BDITAD BY LEVI L. TATE, PROPRIETOR.

BLOOMSBURG, PA.

SATURDAY MORNING, JANUARY 4, 1862.

God or our Parmene! in thy name We nail our Standard to the mast-Te conquer or to die. We claim No greater honor. While the blast Of civil strife swoops o'er the land, We'll strike the for who dares to mar Our lovely energy, and we'll stand A wall of fire to guard each star.

Let us then twine each thread of the glorious tissue of the country's dag about our hourt strings, and looking upon our houses, and catching the spirit that hreathes so not from the hattle-fields of our fathers, let us recive that, come weal or woe, we will in life and in tenth, now and forever, stand by the stars and strings. They have donated over our cradies, let it be our prayer and our strings that they shall float over our graves. They have been infurible from the snows of Canada to the plains of New Orleans, and to the halls of the Montezumas, and amid the solitades of every sea; and evewhere, as the luminous symbol of resistless and henceficed power, they have led the brave and the free to victory and to glory. It has been my fortune to look upon this flag in foreign lands and amid the gloem of an oriental despotism, and right well do! I know, by contrast how bright need its stars, and how sublime are its inspirations! If this banner, the emblem for us of all that is transporting in human hope, is to be sacrificed on the siture of a Satanic ambition, and thus disappear forever amid the night and tempest of revolution, then will I feel—and whe shall estimate the de-olation of that feeling!—that the sun has indeed been stricken from the say of our lives, and that henceforth we shall be but wanderers and outcasts, with nought but the bread of sorrow and of penury for our lips, and with hands ever outstreebed in feedeness and supplication, on which, in any hour, a military tyrant may rivet the fetters of a despairing bondage. May God in his infinite mercy save year and me, and the land we so much love, from the doom of such a degradation."—Joseph Holt. Lot us then twine each thread of the glorious tissues

Thy stars have lit the workin dome. And all thy buce were born in heaven Forever float that standard sheet! Where breathes the foe but falls before us, With Preedom's soil beneath our feet. And Freedom's banner streaming o'er us!"

Democratic State Executive Committee.

A meeting of the Democratic State Executive Commit-tos will be held at the Suchler House, Haratsacau, on ty-squeeday January 15, 1962, at 3 of lock P. M. Democratic papers in the State will please copy. WILLIAM H. WELSH, Chairman.

The Editor of this journal has departed for the Seat of Government, to assume his duties as a Member of the Legislature of Pennsylvania. During his sojourn in the City of Harrisburg, the Editorial conduct of the Columbia Democrat, will mainly devolve upon his worthy Local Associate, Col. JNO. G. FREEZE. We bespeak from our friends and patrons, in the event of our devided labors, their kindly indulgence and generous consideration.

The Legislature.

The session of the Legislature begins on next Tuesday, January 7th. There is a probability that several questions of interest relating to contested seats in the House will come up for decision. The legality of the Army vote (which is undergoing we incline to the opinion, that even the inquiry in the courts of Luzerne and Philadelphia) is involved in the return of members from Luzerne. And the right of certain counties to separate representation in the House, arises upon the election in Bedford county.

Contested elections in the House are decided by Committees, drawn by lot, who sit under oath, in the capacity of a court. This arrangement is well calculated to secure justice and prevent mere partisan

Government Suspension.

The following is from the N. Y. Evening Post of Monday last :-The Secretary of the Treasury has directed the Assistant Treasurer of this port and instructions of a like nature have probably been forwarded to the Government officers at other prominent points, to suspend specie payments on all claims save the principal and interest of the pub lie debt, falling due on the first of January. The Assistant Treasurer at the same time ceases to redcem these notes. payable at New York or elsewhere, in at this office. payment of debts due the Government.'

So it appears, that simultaneously with the suspension of specie payments by the banks, there is also a partial suspension by the Government. It is clear that the Treasury demand-notes ought never to have been issued by the Government, and retary of the Treasury is owing, in great be presented for immediate redemption in discredited upon the holders.
