the person of GEN. GEORGE WASHINGTON NUTT, whose advertisement appears in another column.

The Loves of Gen. George Washington Nutt—probably the smallest man in the world—and Miss Betton, the Fairy Queen, who is married to Gen. Wagoner, refinement, and lady like deportment, have always afforded the most unbounded satisfaction. The editor of the Worcester (Mass.) Spy, speaks of the Gen. as follows: "A Psychological and Educational Dissertation—there is an exhibition in Mechanics Hall a human Prodigy. It is a man so small that you can put him in an overcoat pocket, and yet so perfectly developed in all his faculties that Physiologists and Philologists are thrown into bewildered raptures. We have always had a notion that it took about six feet of bone and muscle to make the body of a man, and that the brain should be about so large in order to secure proportional capacities to meet the wants and necessities of our being. But here we find a man, perfect in form, active, vivacious, industrious, with mental powers, alert, sensible, agreeable, whom we are obliged to admire by inches. His hands and feet are the most diminutive specimens of perfection we ever saw. His physiological developments are as perfect as his body, and presents a very interesting subject for investigation. The intellectual organs are very prominent, showing mental capacity in an extraordinary degree, considering the size of the brain. And what he is so gentlemanly and agreeable in his manners that one cannot help being both entertained and delighted with him. Let all attend his lectures and see for themselves. They will never regret it." He will be assisted by the distinguished little Fairy Queen, Miss Betton, of whom a Buffalo paper says:

"We visited St. James Hall last evening to see this little body, of whom so much has been said, and notwithstanding all we have heard and read about her, and prepared as we were to see something wonderful, we frankly confess that the reality surpassed all our imagination. She is the most perfect little being, in limb and feature, and in distance, in her case, does not lead enchantment to the view, for the nearer you approach her, the little or smaller, and more perfect does she appear. An advertisement in this paper.
