Letter From Capt. Clark.

CARLISLE, Pa., July 2, 1863. DEAR SIR: Our brigade marched from our camy near Harrisburg at daylight on Wednesday morning, under the command of Colonel Brisbin. We marched at such a speed as every old soldier in the brigade anid they had never excelled, considering the heat of the day. When we arrived at Carlisle we stacked arms and proceeded to the Market House for refreshments. We had partaken of nothing when a terrific ery was raised that the robels were entering the town. A rush was made for arms, and shell. Our artillery replied. The shells burst over our heads, and we dodged of course. Then came an order to make for the houses and fire out of the windows. At this time everything was confusion. In getting into the houses my e mounty became a good deal scattered although I exerted myself to the utmost to Leep them together. What was foured DANIEL McHENRY, Esq., of Fishinga cavalry charge through the streets. on the enemy, whose strength we did and do not now know, sent in a flag the Cot July . non, demanding a surrender and givglive minutes for consideration; and it not accoded to, at the end of tive minutes, the town was to be shelled. Gen. Smith, who was in command, replied that Gen. Lee could commence shelling as soon as he pleased. And then the ball fairly opened.

We then left the second story and went into the hall of the first floor, where, although the music of the shot and shell was comparatively new and by no means agreeable, I went to sleep. About midnight the fir ing ceased, and I set to work to hunt up my company. I succeeded pretty well getting the most of them into Judge Watts' residence which his family had abandoned. The picked firing during the night was constant, but no attack was made, and in the morning the enemy had fied. They burnt the barracks before they left. Our plan was to await a cavalry charge and fire ou COLUMBIA COUNTY, ss: superintended the cutting down of Judge Watta' shade trees to give us a fair chance to fire and to make an obstruction in the street. Had they advanced through the streats they would have suffered severely I think. The fact that they did not advance was conclusive evidence of their weakness Our force here consists of two brigades, Gen. Knipe's and Col. Brisbin's. Our regiment is well commanded. Our Col. and Lieut. Col. are cool and undisturbed under fire and will attach the men to them. Where we will go next I do not know,

GREAT RIOT IN NEW YORK Destruction of Froperty and

Loss of Life.

On Monday morning, about 11 o'clock, a fearful riot was commenced in New York city by those oppose to the Conscription act. The result has been a loss of life and destruction of property, and the affair has apparently only commenced. The

New York Post says : Will be speedly relieved and effectually cared by using these admirable medicines, and by paying proper attention to the Directions which are attached to each headquarters of the Ninth Congressional district corner of Third avenue and Fortysixth street. The wheel had been revolving about twenty minutes when the building in which the officer was attacked by a mob armed with clubs, stones, brickbats, and like missiles, but no firearms. The building, a four story brick house, the upper stories of which were occupied by families, was destroyed, the windows broken, doors smushed and forn'ture des-

They rushed into the enrolling office, seized all the machinery and papers, records, lists, &c., of the officers. The building was then set on fire, and that and five VOLUNTEERS, ATTENTION INDISCRETIONS OF other buildings forming the block, were

The ferocity of the mob was unbouned—ed. The women were as furious as the men.

Three soldiers and one policeman have been murdered by them. The mob consisted of several thousands, without any preconcerted action, as it would appear. The Superintendent of Police, Kennedy, was so badly injured that he cannot recover. Several gentlemen were also used to the system and Prevent inflamation.

Every Soldier's Knapsack and Seman's Chest should be previded with these valuable Remedies.
