COMMUNICATION.

For the Columbia Democrat.

COL. TATE:

Can you inform me what is the reason that our Union soldiers are deprived of the clothing and extra rations drawn by the rebel friends, but leaving their hair to not thick and curly, or their skin not black, or their noses not flat, or their hot not straight, or the want of perfumery? I can tell you of a case in hand, a very worthy young man, left a good home and prosperous business some more than eighteen months since, to fight for his country in enabling the Rebellion, and has now for the last to months suffered one dollar from the government etc and is now lying in camp near Belle Plains, Va., and in the battle of Fredericksburg, where nearly half of company were wounded or killed, has been a prisoner at Richmond was in the seven days battle, has never seen one home or one he joined the army. This young man wrote to his friends in Luzerne County, to send him by express some flannel under clothing also, some vegetables as the weather was cold, and his money very poor, and he had no money, all of which was prepared and taken to the Depot, and the express freight offered to be prepaid, but the accommodation was refused; the agent saying he was forbid carrying anything for the 7th.—132d, and some other regiments. Now, tell me sir, what is the cause of this treatment?—Would it have been so if he was a nigger.

Yours truly,

J——,

NOTE.—We cannot answer our correspondent's trite questions. His enemies are responsible. It is in keeping with the general conduct of this African Administration.—Ed. Col. Democrat.
