OUR COUNTRY'S FLAG

Gos or our Parners! in thy name We neil our Standard to the west-To conquer or to die. We claim No greater honor. While the blast Of civil strife sweeps o'er the land, We'll strike the for who dares to mar Our levely energh, and we'll stand A wall of fire to guard each ctar,

Let us then twins each thread of the glorious tissue of our country's flag about our heart-strings, and looking upon our homes, not catching the spirst that breathes apon as from the battle fields of our fathers, let us resulve that, come weal or woe, we will in life and an death, now and forever, stand by the stars and stripes. They have floated over our tradles, let it be our prayer and our stringle that they shall float over our graves. They have been unfurted from the shows of Canada to the plains of New Orleans, and to the halls of the Montenunas, and amid the solitudes of every sen; and everwhere, as the luminous symbol of resistless and benefic can power, they have text be have and the free to victory and to glory. It has been my fortune to look upon this flag in foreign lands and amid the gloon of an oriental despotism, and right well do I know, by contrash ow bright are its sars, and hew aching are its inspirations. If this banner, the viablem for an of all that is transporting in human hope, it to be sacrified on the
