Columbia Democrat

John G. Freeze, Local Editor.

SATURDAY MORNING, APRIL 5, 1862.

☞ Hon. Charles J. Biddle M. C. has our thanks for congressional favors.

☞ Imlay and Bicknells Bank Note Reporter for April 1st is on our table. In these times it is an indispensable document, and reliable.

☞ The Sunbury American begins its Fifteenth Volume in a very handsome new suit. Its appearance is greatly improved.

☞ Heister Clymer of Berks is spoken of in the Easton Sentinel, as the democratic candidate for Governor of Pennsylvania.

☞ Our streets were in quite a lively state on the first of April, and there have been in the county many changes; and more sales than we had anticipated.

☞ Dr. John has mounted the "Wesley Horse" and is riding him over the mountains at a most fearful pace. Mule beef and bumble bees are rising. Look out for the niggers.

☞ The body of John Prosser, who was wounded at the Winchester battle, and since died, arrived at the Bloomsburg Depot last evening. Young Prosser was a brave and excellent man.

☞ The Pittsburg Post, the leading democratic paper in the Western part of the State has donned a new dress. The Editor Mr. James P. Barr is named in connection with the office of Surveyor General.

☞ The Dre. jubilation over the election in Bloom township, reminds us of the old nigger's Hen which had one chicken. He said she made such a mighty fuss a scratchin an' cluckin, a scratchin an' cluckin, till finally she killed that last the Dr. take warning.

☞ Hon. C. R. Buckalew has purchased the beautiful residence of Mr. Phillip F. Eyer, on the hill North East of Bloomsburg, on the Orangeville road; and will locate himself there permanently in a few weeks. The situation is one of the finest near the town, and has all the advantages of a residence in it, with more of the inconveniences.

☞ Mr. E. B. Snider of Thelpsville has our thanks for copies of The London American of late dates. It is published every Wednesday morning at "160 Fleet Street, London, England." They have a very solid and substantial appearance—much more than our newspapers. the paper has the "Stars and Stripes" dying at its editorial head.

☞ There will be vast quantities of Maple Sugar manufactured in this county this spring. Among the best we have seen is some made by Mr. E. B. Snider, of Thelpsville. Another gentleman up the creek told us a few days ago that he would make at least fifteen hundred weight. In the present high prices of sugar, the maple will be a matter of great economy, not to speak of its superior taste. And the molasses! just think of it with buckwheat cakes, &c.

☞ The Seneca Falls (N. Y.) Rectifie, says:

We noticed some time ago, the fine colt which was then and is still owned by F. J. Swaby, Esq., of our village. That colt was sired by the full blooded Arabian Horse, presented to Gov. Seward, and is as handsome and spirited a piece of horse flesh as one could wish to see. He presents in a marked degree those characteristics which distinguish the Arab horse, and when matured will undoubtedly be an acquisition much desired by the stock breeders of our county.

☞ On our first page we publish details of the battle of Winchester, with lists of the killed and wounded Pennsylvanians. Some of our boys are unfortunately in both lists—only one we believe among the dead, however. They behaved with great gallantry, and the entire corps is complimented by the veteran Shields, who was himself wounded early in the fight. His arm, though badly shattered, will be saved to him, and help him to win more victories.

☞ The School Exhibitions given in the Court House on Friday and Saturday evenings were a decided success, drew crowded houses both evenings. The exercises were of an interesting character and executed in such a manner as to do credit both to scholars and teacher. The whole affair was under the immediate supervision of the Principal—D. A. Hendrey of our Graded School. Upon the whole, the Declamation, compositions and singing, we should think, were very satisfactory to both parents and instructor. They evinced considerable practice and study.—Star of the North.

☞ A Washington correspondent of the Springfield Republican gives the following interesting bit of testimony, which concurs with a multitude of others, to show that our recent course of victories has not been the result of chance or impulse:

"The subject was under discussion at a dinner table where Gen. Banks was present, and he, who, by the way, stands by Gen. McClellan most loyally quietly remarked that while in command in the valley last November, he examined the bridges carefully to look down stream, and put a stop to a plan which simply consisted in floating a vessel loaded by our armies, and as to Manassas, said that when he started with a force the rebels from it a successful battle, or they would evacuate it of their own accord."

☞ "Martin Chuzzlewit" is one of the books of Dickens which will always be read with pleasure and profit. It is one of his greatest glories that his books are pure in morals, and for the poor the down trodden and the unfortunate, against the upstart, the aristocrat or the millionaire. "The Pecksniffs" are known over the world and thousands who have never read the book, know the man and the family.

The best edition of Dickens in the world is published by Sheldon and Company, 115 Nassau street New York. The books are beautiful:—splendid type, binding and paper; perfect in every respect. A man cannot afford to do without Dickens, if he desires to understand the human heart of which Dickens the most profound master.

☞ We see it stated that James Parton and "Fanny Fern," both well known in literary circles; and who were married a few years ago, have separated and are now living apart.

We remember seeing a paragraph by "Fanny," shortly after her marriage, to the effect that "Jim" was the best fellow alive, was the author of more good newspaper squibs than any other man we sound on all temporal questions, and didn't believe in a Devil." To which somebody who knew Fanny replied, that he "would no, remain of that notion long."

Fanny seems to have converted him, and she says he thrashed her. "Literary Unions" don't seem to flourish. No doubt Jim thinks now we have a devil, and perhaps knows the gender.

☞ Verstegan, alluding to our ancient Saxon ancestors, says, "They used to engrave on certain squared sticks, about a foot in length, the courses of the moons of the whole year, whereby they could always certainly tell when the new moons, the full moons, and the change should happen, as also their festival days; and such a carved stick they called an almond oght—that is to say, 'al-moon-heed'—to wit, the regard or observation of the moons; and hence is derived the name of almanac." After the invention of printing, almanacs became generally in use. The first recorded account in England of an almanac is in the Year Book of Henry VII.

☞ The examination of the students of the Academy, at this place, on Thursday and Friday last, was very satisfactory. They have made rapid progress in the branches studied. The exhibition they gave in the Court House, on Friday evening, was one of the best of the kind we ever witnessed. The declamations, the dialogues, the compositions, in short the whole affair was creditable alik to the Teachers and Students, and gave so much satisfaction that the audience insisted on the exercises being continued on Saturday evening.—This was done. The Court House was literally jammed on both evenings. The price of admission was Ten Cents. The nett proceeds, after paying expenses, was about Fifty Dollars, which Mr. Beckley hands over to the "Ladies' Soldiers' Aid Society" as a contribution from the Teachers and Students of the Bloomsburg Academy.—Columbia County Republican.

☞ During a debate in the U. S. Senate on Thursday week, on the bill for the relief of persons held to to service or labor in the District of Columbia, in other words, a bill to abolish slavery in the District, Mr. Davis of Kentucky, offered an amendment appropriating $100,000 to colonize the slaves liberated under this act, and used the following decided language:

If the negroes were liberated, they would become lazy vagabonds, and will be a pest to the community—become criminals—and any power that assumes to liberate slaves establishes inevitably a war between the races, which will end in emigration or extermination. There were about 225,000 slaves in Kentucky. If the Government undertakes to liberate them, the white people will not permit them to remain there.—Never! The white people will either have to drive them out, or hunt them to extermination. If negroes are liberated in the Cotton States, it would be giving up those States to the negroes. The men from the Slave States are as loyal as any men in the Senate, but they will never submit to have their slaves liberated by unconstitutional act and remain among them—never, never! He spoke the feeling of his heart and the principles that he devoted his life to, and which every Union man South agrees to.—The whole South will unite in resistance to all such unconstitutional acts.

J. Woods Brown, Esq.—A correspondent of the Philadlphia Evening Journal, speaking of members of the Legislature says of Mr. Brown of Northumberland.

"I have been watching him with more than usual anxiety. He has not yet spoken, but I know, or at least feel, that he has the capacity to speak on any question coming before the Legi-lature. If he has not, he certainly deceives his looks. I shrewdly guess he is cautiously feeling his way to ascertain, if possible, the real ability of the House, and whether he may safely venture upon the ocean of debate. The great mistake young men make in coming into the Legislature is, the manifestation of disposition to talk on all subjects which arise. This does all very well when a member is conversant with all the intricacies of legislation, and has a thorough knowledge or a high degree of familiarity with all questions likly to be brought before the Legislature. * * *

He is evidently a young man of intellect, and I mistake him, if he does not make his mark before this session closes. His evident business habits, and close attention to the proceedings of the House, make him now a very industrious, as well as a useful member.

The National Tax.—Hear what our Republican contemporary of the Pittsburg Gazette says of the War Tax:

"We have no wish create undue alarm, but we are approaching a crisis in our history that we cannot contemplate without shrinking. We have felt the visits of the tax-gatherer before, but his visits have been as mere trifles compared to what they will be. The Philadelphia Ledger has been making some calculations of the amount each State will have to raise of the national tax about to be laid:

"The sum to be raised and paid into the U. S. Treasury by New York every year will be $21,344,142; Pennsylvania $15,886,435; Ohio, $12,867,701; Indiana, $7,439,175; Illinois, $9,414,643; and the other States in the same cheerful ratio.—These are enormous sums, and by no process which can be devised can they be collected without being felt. In some quarters the atempt to collect it will little short of confiscation. New England, New York, Pennsylvania and New Jersey may go through such a tax with the breath of life remaining in them, but it is doubtful whether there is another State, loyal or disloyal, that can go half way through."
