But in forming the districts the most unscrupulous and disgraceful partisanship and dishonesty were maysame party; there was no check upon po litical passion and injustice. At the election of Governor in 1860, Mr. Foster had 230,000 votes, and Mr. Curtin 262,000. The majority of the latter was ber necessary for one member of Congress. A fair apportionment therefore would have given twelve Republican and eleven Democratic districts, upon the basis of the gabernatorial vote of 1860. But the bill was so framed as to give nineteen Republican and but four Democratic Districts, upon that basis of calculation. To accomplish this result the natural connections of counties were disregarded , districts of very unequal population were made, and in some cases counties were divided and the parts put in different districts. Never since the State was founded had such a bill been enacted regulating the representation of the people, nor any one even approaching it in dishonesty. In effect it was to transfer no less than to the other, making a difference of teen votes upon any political question in the National House of Representatives.

It will be observed that Senator Landon of Bradlord, the present Republican candidate for Congress, in this district, was one

The arrangement of districts made by the act of 1861, was subjected to some modification as to the eastern part of the State, by essential features were not disturbed. Subsequent to the passage of the act of 1861, it was ascertained from the corrected census returns that this State would be entitled to twenty-lour members of Congress instead of twenty-three, and hence a new apportionment became necessary. But in fram-ing the new act (approved 16th April 1862) the party injustice established by it.
