THE NEW-YORK WORLD.

[From the True Citizen, New Britain, Conn.]

Some nine or ten months since we, like a large portion of our fellow citizens, received our daily news of the movements of our armies from the New-York papers of the "not to Richmond" class, but we became so disgusted with the senseless outcry—which taken up for a time by nearly the whole nation, proved so terribly effective in carrying our enemy on to the defeat of Bull Run and also at the persistant fault-finding with and abuse of President Lincoln and the leading Generals of the army, that we took up, as we then supposed, with their slower and more respectable rival, The World. We have read this paper daily ever since, and have found it to be truly loyal and conservative—a thoroughly journal, thoroughly loyal and government sustaining; but that it never fails up to the times, in its supply of everything that was reliable in the way of current news. In fact, it only misses in its columns one class of news, viz: that which is to be confirmated to-morrow. With these facts before us we unhesitatingly pronounce in favor of the New-York World as one of the best, if not the very best daily journal in the country.
