*The Cincinnati Commercial, a Republican paper, presents the following picture of a radical leader in the Senate :-

"The most pestiferous of the factionists of the Senate of the United States is the Hon. Zacariah Chandler of Michigan. He is not a gentleman of a remarkable amount of solid sense and penetrating angacity, and it is stating the case moderately to say that the faculties with which he was gifted have not been cultivated to excess. But he is rich and 'feels his oats,' and also be it observed in gentleness, his rue. He has a notion that it indicates intellect to be radical, and exerting himself to illustrate his gigantic powers, succeeds in making many preposterous assertions, and by virtue of his position. in doing some mischief. If the people would not concern themselves so much about what he says, there would be less harm done. He is, indeed, a 'whiskey insurrection' incarnate, and his eccentricities should be discounted
