

ROSTERED BY LEVI L. TATE, PROPRIETOR

—Bloomsburg—

SATURDAY, MARCH 28, 1863.

Two well-written communications in prose, and one in poetry, appear on the first page of this journal. The verses are from the pen of a youthful democrat, of only thirteen years.

The Feeling Now.

Never were the Democracy so earnest or so consolidated as they now are. Not even in the days of Old Hickory were they so heartily in earnest, united, and eager to express their feelings at the ballot-box.

One of the candidates of the Democrats was beaten by two votes, and another by five votes only.

It is a curious fact, and one of some significance, that Freas Brown, a gentleman of some notoriety, was preferred to an office holder under Lincoln.

It is the duty therefore of Mr. Burgess, the present Superintendent, to publish such notice early in April, the first Monday of May being the fourth day thereof.

Mr. W. H. Knouse, (successor of J. B. Jones,) Agent for the "Central Nurseries," of York, Pa., has visited Bloomsburg for the purpose of taking orders for the delivery, in April, of all kinds of Fruit and Ornamental Trees, Shrubs, Grape Vines, &c.

The Quakers are moving all the powers that be, to get clear of any personal or pecuniary responsibility in the troubles they have brought upon the country.

Mr. Charles A. Knorr, of the Army at Yorktown, Va., has our thanks for a late copy of the Cavalier. We find much in it of interest in relation to our fellow-citizens from Columbia, in the 17th Reg. P. M.

Columbia county Democratic ally over!

"COPPERHEADS" on the Rampage!

"Niggerheads" on the Decline!

The result of the township elections in the State, on last Friday a week, were decidedly Democratic.

In Bloom township, where we have generally been beaten by from 150 to 200, the Democrats elected PETER BILMEYER, Esq., Judge of Elections by a majority of twenty.

JACOB R. GROUL was elected Overseer of the Poor, over the Abolition-Union-League Administration candidate, Christian F. Knapp, by a majority of two votes.

Death of Daniel H. Remley. Resolutions of Respect and Condolence. CAMP NEAR BELLE PLAINS, VA., March 20th 1863.

At a meeting of the Columbia county Volunteers of company I, 136th Pennsylvania Regiment, the undersigned committee were appointed to draft resolutions expressive of the feelings and sentiments of the company upon the death of DANIEL H. REMLEY.

Resolved, That while we deeply sympathize with the family, relatives and friends of the deceased, we offer for their consolation the inspiring consideration that he died in his country's service, and we trust has gone to that happy land where death is not heard, and the weary are at rest.

Difference of Opinion. To the Editor of the Democrat: On leaving your town recently, a friend handed me a copy of the Columbia County Republican.

Is it doubted that a class of people in our country, of a different color and stock, who have been held in bondage since history first gives an account, shall now be recognized as our equals and associates, in suffrage and liberty? By whose instrumentality is all this accomplished, and who gives such authority? This plain words of Lincoln's inaugural address, of which this is a part, "I have no inclination, directly or indirectly, to interfere with slavery in the States where it exists; I believe I have no lawful right to do so."

These are the blessed measures of the late Republican Congress. Every one of them—excepting, perhaps, the 3rd—are in direct opposition to the wishes of the American people. And these are the boast of Republicanism.

"As surely as the current year unfolds its seasons, so surely will the power of the North before 1864 pass into the hands of the Democratic party, if that party be moderate and wise. Then, and not till then, can the government be compelled, through peaceful means, to revert to the Constitution, as in the prosecution of the war as in all its other measures. Then, and not until then, can the Democracy of the North offer to the people of the South the Constitution unimpaired as a substitute for, and a deliverance from, the miseries for which they have reason to fear. Then, and not till then, can any reasonable expectation be entertained in the South to a peaceful demonstration in the North."

That prudence, firmness, moderation and success in saving our Liberties and our Union may distinguish and immortalize the Democratic party of 1863, is the earnest hope and prayer of a Democrat of more than three score years and ten.

Removed.—Mr. L. T. SHARPLESS has removed his Stock of Goods into Judge Rupert's spacious Store House. Here he can enjoy better mercantile facilities with a more eligible stand, which he has just replenished with new Spring and Summer Goods. Mr. S. must feel quite at home in his new and pleasant quarters.
